BOARD MEMBERS ARE PROSECUTED

Several Placed Under Arrest Give Bail For Hearing

The first move on the part of the county officials to place the responsibility for "irregularities" errors and plain "crooked work" in the recent primary election was made Tuesday evening when County Detectives Ed Whited and Detective Carl Foster served warrants on a number of election officials in Johnstown, charging violation of the election laws. The entire election board in the Twelfth Ward was arrested and released on bail of $1,000 each for a hearing. This board consists of Emmett McNally, judge of elections, and Francis and William O'Donnell, William P. Roth and Fred Seth, inspectors and clerks. The arrests were made by Officers Whited and Steur and the members of the board of the Twelfth ward were taken before Alderman Edward E. Levergood. Their releases on bail were secured in a short time. Warrants have been issued from the office of Alderman James W. Rese for Stephen Plank, judge of elections in the No. 2 precinct of Lower Yoder township, and William Hickey, judge of elections in the Eighteenth No. 1. Violations of the laws governing elections are the charges against Plank and Hickey, both of whom will be arrested.

The sixteenth ward is included in the move. Warrants have been issued for Fred Lysett, judge of elections, and also for the clerks and inspectors, John Pohl, John Quinn, Michael Cheyenne and Alderman Alex Cover. It is stated by county officials working under orders of District Attorney D. P. Welmer.

The count of these precincts by the computation board working under Judges John H. McCann and John E. Evans, disclosed startling evidence of fraud in remarking and counting of ballots. The move Tuesday in arresting the election board members in the precincts named is the first "gun" to be fired in what is predicted to be a wholesale cleanup of election methods said to have been in vogue for a number of years.

Following a conference between Judge John E. Evans and District Attorney Welmer in Johnstown, it was announced that the grand jury for the December term of court will be called upon to meet one week earlier than usual in order to investigate the election frauds that were discovered when the computation board met developments before that body resulting in the prosecution of the 12 election officials before the local magistrates.

SEVEN PLEADERS BEFORE COURT

William Cook, Negro from Franklin, Gets Long Term in Pen for Cutting Affray

The regular weekly session of Motion Court was held Monday and the three Judges John E. Evans, John H. McCann and M. L. Reed, were on the bench. A number of motions and petitions were heard.

The following waived the finding of bills by the Grand Jury, entered pleas of guilty and were sentenced by the Court:

Louis Roth, of Vineland, charged with defrauding a boardinghouse keeper, was directed to pay the costs of prosecution and make restitution.

John Jones, of West Taylor township, charged with violation of the liquor laws, was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $100 and serve one year in the county jail.

William Cook, colored, of Franklin Borough, charged with felonious assault and battery, on two counts, was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $100 and serve not less than two nor more than three years in the Western Penitentiary.

Joe Mesoth, of Scapp Level, charged with larceny of two watches valued at $60, was directed to pay the costs and undergo two months imprisonment in the county jail.

Joseph Bricker, of Tyrone, charged with breaking and entering the post-office and store of J. E. Kuhn at Glasgow and also the store of L. E. Troxell of Glasgow, was sentenced to pay the costs and remanded to the Huntingdon Reformatory. Henry Heist, also of Tyrone, an accomplice of Bricker, was directed to pay the costs and serve 15 months in the county jail.

James C. Darby Expires

James C. Darby, aged 84, former postmaster of Cambria County, died suddenly at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at his residence in Johnstown. He attended the mission service in St. John's Catholic church in the morning and then visited a dentist, returning to his home shortly after 10 o'clock. Mr. Darby collapsed in the kitchen and passed away within a few minutes, death being due to heart failure.

Mr. Darby was born at Gallatin, July 29, 1833, a son of the late James and Mary McNeal Darby. He and Sara A. Keatts, who survives, were married in St. Bernard's church by the Rev. Father Edw. J. O. S. B. Besides his widow, Mr. Darby is survived by his son, James S. Darby, an employee of the government at Washington, D. C.

James C. Darby was educated at St. Francis college, Lewistown, and worked in the lumber business at Conowingo, Md. He had a hand on the Pennsylvania railroad in 1875. In 1890 he was chosen postmaster of Cambria county on the Democratic ticket as successor to E. L. Shoenmaker. At the expiration of his term he was re-elected and served until 1908 when the late Col. Samuel W. Davis, of Ebensburg, Republican, succeeded him. Mr. Darby was a member of St. John Gaultier's church, and the Holy Name society connected with the Clinton street church. He also was a member of the Knights of St. George and was active in affairs of the Loyal Order of Moose. His last employment was as night watchman for the Penn. Public Service corporation at the Seward plant, where position he resigned last June on account of ill health.

Funeral services were conducted at 9 o'clock Sunday morning in St. John's church, a high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. Dr. John N. Cabot, pastor. Interment was made in the church cemetery at Gettysburg.

PERISHING MONUMENT GOES TO HIGHWAY

The Greensburg Tribune says: "The monument dedicated by General John J. Pershing to Frederick Pershing at the annual Pershing reunion at Idlewild Park will be located on the Jacob Hinkle farm, near Grand Hill school house, along the Lincoln Highway. The monument will be visible from both directions on the highway.

A landscape gardener has been commissioned to get out the rocks and to plan the decorative foliage which will include many trees.

Several years will be required to carry to completion the plans which Attorney Pershing entertains for making a beautiful public park and parking place around the monument."

Household Notes

Seeds and butter, rice with cheese or tomato sauce.

A mixed vegetable soufflé is an excellent meat substitute.

Servicemen require these and crackers with coffee and salad.

When liver is cooked it should be well packed with fresh fat pork.

Butters are delicious served as an accompaniment to meat.

Pickled peaches and currant jelly sauce are appropriate to serve with game.

It is an excellent idea to save all the bones in which fat is packed or preserved to give added flavor to your mince meat.

TWISTED TELEPHONE CORD CAUSES TROUBLE

The most common cause of telephone trouble is the twisted telephone cord.

Many people have the mistaken idea that there is but one wire inside insulation. As a matter of fact, the telephone cord is composed of many tiny copper wires made up into a single strand. A strand of small wires has been found to be much more satisfactory for the transmission of speech than a single wire would be.

It is a common occurrence for the telephone cord to become twisted. If the twists and knots are not removed from the cord, the small wire will eventually break. Each time one of these wires breaks means that the efficiency of the telephone cord is impaired, and if the time should come that all of the wires become broken, then the entire cord would be worthless and service from that telephone cut off until the cord would be replaced.

The knots and twists should be removed from the cord by twisting, jerking and pulling to straighten the cord sometimes causes loose connections, and that puts your telephone out of service until a repairman can come out and repair the damage.

The telephone directories used in the Bell System have a total annual circulation of 25,000,000 copies, to print which requires more than 80,000 tons of paper.
