

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Now Recommends Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound

Washington, D. C.—"Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation which a physician said I would have to have for a very bad case of female trouble. My system was all run down for two years after my little girl was born. Then I read of your wonderful medicine and decided to try it. I could hardly drag one foot after the other, and after taking six bottles of the Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I now do all my housework, also washing and ironing. My health is fine, and I weigh 140 pounds. When I started taking it I weighed 97 pounds. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound to any one who is suffering from a female trouble or is run down. You may use this testimonial for I am only too glad to let suffering women know what the Vegetable Compound did for me."—Mrs. I. D. HEWITT, 2205 Penna. Ave. S. E., Washington, D. C.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

DRAGON-FLIES

"It makes me very much annoyed," said Daddy Dragon-Fly, "when I am not appreciated. We eat up mostly little insects and people shouldn't be afraid of us." "Well," said another Dragon-Fly, whose real name was Mr. Ephestonia Heros, "I wasn't very welcome the other day. I flew in a window of a house and there was a little girl taking a bath. She was having a beautiful time splashing and all, so I buzzed about and thought I'd make a noise, too. But she screamed at seeing me. 'That great, big, horrid thing' was the rude, cruel way in which she spoke of me." "It grieved me sadly. And when I say that it grieved me sadly I mean that I must say, we're not so very well known. If the little girl had known my name she might have been frightened by it. It is a very long name. But she just knew me as a Dragon-Fly and had no idea of the enormous and magnificent name which I always carry with me wherever I go. So there was no reason for her to be frightened. It was very sad as I've said. I cannot see why people should be afraid of me. I cannot see, but then the ways of people are beyond a poor Dragon-Fly's understanding." "You are the largest of all the Dragon-Flies," said Daddy Dragon-Fly. "At least I should say that your family belong to the species or kind of Dragon-Fly which is bigger than any other." "Quite often you're taken for me and I'm sure taken for you. But you're much bigger than I am and you haven't the round spot in front of your eyes that I have. You have a T-shaped mark. Yes, your wings are big and outspread and your body is very long. My body isn't nearly so long. It is a shame not to be appreciated. Now, we do a very good work and we're interesting-looking creatures. I lived in the water until I got my fine wings. That is the way we do as a family." "You know that well enough. And when I was young I used to shoot forth my smart little jaws and grab up anything that passed my way that looked good to eat." "Now I fly about and gather up my prey with my legs, holding it as though in a market basket. But, oh dear, I do wish people would stop gossiping about us being them. We won't bite anything but our insect food! We're doing good and not harm and we're graceful and nice to look at, surely. So let's beg people to leave us alone and not to be frightened at us! We don't like to be frightened then. We certainly don't like to do anything like that!" "That's the Dragon-Fly truth!"

Least Damaging. "To be sure, I want my daughter to enjoy some kind of artistic education," said the father who had recently made his fortune. "I think I'll let her study singing."

"Why not art or literature?" questioned a friend. "No. Art spoils canvas and literature wastes reams of paper. Singing merely produces a temporary disturbance of the atmosphere."—Chicago Daily News.

Varying Heights. Hoffy, having moved to the country, had to stand for a lot of near-humor from his down town friends and got very tired of it. Hence the following dialogue: "Hello, Hoffy." "Lo." "So you now live in the suburbs?" "Yes." "How high are onions?" "Four inches in the garden; higher at the grocery store."

