NEWSY NOTES PERTAINING TO THE AMERICAN LEGION

NEW YORK, N. Y.—One grand assault on the magnificent digestion was expected during the visit to that great America. Trea bien, and one had been in the training for the glorious eaters. But, pour l'amour de

Think This Over

Times in Patton for the past several months have not been the best.

All business establishments have suffered—the Courier has been no exception.

Advertising in our columns by local merchants has not been up to par despite the old adage that when times are bad advertising is the best remedy.

We have been up against a proposition to sell our advertising to local merchants who don't want it or to take on out-of-town advertisers who do.

If the out-of-town merchant is realizing results from the use of our medium, surely the home merchant is missing something.

The home newspaper is always alert to protect home interests, regardless of revenue factor.

Surely then the Patton Courier—and the Patton Courier only—is entitled to your job printing. Why leave a salesman from Altoona or elsewhere sell you printed matter and let the home newspaper and job printing office in the lurch.

All we ask of you is that you be fair.

Soon you will have guests dining at your home. Then you will NEED a new carving set and silverware to adorn your dining table.

Our carvers have the appearance and the blades are made of the best hardened steel. Our silverware will delight the eye and be of practical service.

Come in and see our carving sets and silverware and take a look also at our entire line of holiday jewelry-store works of art. Our store is the place to find your presents.

was quietly transferred onto a truck and hurried through the early morning hours to the zoological gardens. The spirit of the Montana Legionnaires and their bobcat was highly appreciated, but "Volla!" as the French said.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Disinterment of the bodies of American soldiers buried in Brent, France, during the war has been completed, according to what received by the American Legion. Army authorities have forwarded to the four permanent American cemeteries in France 1,000 bodies, most of which to the United States was not requested by relatives.

When the Y. M. C. A. in Somerville, Mass., burned down, American Legion men rescued 24 leaders, clothed them and turned the Legion clubrooms in to the temporary Y. M. C. A. of the city.

More than a million members of the American Legion have pledged themselves to assist in the American Education Week campaign, December 4-10, under the auspices of the Legion and the National Educational Association composed of school and college teachers. The purposes of the campaign are to inform the public of the accomplishments and needs of the public schools and to secure support and cooperation of the public in meeting these needs.

Louis W. Hill, the railroad magnate, was unanimously elected mayor of "Slippery Gulch, the wickedest city," staged for one week at St. Paul, Minn., under the auspices of the American Legion. Governor Preuss of Minnesota assumed the role of a mad man known as "Mexican Pete" and Lieut. Gov. Collins was his rival in the character of "Alkali Ike."

NEW YORK, N. Y.—An effort to prohibit the holding of dance in the public school at Katonah, N. Y., was defeated by the American Legion and the Village Improvement Society of that place.

BROOKLINE, Mass.—A bronze tablet has been erected at Brookline, Mass., to the memory of Albert E. Scott, a former newsboy known as "Scotty" who was killed behind his machine gun in France. He is believed to have been the youngest American soldier killed in the World War. The American Legion participated in the unveiling ceremony.

MINNEAPOLIS—Fifty per cent of the men employed on the new highway projects in Minnesota are ex-service men, according to report received by the American Legion Employment Bureau at Minneapolis.

In a campaign to collect overcoats for jobless ex-service men in New York, John Golden, the theatrical producer, offered one of the best seats for his play, "Thank You," to every person bring a discarded overcoat to the theater. Several hundred coats were obtained and distributed through the American Legion welfare organization.

More than 15,000 members of the American Legion, representing every one of the 48 states participated in the ceremonies honoring their unknown comrade of the World War at Washington Armistice Day. National Commander MacNider, in the name of the Legion, placed a huge wreath of flowers on the flag-draped casket.

Hundreds of letters and telegrams have been received by the War Department from members of the American Legion in all parts of the country in recognition of the charges of Senator Watson of Georgia, as to the hangings without court-martial and other direfulities in the A. E. F.

A Christmas gift to the ex-service men of the United States in the form of the passage by Congress of the Fordney-McCumber adjusted compensation bill, by prediction made at Washington by John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the American Legion's National Legislative Committee.

A few hours after he had been released from the military prison at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, where he was serving a sentence for a "buddy" who had saved his life in France, Harry W. Haley, was greeted at Springfield, Mo., by several thousand citizens of that place headed by the American Legion. Haley is now encamped on a ranch near Springfield where he is the guest of Col. R. P. Dickerson, commander of the National Loyalty League.

Esquimaux Own Land in Common
There is no suffrage question among the Esquimaux—the woman owns the globe with the man and has equal voice in the council meetings. And there are no vexatious questions about property rights to settle because besides the globe and personal belongings there is no property. The Esquimaux do not own any land as belonging to any one person. When told how the globe as private property in the hands of one man showed great surprise and the man asked if the white men also divided the oceans in the same way as the white men do.

Early Egyptian Maps
Maps originally appeared among the early Egyptians. They were wooden tables on which land and sea, roads and rivers were fairly accurately outlined. The evidence of such maps is not only furnished in the old Egyptian papyrus rolls, but some of the actual maps have been discovered. It was once contended that the Greeks were the inventors of the art of cartography, but it has been proved that the Egyptians and Babylonians antedated them in this respect.

Relieving Our Minds
What passes for reasoning on most occasions is a series of vocal sounds which serve to use a phrase of one popular and scientific to relieve our minds. Arguments employed in political addresses, sermons and newspaper editorials are commonly little more than mere ejaculations called forth by feelings of approval or disapproval, comfort or alarm—James H. Robinson, in Atlantic.
