STOOD THE TEST. San Francisco Fire Did Not Affect Companies of Parnell, Cowher & Co. On account of the terrible disaster in San Francisco, several of the 105 companies involved have already been forced to retire from business and others are sure to fail. This condition of affairs naturally suggests to the policyholders this question: Am I insured in a solvent company? For the information of our patrons, we beg to advise that the California conflagration will not impair or cripple the financial standing of any of the companies represented by the Patton Insurance Agency. We are assured by our companies that all claims will be promptly adjusted and paid, when due. We feel that the strength and stability of an agency of companies that will stand the test of such an awful calamity should appeal to the public who want "INSURANCE THAT INSURES." Our rates are reasonable and any business entrusted with this agency will receive prompt and careful attention. PARNELL, COWHER & Co., Patton, Pa.
