Double Wedding Takes Place in Local Church

The Misses Carrie and Florine Riner Become Brides at Thanksgiving Morning Ceremony.

A large number of local and out-of-town people attended the marriage ceremony of the Misses Carrie and Florine Riner, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Riner of this place, who were wed in St. Mary's church on Thanksgiving Day. Miss Carrie Riner became the bride of Clarence Allbright, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Allbright, of Second avenue. Miss Riner wore a becoming gown of faun-colored georgette, with beautiful harmonizing accessories, a small hat embroidered in gold thread, and carried a bouquet of huge golden chrysanthemums. Miss Florine Riner was wed to Ralph Dunegan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dunegan of this place. A charming frock of brown georgette, combined pleated lace of the same color, harmonizing accessories, a becoming hand-painted hat, and an arm bouquet of chrysanthemums completed the bridal ensemble of Miss Florine Riner.

The Reverend Father Henry O. S. B., pastor of the church, performed the marriage ceremonies and officiated at the nuptial mass which followed.

Prof. E. W. Overberger sang "I Love You Truly," and "Ave Maria." Mrs. J. Mac Shannon's organ numbers included Wagner's "Wedding March" from Lohengrin for the bridal procession and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional.

Following a wedding breakfast at the home of the brides' parents the couples left for the Middle West and Canada. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Allbright will occupy their newly furnished home on Fourth avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Dunegan will reside in Carrolltown for the winter. Mrs. Dunegan will resume her work as teacher in the Bakerton Public Schools.

Maharajah's Strange Wedding to American Like Exotic Story, 'Fazil'

By one of those curious coincidences which do actually happen in spite of all the press agents can do to encourage them, Fox Films has just completed a picture called "Fazil" which will be shown at the Grand Theatre on Monday and Tuesday of next week, with a story worthy of consideration in view of the marriage of Miss Nancy Miller, erstwhile Christian and American, with the Hindu potentate, the former Maharajah of Indore.

It is one of the unique instances of the mating of East and West, with an important position involved on the side of the husband. A similar situation is developed in the Fox picture which can bear inspection as to its similarity to the case of Miss Miller, who converted to Hinduism.

"Fazil" featuring Charles Farrell and Greta Nissen, under the direction of Howard Hawks, was adapted from a French play, "L'Inconnue," by Pierre Frondaie. Its central figures are Prince Fazil, a wealthy young tribal ruler of Arabia and Fabienne, a pretty and unconventional girl of the smart world of Paris.

He represents all the pride of power of desert chieftains, entrenched in tradition and fiercely possessive of their women. She is typical of the girl of today who wishes freedom in all things—in her choice of a husband, as well as of her male friends before and after marriage.

They meet by chance in Venice, in history the meeting place of East and West. Under the glamorous spell of that magic city, the young prince heretofore indifferent to women, is awakened to Fabienne's beauty and romantically sweeps her off her feet. They marry, live happily for a while in Paris, and then—in comes the parting wedge of European civilization. He objects when she renews acquaintance with one of her former suitors. It then comes to quite a problem, that you can only solve by seeing the picture.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN FILES STATEMENT

Republican County Committee Spent 10,134 for the General Election in November.

The chairman of the Republican county committee has filed in the office of the Clerk of Courts a statement of his receipts and expenditures for the presidential election on November 6th, wherein he sets forth receipts of $10,330, and expenditures of $10,134, leaving a balance in the treasury of $196.46.

The great bulk of this money was spent for watchers at polling places and for the transportation of voters to and from the polls, and also included advertising expenses. The sum of $5,000 was received from the Pennsylvania State Republican Committee, $2,000 from J. E. Graham, Pennsylvania member Republican Congressional Committee; $1,000 from J. Russell Leech, successful candidate for congress in this district; $500 each from Jay R. Sheesley and Walter W. Krebs; $200 each from Edmund James, John R. Musser, H. A. Englehart, Milton Spencer and George S. Flecker; $120 from Charles Troxell; $50 from S. S. Kinkead. Numerous smaller contributions were also received.