San Francisco's Main Street Sinking

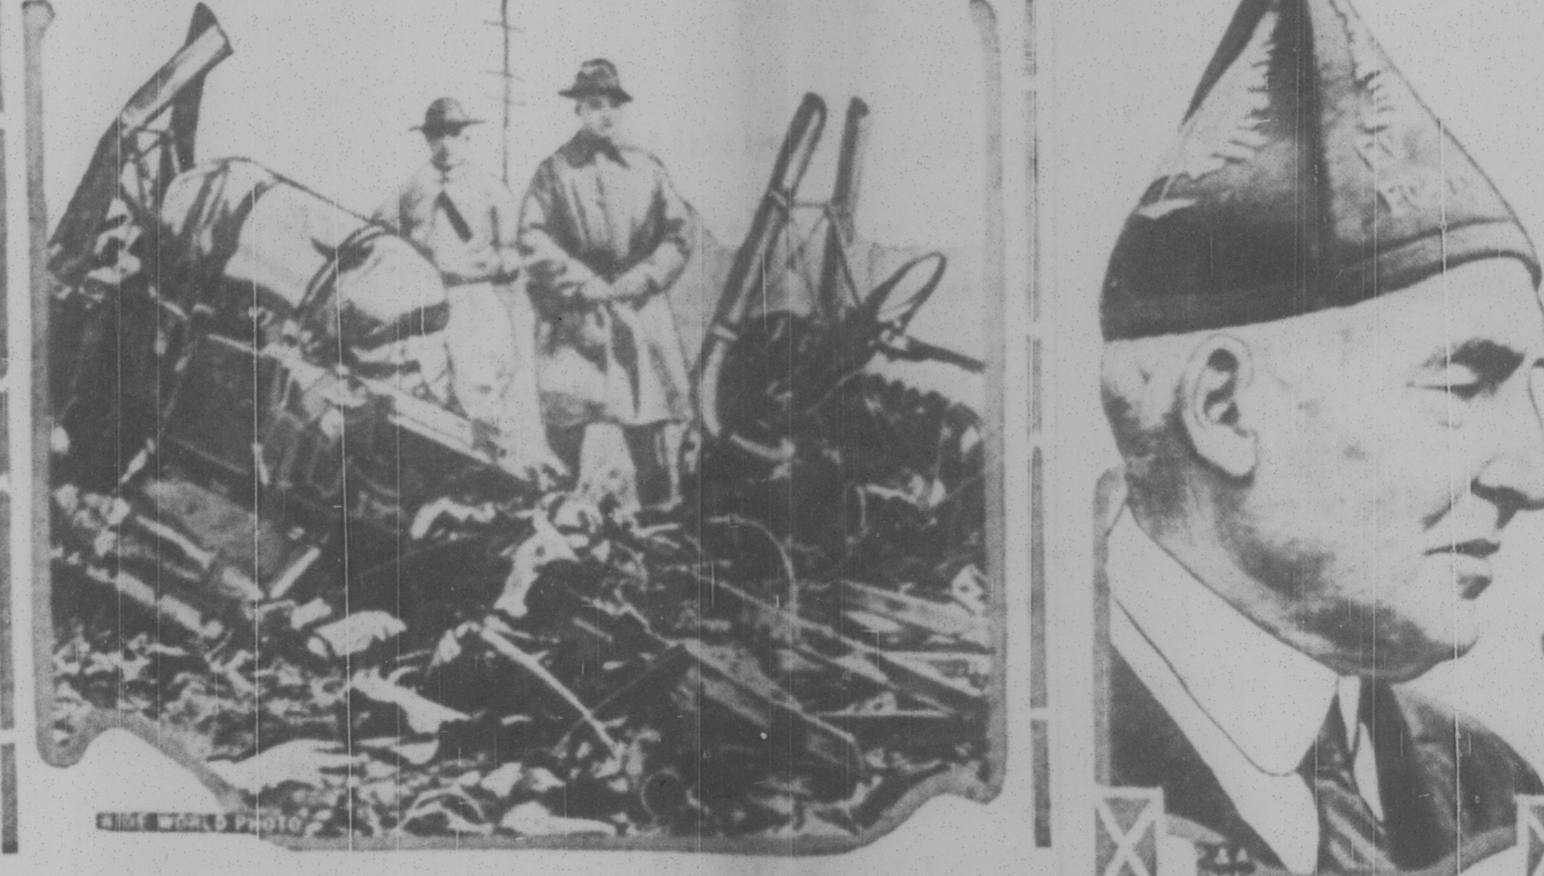

Weighted down by the tremendous tonnage of modern skyscrapers, Market street, San Francisco's main thoroughfare between the Ferry and First street, is slowly but surely sinking into the black mire of the bay. According to City Engineer M. M. O'Shaughnessy, the street has sunk 17 inches since 1906, or an inch a year. Steps will be taken at once by the city engineering department to prevent the encroachment of the sea.

This Woke Up Augusto Moris

Augusto Moris was sleeping peacefully in his home at Springfield, Mass., when a runaway string of freight cars sped down grade, crashed through a bumper and crashed right through the frame building. Moris was awakened by the crash to see the four grey way, then he landed in the cellar and, unhurt, immediately started to dig his way out.

GOOSEBERRY GOOD THINGS

It is wise to look ahead to the season when fruits will be ripe for preserving, save recipes which appeal, and be ready to put up some new preserves at the same time providing for dessert for the winter.

Gooseberry pie and tarts are delicious, just plain canned berries may be used at any time and when they are fresh and in season they are very appetizing.

Prepare a baked shell and just before serving fill with the following: To three cupsful of gooseberries, add one and one-fourth cupsful of water and one cupful of sugar. Cook until soft, add the yolk of two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of flour and a little sugar to bind the dough, cook until smooth. Cool and pour into the pastry shell and cover with a meringue made with the whites of the eggs and six tablespoonfuls of sugar. Bake until the meringue is brown. Less sugar may be used in the meringue and half a dozen marshmallows added, making a very pretty top to the pie.

Gooseberry Bar is Delicious—Heat and tell six cupsful of gooseberries, add four cupsful of sugar and one pint of vinegar. Cook for 20 minutes and add four more cupsful of sugar. Continue cooking for 45 minutes, or until thick. Put into glasses and let stand in the sun until covered until thoroughly set. Cover with paraffin when cold.

