Abandoned Gas Wells Producing Oil.
PENNSYLVANIA—Oil men from all sections of western Pennsylvania were gathering here to view the latest oil strikes on the Burkett farm. Four gas wells abandoned years ago, were believed to have filled with water on Monday when investigation developed they were running oil. One well produced 40 barrels in less than two hours.

Large pools of oil have formed on the surface, and farmers in the neighborhood are collecting it in barrels. Geologists on the ground reported they believed there is a large oil pool under the farm.
The first indication of oil came Sat-

Gets Two Degree in One Year.
The unusual distinction of receiving both a Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Arts degree in the same year will be conferred by the Pennsylvania State College this year on Benjamin H. Byers, of Coalport. Byers completed all of the requirements for his degree in the industrial engineering course during the first semester and was awarded his diploma at the mid-year graduation exercises.

During the past semester, he transferred his work to the Liberal Arts School with the result that he has been certified to the faculty as having completed the requirements in the course in education and pedagogy. He will receive his second degree at the regular commencement exercises on June 12.

Legion Plans Care of World War Orphans.

INDIANAPOLIS—With the belief that the problem of caring for orphans of the World War in five years will be second only to that of disabled veterans, members of the American Legion are preparing to provide relief for the children of their former comrades who are left in destitute circumstances in the years to come.

Under the direction of George A. Withers, of Clay Center, Kan., chairman of the legion's national war orphans' committee, a survey of the condition of war orphans and facilities already established for them will be conducted by legion members in every state. An attempt will be made to estimate the number of orphans who will need relief at the end of a period of five years.

Although there is no manner of arriving at the exact total of children who will require assistance, the legion has examined statistics of the Civil War and it has been estimated that there will be from 35,000 to 40,000 war orphans in this country in about twelve years.

The legion's plan for relief includes four provisions. The most desirable method of caring for the children, according to Mr. Withers, is to keep them in their homes, if possible, and to assist their mothers by obtaining mothers' pensions and other relief measures.

Second in order of advantageous plans, is the placing of children in the right kind of homes, where they will receive kind treatment from foster parents and will profit from congenial surroundings, the legion contends.

To provide for those who are not included in the first two plans, the legion is investigating the establishment of state homes. In Michigan, Illinois and Pennsylvania, homes for World War orphans are already in operation under auspices of the legion, and Kansas legionnaires will soon establish an institution of that nature.

Children in states which do not maintain homes would be cared for in regional or national homes, according to the fourth provision of the plan. These homes would receive children from sparsely populated states, where the number of war orphans would not warrant the creation of special institutions.

Cases of dependent orphans would be investigated by the nearest post of the American Legion, which would act as unofficial guardians for the children, according to the legion's plan. The Forty and Eight, designated as the playground auxiliary organization of the legion, plans to spend $34,000 to relieve war orphans.

School Closes Successful Term.
Cross Roads school, near Sunset Park closed a very successful term Monday June 4. Miss Eleanor Thomas, teacher. The class averaged about thirty pupils. One of them, Carl Bentley passed the eighth grade examination with an average of 88 per cent. Donald and Helen Baker, Robert and Hilda Campbell received certificates for perfect attendance and punctuality. Henry Campbell also received a certificate for perfect attendance. The school held a picnic at Sunset Park on Thursday. Other than the pupils and a number of their relatives and friends were present at the outing. A miscellaneous program of games, etc. was carried out, and prizes were given to the successful contestants.

Through the medium of this paper Miss Thomas wishes to thank the Patrons and the Board of Directors for their hearty cooperation during the school term.

Owing to the convenience and comforts of the new school building the school year was a delight to teacher and pupils.

Those elected to serve on the Board of Managers are: W. A. McGuire, Leonard S. Jones and J. Earl Ogle, Jr., the latter caused by the death of the late Congressman John M. Rose.

President Barker appointed the following barristers to serve on the Grievance Committee: P. J. Little, George E. Wolfe, F. J. Hartman, Charles S. Evans and J. Earl Ogle, Jr.

Four new members were admitted to the Bar Association. They are: Edward Knuff, Owen T. Sharkey, W. Stephens Mayer and Paul W. Cauffiel, all of Johnstown.

The President was authorized by the association to appoint two members as delegates to the American Bar Association convention, which will be held in Minneapolis, Minn., beginning August 18.

Coal Tipple is Burned.
Lightning Saturday evening struck the tippie at the Delaney operations of the Aloona Coal & Coke Co. at Amsbury and the structure was completely destroyed by fire, causing a loss in the neighborhood of $10,000. The Crescon Fire Company, ran to the blaze and worked until midnight before it was placed under control. The tippie extended over the Coalport branch of the Crescon division of the P. R. R. and traffic was delayed considerably, the Coalport passenger train being held back two hours. Sunday was spent in clearing up debris and the tippie will be rebuilt at once.

Both Hands Ground Off.
FRANKLIN—Harry W. Pyle, a former resident of this city, is in the Warren Hospital with both hands off, the result of an accident at the West Hickory Tanning Company plant. Pyle, taking the place of a workman who did not report, got one hand caught in the rolls as he was feeding some hides into the press, and in trying to get it out the other hand was caught. One arm was so badly crushed it had to be amputated at the elbow. The other hand was taken off at the wrist.
