

LESS LICENSES IN COUNTY TAKEN OUT WITH GAME PLENTY

Although there was the usual last minute rush for hunter's licenses in the county the days before the opening of the season on Tuesday, the list will fall far below that of last year, according to reports from the county treasurer's office. However the wood lands were well filled with hunters this week, and fairly good success is being reported, despite the dry weather.

With squirrels reported traveling in numbers, mainly seeking nuts for winter storage, wild rabbits ranging the fields at night, and birds of all kinds feeding upon seeds of weeds and wild grass, this year's hunting season promises to be one of the best in many years. Not for a decade have rabbits been so plentiful as the report of those who have been in the woods and observed the wild life. Grouse are not so plentiful but will be above the average. Quail and ring-neck pheasants have done well.

While wild turkey hunting is confined virtually to one district in Cambria County, reports from other counties are to the effect that the increasing number of hunters for this grand bird each year decimates the normal population of the species. The automobile has opened up former distant fields where the turkey made "their last stand," and after the first few days of hunting, veterans say, it is only the wise old timer who can get a shot. Only one wild turkey in one season may be legally shot in this State.

Bag limits on other game are outstanding. The season for deer hunting opens on Thursday, Nov. 3, and will close on Nov. 15. The season for bear hunting opens on Nov. 16 and will close on Dec. 15. The season for squirrel hunting opens on Nov. 1 and will close on Nov. 30. The season for rabbit hunting opens on Nov. 1 and will close on Nov. 30. The season for pheasant hunting opens on Nov. 1 and will close on Nov. 30. The season for quail hunting opens on Nov. 1 and will close on Nov. 30. The season for grouse hunting opens on Nov. 1 and will close on Nov. 30.

Drug Store
Don't fail to attend our BIG SALE
ON THURSDAY, FRIDAY, &
SATURDAY, NOV. 3, 4 & 5

WHAT A REXALL ONE CENT SALE IS:

It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration, the standing price of Kleenex Dental Cream is 50c, you buy a tube at this price, and by paying 1 cent more, or 51 cents, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high price standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at the regular price.

This sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merits of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for 1 cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, knowing the goods will please you.

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO OBTAIN SEASONABLE HOUSEHOLD ITEMS AT A BIG SAVING. COME IN AND SEE THE BARGAINS.

THE NEW ERA IN TELEPHONE COMMUNICATION

TODAY, you can talk across the Atlantic Ocean from your Bell Telephone in your home or office.

Your voice travels over wires to the coast, and then leaps out over the sea.

The voice from Europe jumps back over the Atlantic and comes to your telephone.

This development is indicative of the tremendous things which have been happening to your telephone service in recent years.

Other things, while not so spectacular, are of perhaps greater benefit to you in your every-day use of the telephone.

You are connected to nearby cities today while you wait on the line—just as on local calls.

Your calls to more distant points are handled with a speed which a few years ago would have been considered visionary.

We're living in a new era in telephone communication.

SOME PRECAUTIONS IN RETAINING HEALTH

"Even in these days of 'big money' one billion and a half dollars is an immense amount. And when this item is placed opposite the entry 'Annual sick bill of the United States' one is forced seriously to reflect upon the conditions that cause such an appalling loss," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today.

"If the suffering, inconvenience and worry incident upon the diseases which make this outlay necessary are also considered, it is not difficult to appreciate that much more must be accomplished before complacency has any logical place in our attitude on the question of public health.

"If it were possible for public health officials to legislate, argue, and supervise, the preventable illness of forty-two million employees whose annual loss of 350 million hours of working time follow their condition, the huge penalty that America is now paying for indifference and carelessness would be appreciably reduced. But this plainly cannot be done.

"The thing that the average citizen frequently neglects to consider is that public health results are after all the sum total of personal health habits; and that a definite obligation is imposed upon each individual to protect his own health.

"Health is the natural state; disease is an imposition upon nature. Yet many thousands of people have become so accustomed to minor afflictions as to take them as a matter of course, and what is worse, take no particular steps to prevent them.

"For example, coughs or the onset of colds, if he coughing, nose-blowing season will soon start in earnest, simply because people are not striving to remove or avoid the conditions that lead to colds.

"Most of us would strenuously object to a man reaching into our pockets and taking out money. But many people do not object to colds taking them. Just remember, when a cold is in possession it can do many more serious things than compelling one to use an excess amount of handkerchiefs. Therefore take care against "taking colds."

"An excellent place to start to cut Pennsylvania's share of the huge money-outlay, economic loss and suffering due to preventable illness is with colds. Here are a few simple anti-cold rules:

1. When over-heated, don't cool off by sitting in a draft.
2. Be clad according to the temperature rather than the season.
3. Avoid contact with those having colds.
4. Even in cold weather, get

"Electric Power!!-- A Consumer-Owned Industry"

SAYS HALEY FISKE

President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

"There can be no doubt that light and power distribution is a most important element in our life, in the community, in the neighborhood, in the household. The ownership of the electric light and power companies is now in the hands of more than 2,000,000 direct investors in public utility stocks, and indirectly, in the hands of millions more of bank depositors and holders of life insurance policies through their ownership of public utility bonds. This is the people's ownership under public regulation."

Since Mr. Fiske's statement was made, the number of investors in electric power companies has grown to over three million. It is estimated that during 1926 nearly four hundred thousand customers bought over three million shares in the electric power companies serving them. All told, over thirteen and a half million shares of stock have been purchased by the customers of these companies. These owners are found in every walk of life. Two companies alone report nearly fourteen thousand customer stockholders representing 269 separate occupations.

The movement toward customer ownership of industry finds its latest expression in the electric power companies because of the high sense of responsibility developed by these companies in their dealings with the public. Operated under the American principle of individual initiative and directed by a personnel of tested integrity and public mindedness, these companies have so definitely identified themselves with the interest of the public, that the structure of America's prosperity and progress rests to a large degree upon their service. America's unequalled level of comfort and prosperity, made possible through cheap, abundant power, developed under the American principle of individual initiative, is the best of all reasons why that principle should be preserved and perpetuated.
