 —Here is something worth a trial: It is said that rats have so great an antipathy to castor oil that, when it is smeared lightly about the places they frequent, or on the articles they attack, they will give both a wide berth and make themselves conspicuous by their absence so long as the objectional oil is in evidence in and about their haunts.

 —A shaft is being sunk on the land of the Patton Clay Mfg. The D seam of coal, which the company is working in, is about 40 feet below the present drift, in the shaft, and it is expected that it will be easier worked and thicker. The shaft is down 38 feet now and it will be about 55 feet deep when completed.
 —While no definite arrangements have been made as yet, the new Beech Creek Coal & Coke Co. is contemplating the erection of a big brick office building in Patton. Several sites have been suggested but one has not as yet been selected. The building, if erected, will be of the most modern character, and the company aims to bring all of its various departments, mining, engineering, etc., under one roof and head. It is to be hoped that the structure will soon assume tangible shape and be a credit alike to the town and the company.
