GRANGE MEETS AT MUNSTER ON SATURDAY LAST

And Allege That Public Officials Are Not Giving Service Expected of Them.

SEVERAL GOOD SPEAKERS.

Indirect extravagance was charged against the court house administration by Cambria County's grangers, in session Saturday at the Munster Grange hall, Munster. It was generally agreed that the state, and nation, are extracting funds from the public coffers for unnecessary expenditure.

In bringing the accusation Cambria County Panama Grange places the responsibility on public officials who are not giving the service that is to be expected of them. The county and state organizations are over staffed, it claims, to messy clerks, assistants and life office holders causing the dissension. Such a condition would not exist, the cost of running the government would be lessened considerably, they agreed, if the men in office were not lax in their devotion to duty and were to do the work for which they are paying others.

The discussion was opened by Chas. B. Plumer, of the Lovett grange. J. O. Thomas and Anselm B. Kirach also were conspicuous debaters. Mr. Thomas' remedial suggestion was that the taxpayers secure public officials with a sense of duty. He said that children and young men and ladies should be trained to recognize responsibility and obligation to duty. Better training in this regard, he said, would lead to better government and greater economy in its administration.

At the morning session J. B. Staff of Raphinon, district deputy, presided, and in the afternoon Master Edward Jones, of Wilmore, was in charge. The routine business of the organization took up the greater part of the morning business of the organization.

Mrs. Mary Angus, of Empire Grange, spoke on "Household methods of Fifty Years Ago and Today." She enumerated the advantages of living in the present day and spoke largely upon the effect of electrification on the farm.

It was announced that seven granges had signified their intention of competing for grange prizes at the Cambria County Fair at Ebensburg next fall. A committee was appointed to confer with officials of the fair association in the matter of securing a building on the fair grounds permanently for agriculture.

Farm Agent H. C. McWilliams gave an interesting talk on "Results of the 1924 Ten Litter Contest." A committee appointed some time ago to investigate a source of lime supply reported that it had been in touch with a number of firms from which lime will be available in the future.

LITTLE SMATHERINGS OF WIT AND WISDOM

Busy people are never busybodies.

Genius comes to nothing if it does not hold grit.

Sleep is good, but no one cares to be caught napping.

The conviction that you can will furnish the power that can.

Many a girl who appears a kitten with men, is a cat with women.

The defect in many cups of happiness is that they spring a leak.

Many young men have their troubles—and most of them wear skirts.

What makes life worth living is that the unexpected sometimes happens.

Money is the root of all evil and the lack of it the cause of all worry.

The men who like the income tax are those who make an income by the collection of it.

It's no good suffering in silence if you are going to talk a lot about it afterwards.

A man is always willing to listen to words of wisdom—provided he is speaking them himself.

An old belief was that a babe born on Easter morning was likely to know neither want nor care.

AN UNUSUAL STORY which deals largely with the adventures of a young New Englander, an engineer, engaged in water development in the West. He comes into contact with various exciting phases of the life of the country and eventually has an opportunity to show the stuff that is in him when he is put up against the difficulties and problems of a gigantic enterprise involving the water supply of a large city. A stirring narrative by one who knows his West and has written some of its most fascinating tales.

CAMBRIA COUNTY COWS STAND HIGH

In the Tests Made for the Year by the Pennsylvania State Association.

A complete report of the year's work in cow testing done by the Central Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' association shows very clearly the high standing of Cambria County Dairy cows. Any dairyman who owns a herd of cattle that can make an average production of 300 pounds of butterfat or more has a herd of which he can feel justly proud. A report of the year's work completed the first of March shows that out of the 12 herds with an average of five cows or more Cambria county has fifty per cent that made an average of more than 300 pounds of butter fat. The herd of Mrs. C. M. Schwab, managed by C. W. Grey, of Loretta, heads the list with an average of 15.83 cows and an average of 445 pounds of butterfat per cow; Webster Griffith, of Ebensburg, with an average of 21.25 cows, is second, with an average of 397 pounds of fat; D. W. Morrow of Tyrone, is third with an average of 391 pounds of fat; A. J. Yalmer, of Patton, is fourth, with an average of 375 pounds; J. W. Burket, of Tyrone, is fifth, with an average of 351 pounds; Phillips Neff, of Alexandria, Huntingdon county, is sixth, with an average of 323 pounds; Mrs. Matilda Karheim, of Patton, is seventh, with an average of 319 pounds; A. A. Feighner, of Carrolltown, is eighth, with an average of 315 pounds; W. J. Hoover of Patton, is ninth, with an average of 312 pounds; S. B. Wasson, of State College, is tenth, with an average of 307 pounds; P. J. Cox, of Warriors Mark, is eleventh, with an average of 306 pounds and J. E. Handman, of Tyrone, is twelfth, with an average of 302 pounds.

In the three herds with an average of less than five cows per herd producing more than 300 pounds of butter fat per cow, Cambria county took all three places. The herd of J. C. Cosgrove, of Southmont, has the high average of 578 pounds; H. M. Gooderham and Sons, of Patton, are second, with an average of 360 pounds, and Benjamin Kibler of Hastings, is third with an average of 328 pounds of butter fat.

The February report of the association showed that "Catie," a four year old Holstein in the herd of Mrs. L. L. Hoover, of Patton, was high cow with 69.9 pounds of butter fat. H. M. Gooderham & Sons cow, "Piney" was second with 67.6 pounds of butter fat, and Webster Griffith's cow, "Goldie" of Ebensburg, was third with 57.3 pounds.

Any dairymen who wish to join the association should communicate with County Farm Agent H. C. McWilliams of Ebensburg. The first five herds named can begin with April's testing and will be given preference in the testing work.
