Cheap Automobiles, Not Parisian Coiffeurs, to Blame for Bobbed Hair. Safety Razor Eliminated the Whisker. Chemical Advance Brought Hair Coloring

Women's fashions-and men's too, for that matterare created in machine shops and chemical laboratories. This is the contention Jeanne Ruere, beauty specia ist, who during the last few years has transferred her activities from Paris to Nev York.

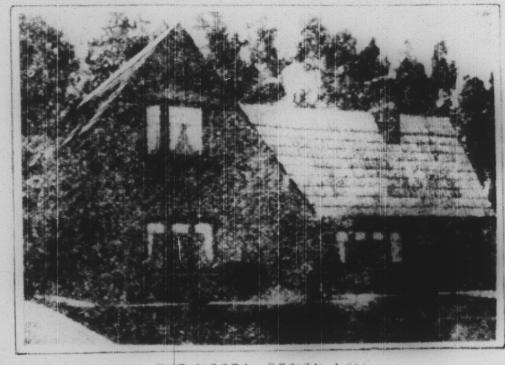

Being Parisian, Mile Ruere apparently should know what she is talking about, for all that it hereto fore has been the general opinion that the modes of women, in particular, are the result of the whim of some creator of gowns or colliures of the conturiers and colleges of force ch

[] × () N | × [] Once upon a time, not so many years ago, the directors of a newly organized company held a very important meeting. They were deciding whether to charge $1 or $5 for a patented article which the company was about to put on the market. Mrs. John Tomayko. All the evidence indicated that they could profitably market the article for $1. Nevertheless, they set the price at $5 and maintained it at $5 until their patents ran out. This article undoubtedly saves its cost two or three times a year-and it lasts ten or twenty years. Therefore, men have 類環境環境環境環境原源原源原源原源原源原源 asserted that the price was fair, that the inventor and the in-FIRST GET THE MONEY, THEN KEEP IT, IS A GOOD TASS, IF NOT CARRIED 1000 FAR.