Rice and Gooseberry Compote—Steam two-thirds of a cupful of well-washed rice in one cupful of water in a double boiler until the water is absorbed. Now add one cupful of hot milk, one-quarter of a cupful of sugar and a little salt. Cook until the rice is very soft. When cool turn into a shallow dish and surround with mounds of gooseberry jam and alternate with whipped cream in mounds.

Sour Cream Frosting—Take one cupful each of sugar and sour cream, and the same of milk. Cook the cream and sugar to the soft ball stage, add the nuts and beat until creamy and cool enough to use as filling.

Gooseberry Jam—Wash the prepared berries, adding three tablespoonfuls of water to start the steam, allow three-fourths as much sugar by weight as berries, and when they are boiling add one-half of the sugar, boil five minutes and add the remainder.

GOOD THINGS FOR EVERYDAY

Peanut butter is a food that may be used in various ways. It is nice for sandwiches, and a good spread added to any stuffing used for green peppers or stuffed onions, and will be found an addition to many dishes.

Peanut Butter Biscuit—Take two cupsful of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, three tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of milk, one-half cupful of peanut butter and two tablespoonfuls of seedless raisins. Mix and roll in a sheet, spreading with the peanut butter and sprinkling with the raisins. Roll up and cut into small slices and bake in a hot oven fifteen minutes.

Kentucky Pie—Steam six large tart apples and run them through a sieve, stir in white hot one tablespoonful of butter. When cool add the yolk of three eggs, the rind and juice of a lemon and one cupful of sugar which have been beaten together. Cover a deep plate with a rich pastry and fill with the mixture, baking in a moderate oven forty minutes.

Apple Punch—Cut six tart apples into quarters without paring, add one cupful of raisins, two bay leaves, a small piece of stick cinnamon, the grated rind of three lemons and two quarts of cold water, let come to a boil and boil thirty minutes, drain and when cold add the juice of three lemons, two pounds of sugar and serve with ice.

Doughnuts—Take two cupsful of sour milk, one cupful of sour cream, one and three-fourths cupsful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, mix together and pour into a hot oil. Chill well and they can be handled with much less flour, making a more tender and delicate cake.

Raisin Candy—Take one and one-half cupsful of sugar, one-half cupful of chopped raisins, one-half cupful of roasted almonds. Heat the sugar until a golden brown strip, remove from the fire and add the raisins and nuts, stirring them quickly. Pour into greased pans and mark off in squares.

BUSINESS MAN SAYS IT IS FINE

Quaker City Manager Declares Tanlac Ended Indigestion, Gases, Weakness and Insomnia.

"Tanlac certainly proved its merits in my case, and I'll tell others about it every chance I get." In the positive statement of Ernest E. Ellis, 7th 44th St., Philadelphia, well-known manager of the commercial and photographic art studio at 405 Market St.

"Indigestion had such a grip on me that I used to look forward to meal-time with dread. For I knew if I returned to eat heartily I'd have to go through hours of suffering with my stomach gas and sourness caused those awful pains and I got so little restful sleep and grew into such a run-down condition that my life was simply miserable."

"I can hardly say how thankful I am for Tanlac. I now eat heartily of all kinds of food with absolutely no ill effects, sleep like a top and always feel fresh as a daisy. I consider Tanlac a wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

"There goes an old buddy of mine," Perkins remarks as a man passes. "Who is he?" asked Brown. "Bill Bristol—poor old Bill!" "Why 'poor old Bill'?" "Well, it's this way," Perkins explained. "When the war broke out I enlisted and Bill got married." "Yes, go on." "Well, can't you see? I got a discharge more than two years ago now!"—Kansas City Star.

He Hugs Wrong Mother. Mother had been visiting in the country and I went down to the train to meet her. When the train unloaded its passengers I spotted her standing with her back to me on the platform. She had on the same blue suit and red hat as when she left me. I went up behind her, put my arms around her, and went about to kiss her when a surprised voice said: "Well, sah, I think you've made a big mistake. It was a colored woman!" The people on the platform laughed. I finally found mother wearing a silk dress and hat and led her away to our auto.—Chicago Tribune.

Absolutely Out of Luck. "I haven't any luck. A month ago I bought a dream book and I haven't had a dream since then."

BACK ACHY?

Lame and aching in the morning? Tortured with backache all day long? No wonder you feel worn out and discouraged. But have you given any thought to your kidneys? Weak kidneys cause just such troubles, and you are likely to have backache, too, with frequent urinating, and bladder irregularities. Don't risk neglect! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor.

A Pennsylvania Case

W. H. Varner, of Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for several years. I have never had a back ache or any other kidney trouble since I began using them. I can't say enough for them. I would have been a great deal worse if I had not used them. I have had no return of the trouble."
