

Solid Gold Bath Fittings in Mansion

as "The Willows," but neighbors prefer to call it "The House of the Ara-

It is the residence of Sir Dhunjibhoy Bomanji, wealthy Bombay mer-

Sir Dhunjibhoy, in addition to being a connoisseur of solid gold and marble, is also a sportsman. He has a large stable of horses on his grounds, and to the rear of his gardens a miniature race track has been

With so magnificent a home, enteraining is second nature to the Bombay potentate and Lady Bomanji. Their guestrooms are almost always occupied, and Sir Dhunjibhoy has given several large functions which residence here.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

You need not fear the male mosquito for he is quite harmless. He does not bite, neither does he sing, He lives entirely on vegetable matter. He posesses no ears but has a radio all his own in his feathery antennae which picks up sound waves and enables him to thus

(©. 1928, Western Newspaper Union.)

enjoy the singing of his female

Ezra Meeker, grand old man of the Northwest, as he appeared beside his motor prairie schooner, given him by the Ford Motor company, in which he

SMILES AND LAUGHTER

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK Dean of Men, University of

SHE was a very handsome woman 1 had to admit to myself as I caught a hasty impression of her sitting composedly in her section as I came into the car. I am influenced very strongly by first impressions, I am almost ed to admit, and there was an air of refinement about this woman which was very convincing. Her gown was in excellent taste-m servative, and carefully tailored. Her hair was beautifully kept and her hands well manicured. I got all this in a quick impression as I went to my seat in the middle of the car. She seemed a person one might like.

It was when she laughed that the an electric light when the switch is turned off. It was a coarse, raucus, vulgar laugh that pierced to the remotest corners of the car. Women turned in their seats to see what had to discover whence came the jangling nerve-racking sound. It was an illiterate, untrained, undisciplined voice ful art of modiste and hairdresser states. Indians know it as the harvest time when they catch fat fish and pre-

Johnny Kuck, giant Pacific coast star, won the first victory for the United States in the Olympic games

when he was declared the winner in anything with it. She was just comon, that was all. Those who first met Keene, even the would take a surgical operation to do

HMM! STYLISH FOOD!

DOGS HAVE CHANGED

SINCE MY DAY

OH, HE DON'T EAT

WHAT I FEED HIM!

BONES, SCRAPS

OF HORSES HOOF

TO FROM

SHOP=

THE

HE EATS OL'

most charitable in expressing their opinions, were wont to say that he had a very plain face. It was current opinion that he was the ugliest man in town. He had rugged irregular features, a large nose, and a wide cut mouth. His was a very serious. vision of her loveliness faded out like almost a dull face when it was in repose. But when he smiled you would have received an altogether different impression of him. It was a smile that changed and radiated bis whole countenance. It was the genhappened. Men craned their necks tlest, friendliest, kindest, smile I have ever seen on a man's face. Before he spoke you could divine that his voice was soft and well modulated. which spoke volumes. The most skill- You knew without being told that you and manicurist could not efface the man you would go to if you were in impression of that loud laugh. It trouble, knowing full well that you

Indians Spear Salmon

waterfall. There is a lightning quick strike and the struggling silver beauty.

would find sympathy and understand- | towers of Windsor castle, one of the ing. Dogs wagged their tails when he came near them; children were never afraid of him as they were often of the more comely faced. I could never explain this excepting that his smile suggested gentleness, and his quiet gentleness won human beings and animals as well.

DEAD SPARROWS,

SCRAPS OF STUFF AT

STICK T' TIN CANS, RUBBERS, ALL KINDS

OF GARBAGE AND

ANY OTHER DOGS

DINNER

So far as I know, man is the only animal that expresses emotion or a state of mind by smiles or laughter. The hyena laughs we are told and the loon, but there is no more real than there is music in the bray of a donkey. Words, some one has said were given us by the gods to conceal our thoughts, but smiles and laugh ter are the most definite and sincere revelation of our true character and state of mind. The villain may smile could trust him. He was the sort of but his smile only tends to reveal his

On shore squaws and young folks from the tribes split the salmon, hanging the meat over lines or slender so fish in narthwest streams, being

Think So?

Scientists, thinks a philosopher

writing in the American Magazine

may lose the kernel of life in studying its changing shells and homes.

chant. It stands within sight of the omes of the king and queen of England, but it is said to be furnished more elaborately than even the royal

Every bedroom in Sir Dhunjibhoy's home is fitted with a marble wash basin, and every hydrant, bracket and hatrack is made of solid gold. In Sir

Dhunjibhoy's own room the legs of

All the furniture is on a corresponding style of magnificence. The rooms are furnished according to various pe-ly of rare antiques. Sir Dhunjibhov's bedroom is finished in French style in

The house of the Indian millionaire riod, and the furniture consists entire the washstand are also or gold.

the fashion of Louis XIV.

with marble statuary and fountains. One of the marble pieces, known as "Truth," attracts particular attention. It represents a nude woman holding many British titled people attended.

