On Monday evening, May 13th, the young folks of New Rochelle, presented the operetta, "Planafore." Among the leaders of the cast were the following former Patonites: Miss Margaret Christoff was cast in the role of Josephine, the soprano part. The leading baritone role of the opera was taken by I. A. Overberger, who ably filled the role of Captain Corcoran. The part of Dick Deadeye was taken by Edward Christoff in no small way to the success of the operetta. It is gratifying to the many friends of the above to hear of their successes in their new field of endeavor. In addition to this, Miss Christoff is the soprano of St. Gabriel's church quartet. Both Mr. Christoff and Mr. Overberger have appeared publicly a number of times in duet and solo numbers. Mr. Overberger is at the present time chancellor of New Rochelle Council No. 339, K. of C. and is president of the Holy Name Society of St. Gabriel's Church. Discuss Plans For Annual Home-Coming

The Home-Coming Association of the Salem church of North Ebensburg, will hold a meeting at the home of John L. Evans of Ebensburg on Friday evening next. The meeting has been called to discuss plans and make arrangements for the annual home-coming rally to be held at the church some time in August.

Sweet Odors Always Popular

From the very earliest ages man has loved sweet odors. In the Bible we read of the burning of incense on the altars and the very word perfumery (under which head we may include all delicate fumes or smells) comes from the Latin fumus, smoke or vapor. The early Egyptians knew the use of the still, and adapted it to the separation of the odorous principle from fragrant plants, but the most ancient odors were drawn from natural gums, such as camphor, myrrh and cinnamon.

An Eye for Color

A little girl recently skinned her knee and her mother promptly applied a bright-colored antiseptic.

May-Day Customs

As far back as the Medieval period in England, Chaucer says, it was customary to go out early on the morning of the first of May, "to fetch the flowers fresh." Hawthorne's sunsets amid much merry-making. The name, The May, was given to the hawthorne, and the ceremony was called "the bringing home the May."

May-Day Customs

A relic of the Roman custom when on May day the goddess Flora was especially honored is seen in the selection of a beautiful village maid to be crowned as queen of the May.

May-Day Customs

Several days later the mother served cold meats and catsup. The little girl, seeing her father generously helping himself to meat, demanded: "Mother, I want some meat with mercurochrome on it!"

Ancients Excelled in Art of Glass Staining

The medieval artists in stained glass foiled like jewelers setting diamonds and rubies. Their ideal was not a pretty picture made transparent, but a window made beautiful. Years of experimenting with various combinations of glass taught them secrets of delecting down and stealing copper wire being the property of the C. and I. railroad company as well as the Bell system. The junk they secured was valued at $50.

Coleman Meadows, of Conemaugh, charged with defrauding a boarding-house keeper, was sentenced to pay the costs and serve two months in the county jail.

Joseph Ashcroft of Bakerton, charged with larceny and receiving stolen goods, was sentenced to pay the costs, further sentence being suspended.

Don Cressly, of Blair county, charged with larceny and receiving stolen goods, was sentenced to pay the costs and further sentence was suspended.

Tom Anderson of Barnesboro who was charged with an offense against morality, was sentenced to pay the costs with further sentence suspended.

It was in glass making that the ancients excelled. The blue of one school was so vibrant that the workers ground down sapphires to obtain their magic color. The fancy, although popular, is probably fallacious. Nevertheless, the colors of the ancients were so expertly compounded that they blended into a uniform whole in a completed window and never appeared flat or "raw."

The greens, for example, were not a straight mixture of blue and yellow, but a combination of blue and red and yellow in such proportions that they did not fuse into adjoining blues at a distance as do modern blue-and-yellow greens. The reds likewise were distinctive, as they contained alternating layers of red, and green-white gave a mellow softness to light before it reached the eye of the beholder.

Mendelssohn Hailed as Master of Philosophy

As a Jewish philosopher acting the part of a pioneer, Mendelssohn brought about the understanding of the beauty and humanism of the Bible, says a writer in the Boston Herald. He prepared a basis for the development of science and Judaism. His translation of the Pentateuch had inaugurated a new era in the education of the German Jews.

He gave to his brethren the German Bible, by which means he introduced them to the intellectual life of Germany, and thus through it once more into the civilization of the world at large. Mendelssohn has united Jewish and Hellenic life. He was the first to advocate the emancipation of the Jews. By his writings he contributed to a great degree to the removal of the brutal prejudices against the German Jews.

Mendelssohn died on January 4, 1786, and was deeply mourned, not only by his coreligionists, but also by all the learned world. His memory was celebrated as that of a "Sage like Socrates." The greatest philosophers of the day exclaimed: "There was but one Mendelssohn."
