SICK WOMEN ATTENTION!

Read this Remarkable Testimony Regarding Results from Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Norfolk, Virginia.—"If you only knew how many women and girls have taken your medicine by hearing my testimony, it would seem wonderful to you. Every day and every chance I have I advise some one to try it. It was in June, 1904, when I had given up to never get well, that I wrote to you. My husband went to the drug-store and brought the Vegetable Compound home to me. In a few days I began to improve and I have often taken it since. I am now passing through the Change of Life and still stick by it and am enjoying wonderful health. When I first started with your medicines I was a mere shadow. My health seemed to be gone. The last doctor I had said he would give me no more local treatments unless I went to the Hospital and was operated on. That was when I gave the doctors up. Now I am a healthy robust woman. I wish I could tell the world what a wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is. I will be only too glad to answer letters from anywhere. I wish all sick women would take it."—Mrs. J. A. JONES, 317 Colley Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia.

Reasonable Guess

"Hobbs Hoodle, from down there in Booger Holler, has been away for quite a spell," said Gap Johnson of Rompus Ridge. "I reckon he was dodging the revenuers, or something that-a-way."

"Did he tell you so?" inquired Gabe Giggery.

"No, but when I sorter asked him if he hadn't been he said it wasn't none of my d—n business."—Kansas City Star.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

DO NOT LOSE HOPE

FREQUENTLY, when the days seem darkest and troubles roll in upon you like the storming waves of the sea, trying their best to overwhelm you, sunny-faced Hope is hovering near, ready to rescue you at your bidding.

Thousands of weary souls on the very threshold of discouragement, about to yield to the crushing weight of their burdens, have at the last moment resolutely resolved to stand up and make a new fight.

This resolution, in perhaps the most trying hour of their lives, marked the turning point in their careers.

They found a new courage which carried them on and on, carrying them safely through their hardest battles, where they fought inch by inch until the shout of victory stirred their hearts, warmed their blood and cleared their vision.

From doubting Thomases they became sanguine Pauls, filled with the spirit of faith.

They saw new visions and dreamed new dreams.

They had strength of their own instead of that borrowed from others, which through adversity they soon learned how to use to advantage.

Such are the men and women who today are making a better world for all mankind.

There is nothing too big for them to undertake, no load too heavy for them to carry, no troublesome hills over which they cannot blaze an easy path for the less confident to follow.

Leaders in their chosen fields of labor, they take part in the boldest and noblest adventures, never growing weary of well-doing, never faltering by the wayside, never declining to lend a helping hand to the earnest, struggling in their first effort.

They think, plan, organize, achieve and create, while those without hope, hesitate, draw back, afraid to step up in the clearer, invigorating air and wage the battle with alert brains, hard sinewed arms and hearts unafraid.

They turn stubborn difficulties into willing servants, surmount impending obstacles, write their names on the eternal skies, and call lustily to the new generations to gird their armor, accept Hope as their captain until the end of their days.

Your Last Name

IS IT MAYO?

THIS is one of the many names derived from Matthew. Other forms still found are Mayhew and Maydew. The French form of the same name is Matieu. The last names May and sometimes Mayson are said to be derived from these forms of Matthew.

In old records the name is spelled in a variety of ways. Mayow and Mayouwe are ways preserved in old records.

In this country the family was founded by a prominent Puritan minister. This was the Rev. John Mayo, who was the first minister of the Second church of Boston, taking that position in 1655. The Rev. Amory Dwight Mayo was also distinguished as an educator.

William Mayo also founded the Virginia family of the name. He was a pioneer surveyor of Virginia and the Barbadoes, who was born in England in 1690 or thereabouts. Robert W. Mayo, born in Powhatan, Va., in 1784, a writer, was a descendant of his.

In England the earls of Mayo are well known among the aristocracy. The family name of these earls, however, is Bourke. There have been many clergymen and religious reformers among the English Mayos. The family is prominent in Herefordshire, from whence William Mayo, who founded the New England branch of the family, probably came. There is also a large family of the name located in Bree in Cornwall.

ESSENTIAL

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WE WHO are lazy, we who shirk,
I wonder is the trouble this?—
That we must scourge ourselves to work
Because the larger few we miss?
Why do we labor? Is it just
To serve ourselves, and not the age?
Are we as common as the dust
In which we labor for our wage?

If so, we earn a poor reward.
However great our wage may be.
'Tis not for wage men bear the sword,
Or plow the land, or till the tree.
Who sees within the love a hearth,
The nourishment within the soil,
Who wears a sword to free the earth,
He needs no scourge to make him toil.