Sir Dhunjibhoy Bomanji was knighted in 1922 for services rendered the British and Indian governments during the World war. He has now come to England to make his permanent

••••••••••••• Male Mosquito Has Radio

is built in Tudor style. It is sur-

Meeker Back on Old Trail

will follow the old Oregon trail across the Northwest. Meeker crossed this trail as a youth in the ox-drawn covered wagons of the gold rush in '49.

serve the fillets for winter. poles to sun dry. Before the fish sea safely speared, is drawn to land to be Hour after hour Indian fishermen unjavelined and the spear is ready for son is passed northwest Indians will another victim. -from ten to twelve tribes-sit on have filled many willow baskets with the stone masonry of the Sunnyside The best salmon spears are fitted dried fish stears, insuring them against trrigation dam, near here, spears with barbed hooks and the fish is hunger at winter's coming. Only Indians from reservations may Toppenish, Wash .- It is salmon time | wait. Onlookers see the flashing back | rivers of the Northwest.

poised, ready to lunge at large leapgaffed, rather than speared. The hook comes off the end of the shaft and sunning up the Yakima river to spawn dangles on a cord tied to the pole. permitted by freaty to do so. Tense, immovable as statues, they This, the Indians point out, prevents breakage of the shaft when a thirty r forty pound fish is taken. Kuck Grabs First Victory in the big rivers of the northwest of the salmon leaping up the smooth

Sometimes a lozen big salmon will e hooked by one Indian in a day. At ther times days pass without a catch. But the redmen never complain about uck. They poise over the shintmering, fish do come within range.

This primitive life is re-enacted at score of rapids and dams in other

Bears 200-Word Will

Tattooed on His Back London.-A 200-word will beueathing large sums of money to several persons has been tatooed on the back of a man who walked into a tattooing estab-lishment in Waterloo road.

He had the will written cat on a piece of paper, and asked that it should be transferred to his back. He sat for five hours while the work was done and the will was duly witnessel. "He was a Colonial, and bout thirty years of age," (reorge Burchett, the tattooist, said aft-

"This is the first will I have ever tattooed during a ling experience, and it was &ifficult, tricky work."

Whooping It Up

London.-The price of wives is ad | cannot see that she was of any servancing. Within the last few weeks London divorce courts have awarded damages to husbands against corespondents to the tune of $10,000 and $15,000, and lastly, a few days ago husband was awarded $50,000. The $30,000 went to George Edgar ngman, an estate agent and surveyor of Worrester, who obtained a divorce from h's wife, daughter of a wealthy man, ra the ground of misconduct with Captain Neel Pearson, formerly of The Birches, Hagley, near Birmingham. Mr. Ingman announced in advance that he would not retain the award, but would use it as a fund for his daughter by the erring wife. A similar declaration was made by the humand who received the award of n 1905 Demetrius Sophocles Constantinidi received an award of $125. off against a Doctor Lance in an English court. The $50,000 received Mr. Ingman equaled any record nade since then.

English judges have a wide latitude in addressing the jury in both civil $ad criminal cases. Suits for divorce fre combined with suits against the corespondent for loss of the wife's services, under the English procedure. it is not unusual for a judge in summing up to remark, in effect, that after hearing the evidence the jury might conclude that the husband, in stead of obtaining damages, should thank the corespondent for relieving him of a worthless wife, and the jury ordinarily reacts to the sentiments expressed by the judge because they heard the evidence when he did.

The general rule seems to be that the husband is entitled to damage, if the wife was a real helpmeet, but to refuse them if she was a nagger and a handicap instead of helpmeet. The corespondent is punished not for adultery but on the old theory that a wife is, or should be, useful around the house and in assisting her husband's work for their joint benefit. When the corespondent steals the wife he de prives the husband of her services. if any. Quite often the judge and jury ice, and then the jury awards very light damages, or none. In one case the jury awarded the husband a sixpence and in another he got a farth-If those husbands felt spiteful toward their deserting wives they had the satisfaction of knowing that the jury had publicly branded the wives as worthle

Wife Stealing Costly

Extreme feminists are chafing over the awards against corespondents because they say that the award is pased upon the fact that the wife is regarded by the law in such suits a a chattel, which is exactly true. If a men deprived another of a horse and the evidence showed that the horse was too vicious to be employed for any useful work and was an expense and a menace to the welfare of the rightful owner, the judge and jury would be inclined to disregard the real owner's valuation of the horse and award nominal damages for its toss. The comparison with a horse displeases the feminists, but only a very few of them have been heard complaining about the position in which women place themselves by breech of promise suits, and by suits on the part of childless women for

Lord Merrivale, in summing up in the Ingman case, said Mrs. Ingman daughter of wealth, had been a help ful wife, apparently, to her hard workng husband until the wealthy Cap tain Pearson came glong and she went off with him. She had said that Captain Pearson could afford to spend $30,000 to $50,000 per year giving her Hiberal allowance.