Truman's resignation followed reports of wide spread disapproval of the rule forbidding the shooting of male deer and fawns and criticism expressed in various quarters against doe hunting.

There was no explanation of the retirement of Truman, which became effective January 1st. Truman made the announcement himself to newspapermen and merely said that he was "tired of working for others." Attachments of the commission said Truman's resignation had been accepted and that he had been assured there would be nothing given for publication except what he desired to say.

Truman was first employed by the game commission in 1923 as a special investigator. Later he was appointed chief of the bureau of protection, and in June, 1926, was promoted to his present post, succeeding Seth E. Gordon.

H. A. WITHEROM INSTALLS A MODERN BATTERY CHARGER

Mr. H. A. Witherom, proprietor of the Magee avenue blacksmith shop, announces that he has just installed a new HB Constant Potential Outfit which charges automotive and radio batteries in one-third the time heretofore required. Constant Potential is not new, having been used for years in charging railway car lighting batteries. By this method each battery draws in just what current it needs and each battery is absolutely independent of every other battery on the line.

Mr. Witherom says he has thoroughly investigated this modern equipment before purchasing his outfit and found that it is recommended by the leading car and battery manufacturers and approved by the U. S. Bureau of Standards. More than 17,000 other shops are using it with excellent results and it's only a matter of time until it replaces former methods entirely.

SNOW FENCE IN PLACE.

The last of the snow fence to protect exposed sections of road from snow drifts has been put in place by the state highway department forces. During the past year the department purchased about 500,000 feet of fence. Each year there is approximately 450 miles of snow fence erected along the highways of Pennsylvania.

HAS BROKEN LEG.

George D. Silek, of Portage, was injured on Sunday afternoon after being sent into a football game between the Portage Bull Dogs and the Florida Hill Olympics, played on the Moose Athletic Field at Portage, as a substitute. Silek, aged 22, suffered a fracture of the leg and was taken to the Memorial hospital at Johnstown.

S. D. KILLINGER.

Samuel David Killinger, aged sixty-one years, who was operated on recently at the West Penn Hospital in Pittsburgh, died at that institution on Saturday evening. Mr. Killinger was a miner for a number of years.

HEAD OF STATE'S GAME COMMISSION QUILTS POST

Action Is Said to Have Been Caused by Ruling Which Permitted Hunting of the Does.

The resignation of John B. Truman, executive secretary of the state game commission, was announced Monday as the latest development in the situation arising from placing into effect the commissioner's order legalizing the killing of antlerless deer.

Truman's resignation followed reports of wide spread disapproval of the rule forbidding the shooting of male deer and fawns and criticism expressed in various quarters against doe hunting.

There was no explanation of the retirement of Truman, which became effective January 1st. Truman made the announcement himself to newspapermen and merely said that he was "tired of working for others." D. K. Rishel elsewhere in this issue, and also through the medium of large sale posters, announces that he has decided to retire from the retail jewelry business in Patton, and will conduct a sale of his stock beginning on Friday, this week. Mr. Rishel has been in the business locally for the past eleven years. He has engaged the services of Edward L. Snyder, of Indiana, Pa., to assist in the sale of the stock. Mr. Snyder is an experienced jeweler and also a sales promoter. Read the ad on page five.

ANOTHER NEW CITY.

The roll of cities of the third class in Pennsylvania has been increased to forty-two. Governor Fisher has approved the petition for consolidating the borough of Beaver Falls and College Hill into the city of Beaver Falls.

The newcomer in the ranks of third class cities is the only city in Beaver County. Population of the two municipalities entering into the consolidation at the last census was in excess of 15,000.

PICTURE PORTRAYS LAST MINUTE LINE AWAITING LICENSES

On the desk of Benjamin G. Eynon, registrar of motor vehicles at Harrisburg, is a picture showing a long line of men and women standing in the slush and rain of a December day.

