GALLITZIN ANGLERS ARE SENT TO JAIL

Flagrant Violations of Fishing Code is Uncovered By the Sportsmen.

Three residents of the Gallitzin district are in the Blair county jail for violations of the fish code, as the result of activities of the Gallitzin Association of Sportsmen. Howard Stadel of Gallitzin was sentenced to serve 25 days in default of payment of a fine of $250 and costs for possession of 25 trout under the legal size limit of six inches; James Fuller of Tunnelhill was sentenced to 130 days for catching 13 "short" trout and Mike Cheslock also of Tunnelhill received a sentence of 120 days for catching 13 "short" trout. Up until this time the men are still in jail, but efforts are being made to raise the amount of their fines.

Flagrant violation of the fishing laws had been noted by the Gallitzin sportsmen and suspicion fastened upon at least one of the trio now in jail. A watch was kept. Friday of last week the three men arrested were seen catching grasshoppers and later their departure in Stadel's automobile was noted. Word was telephoned special fish warden R. A. Miller of Wilmore and Mr. Miller met the sportsmen near Gallitzin and was escorted to the point where the automobile had been parked. Some time later the three men came to the car. Stadel's rifle had no fishing tackle of any kind. However this fact did not deter Warden Miller from searching him and in the trunk of the car a fishing shirt were found the 25 illegal trout.

Stadel confessed. He said the other men caught the fish and passed them to him, the angle retaining only the fish of legal size—and they had a nice catch, too, many of the 26 legal fish running 10 inches or more in length.

The fishing was done on Blair creek. Warden Miller took the three men to the Gallitzin lock-up and got in touch with Cambria County Game protector Elmer B. Thompson, who ascertained that the offenses had been committed in Blair county. The prisoners were taken to the office of Justice of the Peace at Hollidaysburg, where Cheslock stood a hearing, being convicted on the testimony of Stadel and Fuller.

Gallitzin Sportsmen were greatly stirred over the incident and threatened severe penalties for any further violations. They applied to the State Fish Commission for four deputy wardens for the district. These wardens will be appointed at once, it is understood.

PLEADERS GIVEN SALTY SENTENCES

Convicted Constable of Upper Yoder Withdraws Motion for New Trial.

Charles Robertson, Constable for Upper Yoder township, who was convicted at the June term of Criminal Court on a charge of extortion in the taking of illegal fees and costs in the prosecution of two common law charges, mostly liquor laws, Monday morning withdrew his motion for a new trial and submitted himself for sentence. Robertson has been in jail since he was convicted in default of $5,000 bail and was again remanded to jail to await the passing of formal sentence. Robertson is probably that he would be given full credit for the time he has spent in jail when sentence was passed.

Alderman Eph Wirick and Constable Ambrose Berkebile, both of the Seventeenth Ward, Johnstown, were also convicted on charges similar to those made against Robertson and they have pending motions for new trials which likely will be argued the first week in August. It is probable that no final disposition of any of the cases will be made until that time. Wirick and Berkebile have been released on the $5,000 bond, and the latter $5,000.

P. N. Singleton, of Watkins, near Spangler, pleaded guilty in court Monday afternoon to a charge of driving an automobile and was sentenced to pay the costs and to serve not less than two months in the Westmore county jail.

Thomas Kneely of Altoport, this county, pleaded guilty to fraudulently entering a written instrument and was sentenced to pay the costs, make restitution and to serve not less than three months nor more than one year in the Cambria County jail.

GUY LOMBARDO AT SUNSET ON FOURTH

Royal Canadian Orchestra Here As Part of Very Limited Tour Itinerary.

That musical talent is hereditary is proved by the unusual case of three brothers, marvelously talented, who are playing in an orchestra, which comes to Sunset Park Auditorium on the evening of the Fourth of July. These three musicians are Guy Lombardo, director of the Royal Canadian Orchestra, and his two brothers, Carmen and Leiber, and his Royal Canadian Orchestra is making a very limited tour this season in response to thousands of requests received from Station WTAM, Cleveland, and the conclusion of their present travels they will return to the Blossom Health Inn, Cleveland, where they have been the reigning favorites for several years.

Guy Lombardo, eldest of the brothers, is the violinist-director of the Royal Canadian Orchestra. He is an ingenious originator of music fashions and a clever show man in presenting the novelities which dance audiences like. In recent months, he has made rapid strides toward the top rank of orchestra directors, which is occupied by such famous figures as Whiteman, Lopez, Coon and Sanders. While each of these has his following, new talent fired with youthful enthusiasm is finding new admirers, and it is only a question of time until Guy Lombardo will attain the national popularity his merit deserves.

The next of the remarkable Lombardos is Carmen, first saxophonist and leader of the orchestra. He is a two counts. First, as a clever saxophonist and second as a brilliant song writer. His latest composition, "Lone in Spain," is a real hit. Leiber, the youngest of the brothers, is the sparkling cornetist of the orchestra.
