The average woman will expect to pay more for a suit, but when you look suits and the ones some stores are asking $20.00 to $25.00 for. The very latest styles, colors and fabrics.

Fashion Seems to Have Out Done Herself in the New Spring Hats

The millinery stock is now at its best, dozens and dozens of hats for you to select from. Most of them just one of a kind—some smartly tailored, others unadorned trimmed, while flowers, narrow ribbons, and fancies are used in great variety. If you will take our advice you will come in and make your selection at once. You will be surprised what a nice hat you can buy at from $3.00 to $5.00.

STORE EDITORIAL
A customer asked us the other day, "If my husband does not like this coat when he sees it tonight, can I exchange it?" Need hardly say that we hold her absolute satisfaction must accompany every article purchased at this store.
We want you all to feel that you can buy at this store knowing that we are just as anxious to have you satisfied, as you are yourself. You do us an injustice when you make a purchase here, that does not give you entire satisfaction and do not give us an opportunity to learn whether we are at fault or not.
If you cannot always come yourself to buy, send the children, they will receive the same attention, as you would yourself, the price to the child is just the same as to the grown-up.

SKULL BROKEN BY STONE While engaged in construction work in Greece, New York, last week, Peter Berry, 59 years old, of 69 Eastman avenue, Greece, was struck on the head by a large rock. His skull was fractured. At St. Mary's Hospital, where Berry was taken, it is said he has a fair chance for recovery. Mr.
Berry is well-known to a wide circle of friends in Barnesboro, who sincerely hope he may speedily recover from his injury.
