Aborigines of Australia.
For the protection of the aboriginal Australians there are institutions under the supervision of aboriginal boards, where the Blacks are housed and encouraged to work, the children receiving elementary education. The work is usually carried on at mission stations, but many of the natives are nomadic in habit of life, and receive food and clothing when they call, while others but rarely come under the notice of the boards.

Finkel's Admiration for Darwin.
The biography of John Finkel contains this comment in one of his letters from England: "Darwin is the dearest, sweetest, loveliest old grandpa I ever saw. And on the whole, he impresses me with his strength more than any man I have yet seen. There is a charming kind of quiet strength about him and about every thing he does. He is not burning and sugar-like Hazle. He has a most blue eye and is the greatest of gentlemen to know how great they are. He is one of the most truly most men I ever saw."

The Red Cross is spending Ten Million Dollars a Year to help the ex-service man and his family

Annual Roll Call Nov. 11-24, 1921

To bring before the country in visual form the vast problem it is helping to solve, the American Red Cross has prepared for its Annual Roll Call, Nov. 11 to 24, a poster showing that rather than diminishing the total of World War veterans entitled to Federal aid continues to grow. Red Cross Service to these men is costing $10,000,000 a year.

Training designed to fit them for the battle of life was taken by 147 blind ex-service men at the Red Cross Institute for the Blind, near Baltimore, Md., during the fiscal year recently, according to the report of the institute for that period.

Of this number, 19 have gone on to other institutions, in almost every case to institutions where those having sight are receiving advanced education. The blind ex-service men who have entered work institutions are provided with special textbooks in Braille, reading which they were taught at the Red Cross Institute.

Twelve men have passed from the Institute to successful careers in some occupation or business, for which they were fitted by special training. Six have withdrawn from the Institute because of poor physical condition. Four are receiving further training at the Institute and 57 are still in training.

Red Cross Gives $310,000 to Aid 'Clean-Up' Drive

An appropriation of $310,000 for Red Cross work in connection with the "cleaning-up" campaign instituted by the Government to bring the claims of all disabled service men, who are entitled to Federal aid before the proper government bureau for action, has been made by the American Red Cross. The Executive Committee of the American Red Cross is making the appropriation authorized the approval of $15,000 of this sum to the American Legion to defray the expense of the Legion representatives assigned to the various districts of the Veterans Bureau.

The remainder of the appropriation was authorized for appropriation among the several Divisions of the Red Cross for carrying on that part of the "cleaning-up" work that falls directly upon the Red Cross organization.

Red Cross Plans $6,000,000 Effort To Save Children

Medical care and clothing for thousands of children in central and eastern Europe are outlined as the activities of the American Red Cross in Europe for the coming year, according to a statement on the eve of the Annual Roll Call of the organization. These activities, supplemental to the feeding operations of the European Relief Council, of which Herbert Hoover is chairman, are designed to provide the most adequate and balanced relief within the resources of private philanthropy.

Through the establishment of child welfare stations in the centers of population of those countries where adequate medical care is not now obtainable, the American Red Cross plans to provide the medical assistance needed to restore these children to a normally healthy life. The sum of $6,000,000 has been made available for this work.

Young America Sends Vast Relief To Needy Abroad

Various relief projects of the Junior American Red Cross in European countries resulted in helping 27,000 children during the last fiscal year, according to the annual report of the American Red Cross for that period. The growth of the activities of the Junior abroad is substantiated by a comparison which shows that this figure is 20,000 larger than that of the previous fiscal year.

The National Children's Fund raised 17,000 children, members of the Junior American Red Cross, who were drawn upon for $42,500 for their post-war relief. Results for the National Children's Fund during the last fiscal year totaled $20,217.
