Did it ever occur to the latter class that book concerns, bicycle manufacturers, etc., etc., will refuse to do cash advertising as long as they can secure $1 worth of advertising for six cents in trade? It is no trouble whatever for a newspaper man to secure a bicycle worth $25 for $15 in eash and $50 in advertising. And it is done every

Space in his newspaper is a publisher's stock in trade just as much as sugar in the barrel is a grocer's. Why then in the name of all that is sensible or consisent with correct fusiness principles will numerous publishers give away that which should be a source of revenue? Years ago the editor of the COURTER idopted the policy of totally ignoring all trade propositions and demanding cash for all advertising handfor what he purchased. His experience has been eminently satisfactory, and our brothers of the Fourth Estate who have never tried to do business on business principles are earnestly urged to adopt this plan.

A newspaper is a business institution OUR MILLINERY pure andsimple, and the sooner the owner thereof realizes that fact, the sooner will be cease to be looked upon as a beggar and a recipient of public charity.