English judges and juries are equal ly vexed when the evidence makes

Alice White, whose large wardrobe in the "Show Girl," permits her the The average man use of a variety of coats, is seen in one especially smart coat which favors that he is just a litthe cape. It is a cape coat of black tie better than the satin smartly trimmed with platinum the wife of a poorer man by lavish offers of money. The juries are inclined to grant damages in such cases as punishment for the seducer, although the court solemnly warns the juries that they are to consider only the helpfulness, if any, of the wife to the husband. Satin Cape Coat

clear that a rich man has lured awas

 Convict Under Death Sentence 16 Years

Phoenix, Ariz.-William Faltin, sentenced to death sixteen years ago for the murder of his room mate, near Phoenix, has had a still further stay of a month given by the state board of pardons and paroles to permit in troduction of evidence in his behalf. He had been ordered to the gallows a number of times and was to have been hanged recently after appeal to the Supreme court had failed.

Some of the long interim since his crime has been spent in the state insane asylum, while he had a degree of reprieve during two years in which Arizona had no capital punishment. He appeared to have been forgotten after his return to the state prison from the insane asylum until lawyers, in his behalf, sought liberation on habeas corpus. Then it was discovered that the sentence of death still is in effect.

MADMAN SHOOTS DOWN TEN TOTS

Lures Them to Death in Hills as a Game.

Paris.-A modern Spanish version of the Pied Piper legend comes from a village near Tarragona where a twenty-six-year-old crazy boy lured away ten children and shot them to death among the hills. The piper himself was later tracked down and shot by gendarmes

Jose Marinat was the lunatic's ...me. Somewhere he procured a rifle and enlisted the little ones of the village in a troop that was to follow him away while he hunted pigeons.

He left the village with a halfdozen little boys and girls in tow and picked up a few others on the way. The ragged company of small adventurers with the mentally clouded Jose at their head disappeared among the low hills, laughing and leaping, all excitement and anticipation.

When they reached what was to be their camping place there were no pigeons to hunt. And in some way the crazy man's mind substituted children for birds as the game to be brought down.

From the disposition of the bodies it was plain that he killed the first child by surprise, and that the rest, attempting to flee, were hunted down one by one, and shot either while run ning or were stalked and killed while

When he had killed all the tots who had followed him into the country, Jose found his hunting impulse still unsatisfied. He left the little valley and prowled among the farms. In the courtyard of one he shot a woman at work.

A neighbor, attracted by the cries. was wounded by the last shot in the lunatic's weapon. Jose seized an ax and decapitated the wounded man.

When his mother tried to stop him he felled her with the rifle.

The sight of his mother lying pros trate struck him with a strange new terror and he threw down his gun and stumbled away in the darkness. Gendarmes took up the pursuit. It but Fails to Kick In Kansas City, Mo.-Now comes Alva Goshern, student of legerdemain and likely contender for the honors of Houdini, Thurston, Kellar and the rest who charged $2 a seat for many years to prove that the hand is quicker than the eye.

Gives Bandits Shoes,

Goshern bears the distinction of having been forced into an alley by two holdup men, robbed of his shoes. 30 cents, his trousers, and saving $41 he was carrying.

He reported to police that he saw the two men approaching near his home early in the morning and just had time to stick the $41 in bills in his shoe before the command of his shoes and trousers.

for Goshern.

As he removed the shoe doing temporary duty as a safety deposit vault he executed one of those "twists of the wrist" magicians utilize. The $41 landed in a trash heap.

Later as he trekked home in his unlaughed at.

Plazing Man Perishes Before Crowded Cafe

Bordeaux .- Inhabitants of the hamlet of Saint-Sernin were awestruck at the sight of a man in flames marching through the main street for two blocks, falling dead before the terrace of a crowded cafe. The suicide was a Spaniard named Feliciano Blas, who, after purchasing a quart of wood alcohol, drank a pint of the liquid, soaked his body in the remaining pint, and calmly ignited himself. Blas had told the mayor that he was desperate because of family troubles.

MAROONED IN RAPIDS; SAVED AFTER 17 HOURS

Man Spends Long Night in Perilous Position in the Potomac River.

Washington.-Sixteen men from the United States navy yard rescued Herbert Lugenbeel, thirty-one years old, at dawn recently from a tiny rock amid swirling Potomac river rapids near here, where he had been marooned for 17 hours.

