AT THE MISHLER, ALTOONA, STARTING MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 26th

Gay Bates Post and his excellent company are this season appearing in "The Masquerader" one of the few really worth while plays of the decade. The unusual company—the original New York one by the way—with its wealth of scenery, electrical effects and novel revolving stages.

This well known representative actor has never had a better vehicle than this. His manager Mr. Richard Walton Tully has gone to absolute extremes in providing a production both ponderous and unique. Two crews of mechanics are carried by the company to insure proper stage effects. The management of the theater is in the hands of town patrons in order that automobile and excursion parties may have seats reserved with as much care as thought the purchaser were at the ticket office window.

Mr. Post has played "The Masquerader" in Australia and Europe where he secured one of the greatest hits ever made by an American actor. The story is of two men, John Chilcote and John Loder. The first is a man born to wealth, society and political leadership. Unfortunately drugs have secured a hold on him, and when the craving comes he is restless under the need for caring for his many important interests.

While Chilcote is in one of these restless moods he encounters John Loder. Loder, in every respect his double, except that he has a noticeable scar on one of his fingers. Loder is a man well read, well traveled and ambitious to take a place among the leaders of his race. Chilcote, in the frenzy of morphia, seeks out Loder and proposes that they exchange places. Loder refuses. Chilcote collapses and his man Brock pleads with Loder to represent him as the speaker on an important issue in parliament that night. Lured by the opportunity Loder consents and carried away by the cause for which he pleads scores a National Sensation.

Sweet Odors Always Popular.

From the very earliest ages man has loved sweet odors. In the Bible we read of the burning of incense on the altars and the very word pertunary (under which head we may include all delicate fumes or smells) comes from the Latin fumus, smoke or vapor. The early Egyptians knew the use of the still, and adapted it to the separation of the odorous principle from fragrant plants but the most ancient odors were drawn from natural gums, such as cassia, myrrh and cinnamon.

SPECIAL VOTE ON CONGRESSMAN

Election to Fill Vacancy Takes Place Next Tuesday.

CRAGO REPUBLICAN NOMINEE

Able and Experienced Lawyer Chosen by Republican Party as its Standard Bearer—His Splendid Qualifications Should Appeal to Voters Throughout the State.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—At the open State-wide primary election next Tuesday, the voters of Pennsylvania will be called upon to elect a Congressman-at-large to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Hon. Mahlon M. Garland, the nominee of the Republican party at this special election is Hon. Thomas S. Crago, of Waynesburg, who has already served no less than five terms in Congress and whose great experience in the military affairs committee makes him an invaluable member not only for Pennsylvania, but for the entire country.

Republican electors, as well as electors of all other parties who have the interest of the state and country at heart should not neglect to vote for Colonel Crago next Tuesday. He was regularly nominated by the Republican State Committee, as was his opponent nominated by the Democratic State Committee and the one elected on Tuesday will immediately take his seat in Congress, giving Pennsylvania its full representation in that body, which it has not had since Congressman Garland's death.

It is no exaggeration to state that at this time no better man equipped for a seat in Congress could be named than Colonel Crago. There has been no member of that body more conscientious and devoted to the affairs of the country in Congress during the past few years than he, and his understanding of the intricate questions which are coming up daily in the National Capital will be helpful to the work of the present Congress.

While in Congress he fell to Colonel Crago's lot to serve as a member of the House of Representatives during the outbreak of the Spanish-American war. He was with that regiment in the Philippines and served in the whole of the campaign. After the return of the regiment and its organization in the National Guard of Pennsylvania Colonel Crago was elected a major and subsequently lieutenant colonel of that regiment.

While in Congress he fell to Colonel Crago's lot to become the author of the bill providing pensions for widows of soldiers who had served in the Spanish-American and Philippine wars and had charge of that bill on the floor of the house. The bill passed by a big majority.

Being a strict Republican and faithful with the tenets of the party, he has always been in favor of a reasonable protective tariff and his many efforts and his ability to do things for the state while in congress gave him a prominence that placed him in the forefront of Washington legislators.

Man of Fine Scholarship.

It can well be said of Colonel Crago that he is a man of fine scholarship, a splendid speaker, a lawyer of unquestionable ability with a thorough knowledge of the varied industries of Pennsylvania and the needs of her people. His excellent record as Congressman are guarantees of his fitness for the position.

Colonel Crago is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Waynesburg and is trustee of Washington College and of the Southern State Normal School of California, Pa. He is a member of the Masonic Order, the Elks, the American Veterans of Foreign Service and the United Spanish War Veterans.

Politically Colonel Crago has served his party faithfully and well. He has been chairman of the Republican County Committee of Greene, delegate to the Republican state conventions and a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1904.