The world wheels forward like a car
Essential every working cog;
Whate'er your labor, what you are,
Behind a desk, upon a log,
You play your necessary part
In all the work there is to do;
Go forward with uplifted heart,
Because the world has need of You.

SCHOOL DAYS

MUST BE 14 TO QUIT SCHOOL

Governor Pinchot Signs Measure Affecting Education in the Rural Districts

NEELY BILL IS APPROVED

Interesting News Items, Briefly Condensed, Picked Up at the Departments Which Are Of Interest To the People Of the State.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Compulsory attendance at public schools of children living in Fourth class or rural school districts for the full term unless those 14 years of age or over are relieved by special action of the school directors is required by the terms of the bill introduced by Senator Painter of Westmoreland county was signed by Gov. Pinchot.

The measure is an amendment to the school code which formerly permitted children over 13 years to be exempted from school attendance during rush seasons on the farms. It raises the limit to 14 years and requires that children between 14 and 16 years must attend at least 70 per cent of the full school term.

Governor Pinchot also approved the bill of Representative Neely, Allegheny county, which authorizes the organization of a state association of township commissioners and provides for expenses limited to $4 a day for not more than three days for attendance of commissioners to such meetings.

To Start Building Roads

Construction of over 50 miles of state highway in western and southwestern counties of Pennsylvania will be started by contractors within the next fortnight under awards made recently by the state highway department. In a number of instances the work was bid on during the winter, but formal award was not made until after the sale of the first series of highway bonds recently consummated. Several large contracting firms have been assembling equipment and are getting men together so as to launch operations as soon as the weather is considered settled enough to permit continued work.

Crime Evidence Bill Vetoed.

The Governor vetoed the bill of Representative Alexander, Delaware, amending an act of 1911 by prohibiting the commonwealth from affirmatively introducing into evidence testimony of records to former convictions of a defendant subject to certain exemptions in the original act. The Governor vetoed a similar bill two years ago.

Bill To Allow Contributions.

Authority for cities and boroughs to make contributions not exceeding $200 to veterans' organizations for observance of Memorial and Armistice days is conferred by Governor Pinchot's approval of the Early bill. The Governor also announced approval of the Early bill requiring undertakers licensed by the State to register annually together with several of importance to agriculture and forestry. One of the bills authorizes State quarantine against the corn borer which has been doing much damage in northwestern counties and the provisions are similar to those against the Japanese beetle.

Auto Drivers Licenses Revoked.

During the week ending April 2, the Department of Highways revoked 15 drivers licenses and placed the names of nine drivers on the blacklist.

Theater Tickets Sale Regulated.

The House passed a bill sponsored by Representative Baldi, Philadelphia, which would regulate the sale of theater tickets. Proprietors of places of amusements, under the bill, would not be permitted to give or sell tickets unless the price is printed in a conspicuous place. A fine of $500 or imprisonment of six months are the penalties included in the measure.

State Approves Standard Time.

The Senate, by a vote of 27 for to 15 against, passed finally the Derrick bill, which would prohibit the display of other than eastern standard time on any public building or thoroughfare. It also would prohibit the furnishing of other than eastern standard time in the course of business and would provide a fine of $100 for violations. Two years ago Senator Derrick of Bedford sponsored the act which forbids municipalities to adopt daylight saving time ordinances. It was one of the most contested measures before the 1923 session.

Women Excused From Jury Duty.

Women over 65 years of age and mothers of children under five years of age may be excused from jury duty upon application to the court under the provisions of the Goehring bill passed finally by the Senate. The bill previously had been passed by the House.

American Forest Week.

Governor Pinchot has issued a proclamation calling attention to the designation of the week of April 27 to May 3, as American Forest Week.

He recalled the story of the man at the banquet who noticed that his neighbor was abstaining from food.

"Why don't you eat?" the man asked him.

"Well, I've got to speak and I can't talk well right after eating."

The man listened with unmoved countenance to the speech of his neighbor and when the latter took his seat, leaned over to him and remarked:

COLD ROAST BEEF

IN A small family a roast of any size will last too long to be enjoyed more than three times. The following are some suggestions for using left over roast:

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches.

For four good-sized sandwiches prepare one cupful of brown sauce, or use the gravy left from the roast, adding to it, when hot, one tablespoonful of finely minced sour pickle. Cut very thin as many slices of rare roast beef as needed. Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter and add to it one-quarter of a teaspoonful of made mustard. Spread the bread with this. Dip the slices of beef into the hot sauce and place them on the bread. Sprinkle with a very little crushed cold bacon before putting on the slice of bread. Serve on a hot platter, pouring the boiling sauce over all.

