The Mystery.
"What is the mystery connected with that much advertised mystery novel?" asked the old fox.
"Well," replied the grinch, "after reading it it seems to me that the mystery is how the author ever found a publisher."

Gaining Experience.
Real wisdom may come to a man
Who tells from sun to sun,
But we learn less by doing than
We learn by being done.

The Wise Fool.
"A man should always try to keep ahead of the game," observed the sage.
"Not always," corrected the fool.
"How about the man who goes hunting?"

Advice.
Here's some advice, both true and sound,
That you should oft repeat:
While love may make the world go round,
It won't make both ends meet.

Paw Knows Everything.
Willie—Paw, what is the liquor question?
Paw—The liquor question, say son, is "What'll you have?"

Oh, Heck!
"My white is an angel," said
The man of Willie Hood;
"The child insists that he fed
Each day on angel food!"

Muh!
Dear Luke: A lady came into my optical office to have her eyes examined last week. When she was leaving I asked her name, and she told me that she was Mrs. Clara Seeright of Jeffersontown, Ky.—J. S. J., Louisville.

Help!
"I'll write a nice suite
Song," said Matt,
"And sing it in the Key of Flat." —R. S. T.

Is That So?
As long as most of our women folks would rather stay home and play "This little pig went to market" with the baby's toes just to hear the baby laugh than go out just to hear a suffragette talk there won't be very much the matter with this country.—Luke McLake in Cincinnati Enquirer.

And as long as the majority of the men would rather stay at home and help the mothers get the babies to sleep and see that they are tucked in cozy and warm than to go to some loafing place down town and discuss the tariff and baseball, the country will be pretty sure to go along in the right channels for a long time to come.—Washington (D.) Journal-Republican.

John D. Helps John D.
Dear Luke—Did you know that John D. Helps is the manager of the Standard Oil company at Juneau, Alaska?—W. C. J., Juneau.

Mooney!
Ims Cook won honors for the best jelly at the Dallas fair.—Temple (Tex.) Telegram.

Scat!
Dear Luke—Does Tom Catt of Hazelton, Ind., get in?—Smitty.

Things to Worry About.
Wisconsin leads in the manufacture of Limburger cheese.

Names to Names.
Miss Vera Sharp lives at Henonville, Ky.

Our Daily Special.
The longer you nurse babies and troubles the larger they grow.

Luke McLake Says:
Never monkey with a buzz saw and never dispute the word of a 250 pound woman when she announces that she weighs 150 pounds.

We are all eager to give the devil his due. But we are not so considerate with our creditors.

The old fashioned man who used to be known as the breadwinner now has a son who is known as the dough loser. It is possible to give a girl a bad scarv after she has been eating onions. But it is impossible to take her breath away.

A married man's idea of an ideal wife would be the one who would believe every word he told her when he roamed home at four bells in the morning.

If a girl can't land the fellow she wants she starts fishing for the fellow some other girl wants.

The aeroplane is getting so steady and so safe that the time may come when the fool killer will have to rely on the automobile as his one best bet.

It hurts a man almost as much to wear shoes that are too small as it hurts a woman to wear shoes that are too large.

You can't make a small boy believe it. But there are plenty of good detectives who never were a set of false whiskers.

Cheer up! Even if you did happen to make an error always remember that the biggest errors are made by the experts.

Pray for the things you would like to have, and then go out and hustle for the things you have to have.

An old fashioned woman gets mad all over when she reads of a case in which a wife is supporting a husband.
