SPOT'S VISIT

Spot was a little white dog with of Spot's mistress.

Snowball was white and shaggy and little and a great pet.

Whenever Spot's mistress went to It was quite a little journey by rain, but he was never left at home. He had a special basket in which he traveled, and his mistress carried the basket.

When he arrived he always had a beautiful time. He played with Snowball, he played with the different members of the family, he sat up on his hind legs and "begged" prettily for good things to eat.

He looked now at the new rabbits which had arrived since they had last been here.

There were six of them, and they were very white and soft and fluffy, and their little noses were pink. The last time he had been hers there had been six or seven cunning little turtles. They had been amusing,
