Feat in Bricklaying.

In the erection of the House of Representatives office building, ad-Jacent to the United States Capitol at Washington, an interesting fact has developed in connection with the brick masonry work. The first brick was laid at the site on the afternoon of July 5, 1905, and on July 3, 1906, there had been laid in the walls 11, 000,000 brick. This is believed to be the greatest number of brick laid on any one building in one year in the United States, and probably in the world. One of the causes conducing to this record-breaking feat was the remarkably "open" winter of 1905-'06. In those winter months the work continued almost without interruption from either snow or cold, and not more than 12 or 15 days were lost during the entire winter by reason of weather conditions.—Scientific Amer-Ican.

I'S LONE AND IN DISTRESS. 1 Household Matters. ------

Care of Matting.

Mattings never should be subjected to an oversupply of water. Care should be exercised towards keeping it unstained. When it becomes solled, however, use a soft cloth well wrung out in a suds made of borax it soap and water, and air thoroughly by leaving a window open until the spot is dried. Dampness must be removed from matting as speedily as possible. Use a pliable, not too stiff, broom for matting. Always sweep well first any flooring or floor covering which may be spotted or soiled and needs a damp application.

Safe Red Celoring Matter.

To a correspondent asking for a safe red coloring matter for cakes and sweetmeats, The Druggists' Circular (September) recommends the color from red beets as easily obtained and economical. Says this paper: "It is said that a good way to obtain this coloring in permanent form is to heat the beets in an oven until quite soft; macerate with about an equal quantity of vinegar; express; evaporate the resulting liquid to one-half its original volume and then make up to the original value with alcohol. For extemporaneous use the liquor from 'pickled beets' as ordinarily prepared for the table (that is, boiled in water, sliced, and then covered with 'vinegar) would presumably give a deep enough shade. Canned beets are in market and will answer as well in the latter case as the fresh article."

Care of Flatirons.

Many people have been annoyed at finding their irons quite rusty after they have been put away a few days. The way to prevent this happening is, before you put them away, to rub a little warm grease over them and then wrap them up in brown paper. When you take them out to use dip them into hot water that has had a small piece of soda dissolved in it, rub dry, and then put them to heat in the usual way. When they are ready to be used on the ironing board have a piece of brown paper with a little powdered bath brick on it and rub the surface of your iron with this. It seems rather a lengthy process, but it really does not take long to do, and housewives will be rewarded for the trouble they have taken by finding the irons delightfully smooth and easy to use, and when they are like this the ironing can be done twice as quickly .-- Massachusetts Ploughman.

Home-made Lamp Shades.

These lamp shades are easily manufactured, and add a pretty effect to the room, as well as shade the light to the eyes.

Cut a piece of stiff paper in a circular form and of the depth desired, and glue the two ends together (a piece should be cut out of the circle to make the shade "funnel-form"), thus making a foundation. Cover this neatly, inside and out, with crinkled tissue paper of any desired shade. Then cut inch-wide strips and make the shade by looping and fastening these upon the founda-tion. The loops are graduated in length, with the exception of the small ones at the top, which are formed to resemble a ruching. A row of narrow crystal fringe sewed around the bottom of the foundation

A bulletin of the Department of Agriculture on the subject of wood paving states that, in spite of its comparatively high price, its ex-cellence causes many engineers to regard it as the best general-purpose one now in use. There are two classes of remedies; those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of rarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character. There are two classes of purchasers; those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know. and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the the average annual wages for a male agricultural worker in Russia was less than $32 and for a female worker less than $12 and for a female worked less than $18. To this must be added the cost of subsistence, which is equally low, being on an average of $24 for a male and $22 for a female worker for a whole year, so that the average cost of employing a laborer for the entire year is equal to only $55 for the male and $40 for the female.
