TWO MILES OF DIRT ROAD CAUSE GkEAT INCONVENIENCE

To Thousands of People in the North of the County, and State Won't Act.

CITIZENS ARE UP IN ARMS

That the two miles of dirt road between Ashville and Chest Springs, for which no contract has been let is a matter of much concern to other residents of the north of the county, besides Patton residents, is evidenced by a set of resolutions adopted by the Spangler Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting in which the secretary was instructed to request the Altoona Chamber of Commerce to urge of the Governor of Pennsylvania by executive action to make provision for paving 2.5 miles on Route 221 State Highway, between Chest Springs and Ashville.

This link connects the entire north of the county with the east. With all the rest of the link improved or under construction, it surely does seem queer that this title will cantion the construction of less important roads in this section and leave this particular two mile stretch passed up. The road is vitally important to communities in which many thousand people reside. Perhaps, no stretch of road in Central Pennsylvania has been more advocated for improvement than has this, et. the state highway department takes no definite action.

The road should by all means have been built this summer, while other portions of the stretch were closed on account of construction. If let for contract next summer, it will mean that his short cut to the east will again be denied the North Cambrians, or that they will have to travel over a round-about detour to reach Ashville.

Its not only Patton that wants the improvement made 100 per cent. Its the entire population of Northern Cambria county.

RHODY LUMBER IS PREY OF FLAMES

Storage Yards at Plant in Clearfield County Badly Damaged on Monday.

Andrew Rhody, of Beech avenue, head of the Rhody Lumber Company, who operate a large saw mill and lumber plant at Kermoor, Clearfield county, suffered a heavy loss as the result of a fire that broke out at the plant on Monday afternoon about 3 o'clock. Nearly 300,000 feet of lumber, piled, were destroyed in the lumber yards, and the loss is estimated to be in the vicinity of $30,000. It is believed that the flames were originated by a spark from a railroad engine.

The blaze had gained considerable headway before discovered. The working force at the mill at the time were engaged in work about five miles in the woods and no one was on the immediate scene with the exception of the camp chef.

The fire companies of Curwensville and Grampian were on the job in a short time after the blaze was reported, and for four hours the Curwensville engine pumped water on the burning lumber. The Patton firemen remained on the job all night.

FISHING LICENSE UNDER DISCUSSION

Secretary Buller Hears From Sportsmen Regarding Present Card System.

The department of fisheries is seeking a way in which to simplify the license button and certificate which goes with it. The department realizes that the present certificate, printed on a light weight grade of paper, and usually carried in a shirt or in the trousers, is not practical, for it is generally worn out or water soaked before the end of the season, and so makes the owner unwittingly a breaker of the law, because if called upon he might have a difficult time proving his identity, or in some cases even the possession of the necessary registration card. The button is all right, fishermen say, but they have great difficulty with the certificate. With the hunters the difficulty is largely obivated by the fact that they carry their certificates which are larger than those of the fishermen in water proof coats for the most of the time, and in all events seldom submit themselves to such soakings as the average fly or plug fisherman is treated to every time he goes out. Representatives of the Pennsylvania Fish and Game Conservation Association have called the attention of Commissioner N. R. Buller [illegible] the matter from other parts of the state and while realizing that something ought to be done, have not yet decided just what to do. There are many problems in the way. One suggestion is that the certificate be made to slip in behind the button in a small receptacle made for it. It is likely that suggestions will be asked shortly of fishermen from all parts of the state, but no change is possible for 1926, because the tags already have been ordered. Another matter now occupying the attention of the department is the new fish law which becomes effective January 1, next, at which time all special devices will be ruled out, it is believed, for all time.

AUTOMOBILE BLANKS ARE BEING SENT OUT

Applicants for Motor Vehicle Licenses Do Not Need Notarial Services.

On Monday of this week the Bureau of Motor Vehicles at Harrisburg began the mailing of automobile license blanks for renewal of motor vehicle registrations in Pennsylvania.

It is only necessary for the car owner to sign his name to these cards, atach remittances and return to Harrisburg. No notarial acknowledgement is necessary.

Mailing of application cards begins with the car having title No. 1—not license number. Within four weeks all application cards will be in the mail.

There is a provison in the law which requires that persons who change their address shall notify the Bureau of Motor Vehicles so their card records at Harrisburg can be corrected. Very few persons do this. As a result, the Automobile Division for the next few weeks will receive many thousands of application cards returned, because the post office authorities cannot find the person for whom they are intended.

Owners who have changed their address since the beginning of the present year should notify the Bureau of Motor Vehicles immediately.

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles will begin the shipment of 1926 plates as soon as applications are received. There will be no danger of a "jam" at the last minute, if car owners return their cards within a reasonable length of time. Three months remain in which car owners may return their applications. Thousands of operators, of course, will wait until the last minute, but if they are without tags on January 1st next, it will be their own fault. There will be no extension of time for 1925 tags.

TAX COLLECTORS CAN CAUSE ARREST

Women Are Not Exempted by the Law, Declares Judge Evans, in Decision.

Borough and township tax collectors, as such, and also as collectors of school district taxes, have the right to make levy and distress upon the goods of a delinquent taxable, make sale of the goods, and if the taxes and costs are not satisfied, may imprison the delinquent. If there are no goods or chattels upon which to levy, the taxable may be conveyed to jail by the collector for failure to pay. President Judge John E. Evans, in a decision handed down Monday thus defined the powers of township and borough collectors, whether elected or appointed, under the provisions of the act of 1834, and then applied the act of 1925, which removes the exemption of women from arrest and imprisonment for non-payment of taxes, so that the conclusion is that collectors may arrest female delinquents as well as the males.

The question whether or not women are immune from arrest was at the bottom of the case heard. Jacob Huber, tax collector for Elder township, arrested Philomena Weakland for refusing to pay taxes. She paid the county tax and she denied the authority of the constable to arrest her. The decision, of course, does not go into the question of taxation. It is of interest though in that it finds the borough and township collectors are also school tax collectors, concerning which there has been much argument in many places in the state, especially where the collector's job is a highly lucrative one. The principal point made clear is that the tax collector can imprison both men and women for failure or refusal to pay taxes.
