PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

OVER A MILLION BUSHELS OF PEACHES

Estimates made by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture on the probable peach crop of the State for this season, place the amount at 1,242,300 bushels compared with a production of 2,044,000 bushels last year.

The production last year was the largest ever known in the State, the other high years being 1910 when 1,600,000 bushels were produced and 1914 when 1,541,000 bushels was the estimated crop. Thousands of bushels of peaches went to waste last year, but with improved marketing facilities and the smaller crop this season suitable markets are expected to be found.

There is not a county in the State where a normal yield is expected, Carbon county ranking highest with 97 per cent. estimated. Other counties which report prospects of good yields are: Berks, 85 per cent.; Lehigh, 82; Northampton, 82; Perry, 82; Philadelphia, 85 and York, 80.

Counties which show very small percentages of a normal crop are: Allegheny, 25; Armstrong, 18; Butler, 20; Cambria, 20; Forest, 25; Jefferson, 22; Lackawanna, 20; Somerset, 10; Venango, 26; and Washington, 25. Counties where practically no crop is expected are Elk, Fayette, Green, Indiana, McKean, Potter, Tioga and Westmoreland.

The appointment has been expected for some time but inquiries of the Turkish government as to the nominee's acceptability were made by the Senate.

HERRERA SUCCEEDS TREVINO

Americans Surprised at Change of Command in Chihuahua—Brush With Mexicans.

El Paso—A detachment of Company G, Ninth Massachusetts Infantry of Boston, was engaged in a skirmish fight by Carranzista troops on the border. The Mexicans retired after more than 100 shots had been exchanged. No casualties were sustained by the militiamen. It was impossible to determine, because of the darkness, whether the Carranzistas had sustained any losses. Lieutenant William Kovner, commanding the detachment, declared the Mexicans began the firing without cause.

Washington—General Jacinto Trevino, commander of the Carranza forces in Northeast Mexico, has been ordered to Mexico City and will be succeeded, at least temporarily, by General Luis Herrera, commander of the Chihuahua City garrison. Dispatches to the war department from General Bell, reporting the transfer, contained no explanation as to the cause. Army officers were surprised at such an important change at this time.

General Trevino has personally directed the campaign against bandits in Chihuahua and it is said to be largely because of his efforts that the Carranza soldiers have continued their operations against Villa and other out-law leaders on such a broad scale. For that reason some regret over the transfer was expressed here, though officials said they were confident that General Herrera would use every resource at his command to continue the campaign.

Facts Versus Fallacies

FACT is a real state of things. FALLACY is an apparently genuine but really illogical statement or argument.

THE difficulties—and the added expense—consequent to seeing that the law is upheld in those portions of the country where "dry" laws are in force, is well exemplified in Kentucky. For in certain portions of that State not only are the United States Revenue officers unable to cope with the moonshine situation, but can count on no help from the local authorities.

THE following from the Louisville Times gives the situation in a nutshell, and shows the rapid increase of illicit distilling in certain portions of Kentucky. Says the Times:

"MOONSHINING is on the boom in local option territory in Kentucky, particularly in the eastern portion of the State, where coal development is flourishing. This fact is being reported to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington by B. B. Bouldin, local revenue agent, who said his men informed him that illicit distilling is increasing at such a rapid rate all over the State that extraordinary measures will have to be adopted to meet the situation.

"AND I do not believe that the Government can put enough men in the field to cope with the situation at that," Mr. Bouldin stated. "In order to check this increase in illicit distilling the people and officers of this State and the counties where the licensed sale of liquor has been voted out will have to co-operate with the Government to check the spread of this particular brand of lawlessness.

"IN almost every county where local option prevails," Mr. Bouldin said, "the county and State officers have shown a lack of vigilance in dealing with illicit distilling and evidently expect Government revenue agents to police their territory. We haven't enough men to do this without the co-operation of all the people, and the sale of moonshine whiskey increases as a result. We shall continue, of course, with our limited force of agents to check this thing, but it increases in spite of all measures we have taken."

ONCE more is proven what has been said over and over again, in these articles: that it is a FALLACY to say that Prohibition prohibits, when it is a FACT that all it does is to prevent the legalized and regulated sale of liquor.