All through the night searchlights had played on the solitary prisoner perched on a rock slab, 2 by 3 feet, utting a foot and a half above waters in which no man could survive. About midnight the navy men put out in a strong boat to one of three slands between the Maryland shore and Lugenbeel's rock; to this island they made fast a rope, which they paid out until they reached the second island. They repeated the process until they reached the third.

Then they fastened ropes to two of their number who picked their way among the rocks to Lugenbeel's side.

Fall in Water Helps.

A two-foot water drop overnight aided them in reaching Lugerbeel. who fell, weak and exhausted, into their arms from the slippery rock where he had sat cramped for 17

Struggling against the current, but aided by the ropes, they carried Lugenbeel to the nearest island and the Sat Cramped for Seventeen Hours.

Lavy boat. The rescuers than reversed their process from island to island to

By this time Lugenbeel was recovered sufficiently to smile and ask:

"When do we eat?" Lugenbeel and J. H. Angel, both noted for heroic water rescues, set A raging savage now, Jose went out in a canoe to shoot the rapids in search for the bodies of two drowned women, one of whom had been sighted wedged among rocks.

Both Cling to Rock.

Their own canoe capsized, as had that of the two women. Each managed to reach a rock and cling to it. Angel's position was 200 fer from was two days before he was run to Lugenbeel's and even more He was rescued by a special fire department squad equipped with a rope gun, which made its way by fastening to successive rocks and finally took him off in breeche: buoy fashion. Angel was bruised while being

The bodies of both women were recovered downstream.

It is believed the struggle to. save the two men had dislodged the body that had been held by rocks in the rapids.

Fireman Has Thrilling

Ride Atop Locomotive Plainfield, N. J .- While two proken driving rods were tearing up to roadbed, a fireman of a Baltimore & Ohio locomotive climbed to the top of the "hands up" was heard. He was forced engine and released the exhaust valves into an alley and ordered to take off to prevent an explosion in case the careening locomotive left the rails. Now for an ordinary man this The westbound express was traveling would have spelled disaster, but not | more than 40 miles an hour when the rods snapped near the Plainfield sta-

Engineer Mark S. Goodright applied the air brakes, but they did not function, he said later. A bushing flung from the engine struck the upright of a small passenger shelter and caused mentionables, tightly clutching the it to collapse. Edgar Smith of Plainmoney, he reaffirmed faith in the old axiom that he who laughs gets was unhurt. Arthur Bien, fireman, climbed to the top of the locomotive and clung there amid clouds of steam while he emptied the boilers through the valves. Half a mile from where the rods broke the train stopped. It was then that passengers first learned what had happened.

Small Baby's Cries

Frighten Away Burglar Longview, Texas.-Mrs. F. A. Falconer's boy baby acted as night watchman when a burglar entered the Falconer home during the night. The baby cried frantically, awakening his mother. The mother's screams fright ened away the intruder.

A BO WHO CA REST

00000000000 cupied three years Patten had gone a expect to find his the room, it might time, and that w this juncture, for every penny she her young son Jo all that expensive ture at the Critter Mrs. Bassett w and tired looking, mitted feeling fati with all that she seven boarders an Wood to help her she could not sto her head or her he keep going, for ex must keep smiling stay long with a lady. Now, however, she instantly adj was a mere shado might mean, and somebody with a cup or dusting o upon her with his to smile just the knew, except that A young woman her, quite a young blue dress and cap mer collar and a suitcase, presumab feet. Her face was Mrs. Bassett thou it was the sweetes "I saw the card she said. "'Room it, please.' thought: "Probably pay so much, but t The young woman please. And may She didn't seem price at all. In fa to mind anything e so extremely glad At dinner she and down and smi

"It is very ni

her place quietly. were all there exce didn't appear until

"I'm sorry, Mrs. his charming way. whole dime that h for in order to m ance, and we all h Mr. Thayer sat Wells and spoke to looking couple they was fond of Mr. Th with her for two ye he was just what honest and direct one of those hea fellows whose chan out of temptation a leads them to succ It was Miss Wil Miss Willows alway everybody. She pri half hour's acqua were evaded so found herself in the person swimming in her nature to give taken or left as th had nothing to say was there and that about it. Where s where she was goi body could know. afford to occupy M room was perhaps tery of all for she her time except re eat and sleep. Ea fairer to behold an Thayer looked at love and admiration

Mrs. Bassett thoug

out getting anywher

Two weeks had day Miss Willows f had been looking fo going out with a she dropped the let Willows, who was snatched it up and quished it she had "Mr. Felix Marvel, number and town, lion miles away. So an admirer! Well, land Thaver, and sh good woman's mind perplexity. "I am sure," Mi "that Jane Wells is that she isn't wha be. I am sure she why doesn't she get body else in this he cept Jane Wells. W had an answer to h "Oh, dear, Miss believe any wrong sett sighed. And th to say more lest s boarder. After all,

Indeed, she went