It is not the kind of a happy, carefree crowd that awaits the opening of a theatre, baseball or football ticket office. There are plenty of women in it, respectfully waiting their turn, but it is not a bargain day crowd.

It is a section of the long line of those who each year through the offices of the registry bureau in the last days of December because they neglected to make early applications for their automobile tags.

"If I could get a copy of that picture to every automobile owner in the state, the rate of daily applications would increase 300 per cent," Eynon said.

BOY SCOUT NEWS HOT FROM COUNCIL RING

As Compiled for the Courier by the Scribe; Mentions Ways As Well As Otherwise.

The interest in Scouting in the local troop has increased a great deal during the past few weeks.

The past two meetings have been devoted to practicing, knot tying, signaling, first-aid and project making.

As has been stated before, a contest is on to see who will take the trip to Gettysburg with Mr. Fleming. Points are given to Scouts making projects, pressing leaves and making something of interest to scouting. George Somerville is leading with 1,600 points, while Bud Miller has 750. Keen rivalry is starting and soon we shall see many boys struggling for first place.

The boys have received their cards from the Camp Schaeffer Savings Fund. By buying 28 stamps a Scout pays for one week at Camp, and saves a dollar. John Bennett has already bought 28 stamps.

Personal Notes of the Scouts. Herby Kusner and Fred Blankenhorn were indulging in a heated argument on Monday evening. Witnesses of the quarrel, say that some person from Ashville instigated the fight. (All's fair in love and war.)

"Tick" Quinn, our assistant scoutmaster, who starred in Patton's movie, "Whose Baby?" states that he has not signed a contract to appear in Paramount pictures, contrary to rumors circulating.

Roy (Slum) Morgan has accepted a position with the Patton Clay Manufacturing Company. While Slum states that he will not retire from the Scouts he thinks his success is attributed to his membership in the Scouts. The Clay Works management will surely have to step now.

Jim Cornelius likes red. Red is supposed to be a color, not a girl. "Lilac Time" found a free pass to the picture he ever witnessed.

Howard Brown, the little boy of the First Patrol, was chased by Andy Jacobs, the town cop. While passing the 5c and 10c store, Howard jumped on the scales and got a "weight."

GILES LUMADUE.

Giles Lumadue, aged 75 years, died of apoplexy at his home at Coupon on Wednesday last week.

Funeral services were held at nine o'clock on Friday morning in St. Joseph's Catholic church and interment was in the church cemetery. The deceased is survived by these children: Mrs. Thomas Gauntner, of Ashville; Mrs. Rose Luther, of Altoona; Mrs. Bessie Williams, of Wellsville, Va.; Mrs. Grace Heister, of Coupon; William, Robert and David Lumadue, all of Altoona, and John Lumadue, residing at the Buckhorn. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Anna Shoff, and Mrs. Alice E. Frank of Cassandra. A number of grand children, and one great grand child also survive.

FLINTON MINER SERIOUSLY HURT

Buried beneath a fall of rock on Wednesday of last week while at work in Rebecca No. 1, mine of the Jasahill Coal Company at Flinton, Frank Zabinski, aged 48 years, was severely injured. He was rushed to the Altoona hospital where he is in a serious condition.

Zabinski had his left leg and foot badly crushed and was also crushed about the head and pelvic region. He also received a puncture wound of the right hip and a fracture of several ribs. His spine is also injured.

Zabinski's son, Walter, was with him at the time of the rock fall, but escaped with slight bruises about the face. The son accompanied his injured father to the hospital.

A crew of miners worked for some time before succeeding in rescuing the injured from beneath the rock fall.

MRS. EMMA INGOLDSBY.

Mrs. Emma Quartz Ingoldsby, aged 78, widow of James Ingoldsby, died on Sunday morning at her home in Washington township. She had been bedfast for the past two weeks. She is survived by a number of children. The funeral services were held on Wednesday morning in St. Agnes' church at Cassandra, and interment was in the Catholic cemetery at Lilly.