For a supper dish, sliced cold roast beef is an excellent and well-liked way of serving the meat. Sliced very thin and garnished with cress or parsley, it is especially attractive in appearance.

Beef Pie.

Cut cold roast beef into inch-square pieces, using two cupfuls. Put into a quart baking dish and season with one-half teaspoonful of salt, a little pepper, one tablespoonful of tomato catsup or one-third cupful of cooked, seasoned tomatoes. Pour over the meat one cupful of liquid, using equal quantities of gravy and hot water. Cover with a crust of baking powder biscuit dough. Cut into the form of biscuit, which leaves openings for the steam to escape.

Dark Steamed Pudding.

Take one cupful of finely chopped beef suet, one cupful of molasses, one cupful of cold water, two cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, and one of cloves. Sift all the dry ingredients, and mix thoroughly. Steam three hours and serve with a hard sauce.

Your Health

By ANDREW F. CURRIER, M. D.

ULCER OF THE STOMACH

ULCER of the stomach comes to those who are anemic, who work hard and are poorly nourished, and occasionally to those whose gastric juice is acid and corrosive, or who have some kind of corrosive juice in the stomach from whatever source.

It may be a long time coming on, and may last for years. There are different kinds, in the sense that there are ulcers of different size, of different degrees of discharge and absorption, and of different degrees of poisoning and harmfulness in other ways.

In most cases the ulcer does not eat through or perforate the entire wall of the stomach; for that would almost certainly mean the occurrence in such cases of peritonitis, which usually would quickly have a fatal issue.

An accident which is not unusual with this disease and often is serious or fatal, is hemorrhage; and as it is wont to come on suddenly, without warning, it must always be anticipated and prepared for, when ulcer is known or suspected.

The treatment is principally dietetic, the diet being composed of simple substances which may be easily digested; meat and other foods which are digested in the stomach, with the exception of milk, being excluded.

Medical treatment is also useful in some instances, especially such medicines as may have an astringent and healing tendency, for example bismuth.

If the diagnosis is clearly made out, an operation by a skillful surgeon will result in a cure of the ulcer, but this does not mean that other ulcers may not develop.

There is usually but one ulcer, but others may be in the course of formation and it is quite possible to overlook them; in the performance of an operation, if the corrosion has made only slight or moderate progress.

Many cases are cured by medical measures, and it by no means follows that every case which is discovered must be treated surgically.

HAVE YOU AN IDEA?

Eugene P. Beaumont Had—And Now He Is Neck Tie King of the World

EUGENE P. BEAUMONT of Buffalo, N. Y., thought he was dead broke. But he wasn't, because he had an idea, plus faith, plus initiative, plus courage.

Beaumont conducted a little upstairs whist shop. He invested his all in material and made it into waists. Then feminine fashions, always fickle, changed, and he lost everything.

No, that isn't quite true. He lost everything but an idea. Deeply in debt Beaumont hustled out and borrowed $200. That took courage, but he had it. With the borrowed capital Beaumont and his wife started a mail order necktie business. That was less than three years ago.

Now Beaumont is the Neck Tie King of the world. At first he bought his neckties where he could. Now fourteen necktie mills are working double shifts to supply him with ties. In addition he takes almost the entire output of a garter factory, a suspender mill, handkerchief factory, a belt factory and several hosiery mills.

Just a big idea born in the brain of a man who had faith in himself and his fellows, plus energy and industry. Now he isn't dependent upon the whim of fashions—he makes fashions.

Did you ever get four nice neckties in a package, sent to you on approval, with a stamped and addressed container in which to send them back if you did not want to keep them? If you did, they came from Beaumont. Doesn't sound like such a big idea, does it? But it has made Eugene P. Beaumont a millionaire. It has furnished remunerative employment to several hundred people.

Less than three years ago Beaumont transacted his business in the kitchen of his little home. Now he has a large part of one of the largest buildings in Buffalo. The Tie Art Co., Inc., of which he is the guiding factor, is the largest parcel post shipper in the big city. In 1924 he sold 3,000,000 ties and thousands of dozens of garters and handkerchiefs and suspenders and belts.

"Give the people what they want when they want it, and at a price they want to pay," is Beaumont's motto.

He trusts people, and the trust is not abused. His losses average less than 2 per cent of his total volume, running into millions.

Why don't you do something with that idea of yours? The world may be waiting for it.
