AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

Two hundred and fifty members of the American Legion, headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, former national commander, and representing every state and every branch of service, will sail for France on August 1 on a pilgrimage to the "tombs" north of the world war.

The pilgrimage is at the instance of President Millerand, who is selling of the French Government, and the American Legion to send a representative delegation of former war men to attend the unveiling of the Flery monument and to participate in a series of events planned especially for the Americans.

The Flery monument at Flery, France, is a tribute to the heroes who held town and Lorraine to the value of the American troops who delivered their soil from German occupation. Flery is in the old Toul sector and once was the regimental headquarters of several American divisions.

A replica of the Flery monument was presented recently to President Harding by Ambassador Jacobson, who at the same time transmitted President Millerand's invitation to the American Legion through its national commander, John G. Emer. Because of the stress of Legion matters in this country, Mr. Emer will not go to France with the pilgrimage, having selected Mr. Wilson for the leadership.

A trip of the "American Legion" the new 21,000-ton, twin screw passenger-cargo liner of the Atlantic Lines, was the occasion for a gathering of American Legion officials from Eastern States. The trip lasted two days. It started from Garden, N. J., and ended in New York. The ship was built for the United States Shipping Board by the New York Ship Building Corporation. It was assigned to the Munson line for service between New York and South America.

The 250 members of the American Legion who tour France this summer as guests of the French Government will visit the battle-scarred town of St. Die, well known to Americans who served in the 4th Infantry. Not many of the defenders of St. Die knew at the time that they were defending the town in which Americans got their name. In St. Die lived the Alabamian, Walter Muller, whose suggestion it was that the Western Continent take the name of the navigator, America Vesputi.

Marshal Foch, who is coming to the United States this fall to attend the national convention of the American Legion at Kansas City, will meet the American Legion delegation in France this summer. If possible, he will receive the Legionnaires in the old house in which he was born. The house is in the Pyrenees and the Legion men will mark it with a memorial tablet.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, with more than a million members, has joined hands with the American Legion in obtaining legislation for the relief of disabled soldiers of the world war. More than 1,800 members of the Federation have endorsed the legislative program of the Legion.

One of the many impressive ceremonies in which the American Legion delegation will participate on their trip to France this summer will be the laying of a corner-stone of the new bridge to span the Marne at Chateau-Thierry. The new structure will be known as "Roosevelt" in honor of the late Theodore Roosevelt and his son Quentin. The latter fell in combat near Chateau-Thierry.

Life size replicas of the old "Gardens of A. E. F." days will bear the names and service records of Illinois soldiers of trees of memorial highways of the state, according to a recent decision of the Illinois department of the American Legion.

The W. Galbraith Jr., Post of the American Legion of New York City is the first post named for the late national commander of the Legion, to change its charter. It is composed mostly of Legionnaires attached to the American Legion Weekly headquarters. Two other Legion posts have organized in honor of the late commander, one at Cincinnati, O., and the other at Rock Island, Ill.

The first railroad to announce reduced rates for delegates to the annual convention of the American Legion at Kansas City this fall is the Frisco. A one-cent a mile rate will be extended to all American Legion men, their wives and others who are members of the Women's Auxiliary.

GRAIN. Prices declined during the week, although without definite trend. On June 30 and July 1 prices fluctuated, not noticeably evening up for holiday. There was a big decline on the 30th, with sentiment somewhat bearish over rains in parts of wheat belt. The market closed stronger on short covering and good class of new buying. Disappointing threshing returns from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri and private report indicating Missouri wheat crop around 31,000,000 bushels also had considerable effect. Export demand slow, country offerings only fair. Corn country offerings to arrive light continued hot dry weather causing some apprehension in corn market but reports thus far are favorable.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILTON MARSHALL

From about every name in history there is a story to tell. Here are some of the lucky ones.

LUCRETIA

THOUGH Lucretia was the name of a famous Roman matron, it is a far cry from ancient Rome to modern New England, but the name has completed the transition with very few changes to mark the successful steps of its evolution. There are two theories among etymologists as to the original source of Lucretia. Some contend that it comes from the Latin word Lucretium meaning "luck" and for that reason Lucretia is said to signify luck. On the other hand, there is much evidence to prove that its real source was in the Latin word for light, lux. Many feminine names have been derived from this root and the same word has supplied surnames without number.

It is believed, therefore, that the noted old genealogist from which Lucretia is directly descended, was only another of the derivatives of lux. Lucretia, resembling the fescue under the midnight lamp, the famous old Roman tale inspired Shakespeare to write one of his earliest comedies. Despite her notoriety, Lucretia Borgia probably established the name of Lucretia in Italy, and in early modern times it was one of the few classical names to be revived.

France has a Lucretia, which is popular, and England imported Lucretia in the eighteenth century. Lucretia's telegraphic name is the red-headed rump. It has the power to bring her strength of body, an invincible spirit and success in every undertaking. Today is her lucky day, and 6 her lucky number.

A. to Names.

The late Chief Clerk was christened James Bouschamps Clark, but he was generally known as "Bouschamps" because people would insist on mispronouncing "Bouschamps" he rechristened himself with the name by which he was generally known. His case reminds us of the old dandy's plan. The latter was asked, "What have you named your baby, Rayner?" "Sam Pro Tem Johnson," said "Pro Tem." "What's the Pro Tem for?" "To show that the name is only temporary," said the dandy. "We kinder thought Sam might like to choose his own name when he grows up, so we put de Pro Tem as a warning to de public."

Lapland Rich in Minerals

Stockholm.—The Swedish geologists who made a survey of Lapland's mineral wealth by direction of parliament report that they discovered extensive copper deposits. One vein is more than fifty yards wide and of considerable thickness. A mountain of potash clay was found near Silverberg and Diknas. Near Stromness are rich lime and cement deposits.

Smallest Will in N. J. Contains Only 55 Words

New York.—The smallest will ever filed in the office of the Surrogate of Essex County, New Jersey, is that of Mr. Makepeace, who died March 27, 1919. The will was written on a sheet of note paper, wrinkled and stained, measuring about six by three inches. It is also one of the shortest ever filed in the county, containing fifty-five words. Mr. Makepeace, who died March 27, bequeathed all his property, valued at about $200, to his wife.

BOUCHER CLANTO HOLD 19TH REUNION

BEAVERDALE.—The 19th annual reunion of the Boucher clan will be held at the Indiana Fair Grounds on Wednesday, August 10. The second Thursday of August is the regular time for the Boucher reunion, but on account of that being the date for the opening of the Beaverdale Chautauque the reunion date has been changed. The President, Irvan A. Boucher, is arranging to take the Beaverdale Boys' Concert band to Indiana for this reunion. Several good speakers will be present. All friends of the Bouchers are invited.

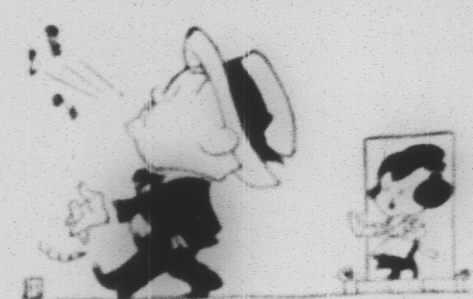

SUBPENA IN DIVORCE

EBENSBURG.—A subpoena in divorce has been awarded in the case of Victoria C. Croyle vs. Elmer E. Croyle.

All departments of the big paper mill of the New York & Pennsylvania Company, at Lock Haven, resumed operations.

Don't forget that the home town printing office is deserving of your job printing. A home venture, a home promoter.—The Courier feels that it is entitled to it.
