

Steels in a Maxwell that Defy Time

THE steels in a Maxwell are as good as the steels in any car built.

For the very mission of a Maxwell is economy of transportation.

One single superfluous pound burdens the car's efficiency.

Therefore it had to be light—but it had to be strong; it had to endure; it had to stand the worst of road shocks.

To make it strong but light in weight meant the very generous use of those rare steels that provide both.

In that way a Maxwell came to be endowed with steels that defy time, defy wear, defy shock, defy the moods of the careless driver.

You will find a Maxwell delivers extended mileage—as long life as any car built, no matter what the price.

And not only long mileage but economic mileage. Because fine steels give little trouble and light weight spins out the mileage on a gallon of gasoline.

Such traits have made friends for the Maxwell in ever growing numbers—nearly 400,000 to date.

Only 100,000 can be built this year. That means 60,000 will have to take another car besides Maxwell—a second-choice car.
