FLORISTS FIND TELEPHONE IMPORTANT BUSINESS AID

There is much recent evidence to which wide-awake florists, both wholesale and retail, are relying on the telephone to stimulate business. Usually flowers are wanted in a hurry and because the telephone can so quickly close the gap between the grower, wholesaler, retailer and customer it is coming to general use. Quite apart from the opportunities of the telephone for selling to distant retailers, growers appreciate it as a means of keeping in touch with their trade. "I can't always call my customers for the purpose of selling them some blooms," said a wholesaler recently. "I want them always to have in mind that with the telephone at their elbow we can help them in any emergency they may face." On the other hand, the retailer of flowers is keeping in closer touch with the grower and wholesaler than ever before. He finds the telephone valuable for quick and advantageous buying and with the assurance of quick deliveries he is ready for any emergency that may arise. He is scanning the newspapers for the adjoining towns for coming receptions, banquets, weddings, balls and securing those interested in his willingness to take charge of the floral decorations. Apparently he finds it pays to spread abroad the idea that quick action is his specialty.

WATCH TELEPHONE MANNERS BEAUTY SPECIALIST ADVISES

Who says beauty is but skin deep? Miss Kent Forbes doesn't think so and she ought to know, for she conducts a series of "Beauty Clinics" which are syndicated to papers all over the country. Beauty, as Miss Forbes views it from the standpoint of an expert, is at least voice deep. Discussing "Telephone Personality" in a recent "chat" she writes: "If you call a strange number and a disagreeable voice says: 'Hello, huh, what do you want?' think of the disagreeable impression you immediately receive! That is one way, though, not a very admirable one, of projecting personality. How different from the impression received when a pleasant voice greets a caller! A pleasant voice is a good thing and it is a good thing to have the other end of the wire. Most people do not know how to answer a telephone. The statement applies particularly to the young girls sitting at switchboards in our modern business offices. There may be quickness and efficiency behind the crisp, curt tones, but there is absolutely no personality and no feeling that this firm would go out of its way to be nice to you. In those modern days your home or your office is usually visited first by telephone. What sort of impression do you give out when you pick up the receiver? "I do not know which is worse, the voice which is crisp, curt and impersonal, or the voice which may mean to be pleasant enough but which lacks force and spirit. This lack of spirit is a handicap to getting but the inability to throw the voice properly or to pronounce properly. "These are defects which can and should be overcome. If you put pleasantness and good will into your manner you will give a good impression of yourself over the telephone wire. Remember that the other person has only your voice and words by which to judge you."

The occupants of the automobile were slightly injured by broken glass, but left the scene of the accident before police authorities learned their identity. Richter was taken to the office of Dr. A. WINNING TEAM MAKES PERFECT SCORE IN FIRST AID CONTEST

Of the eleven teams competing in the First Aid Contest of the Philadelphia Division of The Bell Telephone Company not one team scored less than 94 per cent for a grand average. The winning team, representing the Motor Vehicle Department, won with a mark of 100 per cent. Leading medical authorities of the city acted as judges. Before arriving at a decision the judges considered the effectiveness of the bandages; the treatment applied to the patient; the degree of neatness attained by each team in their work; the manner with which the patient was handled; the speed and accuracy of each team and many other points, before awarding the honors. At the close of the contest Leonard H. Kinard, President of The Bell Telephone Company, presented a cup to the winning team. Later each individual member of the team received a medal. About 95 per cent of the linemen, installers, etc., are capable of administering First Aid treatment. It is part of their work. The interest displayed at the contest is indicative of the spirit with which they enter it. Many times telephone men have been the means of saving lives by stopping the flow of blood from severed arteries; by administering artificial respiration; by knowing just how to treat cases of sun stroke or heat prostration or bandaging broken bones. Since the beginning of these contests seven years ago 97.4 per cent is the lowest mark received by any of the winning teams.

Cambria County Citizens Good Roads League Turns Down Resolution

SALIX—Following heated discussions, the Cambria County Citizens Good Roads League refused to adopt a resolution presented by a committee condemning Governor Gifford Pinchot for vetoing Senate Bill 434, giving township authority to supervise the building of roads. An amendment to the resolution presented, eliminating a portion of the original censuring the Governor's reasons for the veto, did not please a large part of the assemblage, but it was thought for a time that the resolution as revised would pass. However, the vote showed disinclination to criticize the State executive or to go on record as favoring local supervision, the resolution being defeated decidedly. Assemblyman J. Ross Horne led the opposition to the condemnatory resolution, while O. P. Thomas, county surveyor, spoke fervently in its favor. Congressman George M. Wertz advised against the action. "Unless there was some good reason for it," Mr. Horne upheld the Highway Department, while admitting that Cambria County also has some good road builders. Mr. Thomas declared that the State Highway Department had 33 inspectors employed in this county at $5 per day each.

State Justice Department Also Holds Bituminous Mine Cars Must Be Uniform

HARRISBURG—Boroughs are permitted to levy and collect a dog tax imposed under the act of 1921, returns from which go to the Department of Agriculture, according to an opinion from the Department of Justice to Dr. T. E. Munet, State veterinarian. The borough tax is independent of the State tax and comes under police powers which are not interfered with by the State dog tax act, the opinion states.

Three other opinions were announced by the Department of Justice.

Secretary of Property Herkey Boyd was advised that no contract for terms of more than two years may be cancelled inasmuch as the State has authority to enter into contracts for leasing of offices for a longer period. Branding of mine cars in bituminous coal mines and enforcement of other provisions of an act requiring uniform capacity is required, the Attorney General advised Chief of Mines Joseph J. Walsh in another opinion. The banking Department was advised that loans to directors secured by bond and mortgage must be included in the amount of loans made to such directors.

A SPLENDID EXAMPLE OF ENTERPRISE AND ORGANIZED EFFORT

The Rail Mark

of Service

THE KIND OF SERVICE A GREAT ORGANIZATION IS CAPABLE OF GIVING IN A GREAT EMERGENCY UNDER PRIVATE OWNERSHIP.

The Philadelphia Courier on Wednesday, June 1, published the following editorial:

AN OBJECT LESSON IN RAILROAD EFFICIENCY

The great efficiency that has been achieved in recent years, but it can be applied to all phases of the activity of the Pennsylvania Railroad who are meeting the emergency produced by the suspension of the operation of the Broad Street Station.

While the confusion and delay in the operation of the engineering and construction departments, which in consultation, and the fact that not even distinguished railroad men were working could work at all. In the meantime the traffic department was called upon to make a rearrangement of service and speed. Traffic promptly informed the traveling public of the suspension of service.

In less than twenty-four hours after the fire started the builders were employed in restoring platforms. Men had been summoned from everywhere, but there was a minimum of confusion, because every man had a definite duty. It has been a splendid object lesson in efficiency on the part of the world's greatest railroad. In these days of speed, demoralized train service spells general confusion, and that this should have been so largely and quickly overcome is a matter of congratulation.

The American spirit is shown at its best when meeting seemingly unsurmountable difficulties. Say that a thing is impossible in this country, and, as if by magic, it will appear to make it possible. These arrangements may be subject to some temporary inconvenience, but if the public be as patient as the railroad company has been enterprising, there will not be much reason for complaint.

Train service in and out of Broad Street Station has already practically been restored to normal conditions.
