WEEKLY HEALTH NOTES BY DR. THEO. B. APPEL

In Which He Assails Mail Order Remedies And Other Self Cure For Your Maladies.

"With a general ban against advertisements of a special character, large advertising where they are being occupied with eloquent and appealing assertions of the power of certain mail order remedies alleged to cure other maladies," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, this week.

"It is indeed quite surprising how many fairly intelligent people will be taken in by these glowing literary 'speakings,' and consequently send their hard earned money to the quacks and unethical business men who thus gull the public.

"If one is merely sufficiently literate to read an advertisement, and in addition lives in a highly remote locality, there may be some excuse for him to become the prey of these conscienceless people, but it indeed is hard to understand why thousands of men and women who pride themselves upon their intelligence and education succumb to these high powered statements.

"In the first place it is unreasonable for anyone to imagine that he can be effectively treated for disease by mail. For example, consider rheumatism. 'Rheumatism' as generally known is not always a definite disease but often a complex of symptoms due to many and varied causes of obscure origin. To conclude therefore that postage stamp pills, often containing little else of service than a laxative, will be able to cure this painful disease is a woefully misplaced trust.

"The sections in Pennsylvania that cannot be served with proper medical attention are exceedingly few, if in fact they exist at all. And in most localities physicians and even hospital and laboratory facilities are available.

"Dallying and self-treatment should not be contemplated for a moment with any disease. And that is what the use of mail order medicines really amounts to. Be examined by a reputable practitioner and follow the directions based on his diagnosis.

"Spend money foolishly on many other things if you please to do so, but discount by 100 per cent any enthusiasm that might be engendered by reading the 'come-on' of the mail order cure advertisers. Save your postage stamps and see your doctor."

MRS. ELLIE M. RUDOLPH. Mrs. Ellie M. Rudolph, aged 69, died of a complication of diseases Tuesday morning at her home in Loretto. Mrs. Rudolph was the daughter of Andrew and Martha Topper and resided in Edinburg until a few years ago. She is survived by the following children: Charles, Hutchinson, Kan.; Walter and Edward, Loretto; and Sister Mary of Nazareth of the Mercy Order, Cresson, Pa. Mrs. Rudolph is also survived by one sister, Mrs. John McNeils, of Altoona.

The funeral will be held on Friday with a mass at 9 o'clock, and interment will be in St. Michael's cemetery.

Garden Memories Three thousand years ago the Magus Zoroaster, it is said, met his own image walking in a garden; nowhere else, we must suppose, but in a garden's cloistered peace could such a meeting have been arranged. And when a man lets his thoughts drift back to the happiness, so deep and often so illusory, of his childhood's home, it is in the garden that his memories crowd the thickest, not in the house itself. The Golden age was green with the shadow of boughs and silver with the luster of dew upon the grass.—Exchange.

Name "Peony" Traced to Legend of Mythology

In the days of the Greek gods and goddesses, the peony first came to the world's attention. Leto, Apollo's mother, was the one to introduce it. Apollo was known as the god of healing and his son, Aesculapius, was the god of medicine.

It seems that a pupil of Aesculapius named Paeon was a physician of the gods, and to him Leto first gave the plant which he employed to cure Pluto of a wound received at the hands of Hercules during the Trojan war.

The fact that his pupil could surpass him in effecting such a cure made Aesculapius angry, with the result he attempted to kill Paeon, but Pluto, indebted to Paeon for his own life, rescued the physician of Mount Olympus from death, by changing him into the plant that had saved his life. Until this day that plant bears Paeon's name and is known to us as the peony.

The history of the peony in China and Japan is of a sentimental nature. Fittingly enough, the words "Sho Yo," meaning "Most Beautiful," were applied to the herbaceous peony, while the tree peony held sway as the "King of Flowers."—Kansas City Star.

Only Dame Nature Can Freshen Mind and Body

"The earth is the great reservoir of physical forces, and whilst no scientist has yet been able to discover how intimate or how perfect is the connection between the mental and the physical, there exists, no doubt, a correlation between the processes by which the body and the soul are kept healthy and vigorous by drafts on the great reserves of nature.

"One grows tired of books and cloyed with all manner of art. Then comes a hunger and a thirst for nature. Real thought gathering is like berry gathering—one must go to the wild vines for the ray-flavored fruit. Art's nature are really the antipodes of each other—one is original, the other second hand. When we go from the library or the studio to the woods or fields, we go to get back what art has robbed us of—the freshness of nature. The suggestions of nature come—out of the mysterious, invisible generator; but art merely reflects its suggestions back upon nature."—Maurice Thompson.

Near the Crater

There be two men whose ways we cannot fathom; yea, there are three we do not understand. The first of the twin is the man who has two wives at the same time. The other is the clerk or accountant who steals from his employers and covers the theft by falsifying his books. The third? He is the man who builds his house on the edge of a volcano that erupts every year or so.

All three are alike in that they know something is going to blow up under them. Peace of mind has been called the summum bonum; it is the one thing they have put out of their reach. Of the three we think the man on the volcano's marge has the most sense. After it lets go, there is a chance that he can build again somewhere else.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Effects of Malnutrition

Malnutrition is a condition of undernourishment or underweight. Children with malnutrition do not all behave the same way. Some are pale, dull and listless, with dark rings under the eyes, tire easily and have no ambition for work or play; their work in school is often so poor that they must frequently repeat their grades. Others are nervous and fretful, hard to please, and hard to manage; they eat and sleep badly. Still others are over-ambitious, constantly active, restless; they find it difficult to concentrate. Children get into a condition of malnutrition because their growth is not watched. To grow in height and gain regularly in weight is just as much a sign of health in a boy or girl of nine or ten as in a baby.

Sand Blasting Effective

For cleaning metal surfaces for one purpose or another demanded by the industries the sand blast takes the first place. In reconditioning several thousand feet of track for a Southern street railway, it was decided to resort to welding, and for this purpose the surfaces to be treated must be smooth bright and perfectly clean. It was decided to do this cleaning by sand blast and the report is that in one hour more and better work was done by one man than was possible previously in eight hours with four laborers using chisels and brushes.

Food for Argument in Matter of Doughnuts

No matter how long a man has lived, he is likely to have a few incorrect ideas that right reasoning has never been able to correct. We knew a man once who sold doughnuts of his own fabrication. He had laid up quite a little money and was doing very well. He vended a large-holed doughnut and his argument always had been that, the larger the hole, the less dough in the doughnut. He specialized, of course, on large holes and small profits.

This was all very well until, one day on his rounds, he met an argumentative man. Unfortunately, the doughnut man, in a moment of confidence, expounded to him his theory of the large hole and small profits.

The argumentative man shook his head. He spent some time at it, but he finally convinced the doughnut man that he had been working his business on a fallacy. The argumentative man proved to the doughnut vender, and by mathematics, that the smaller the hole in the doughnut, the less dough it took to go around it.

The doughnut man went home and figured over the matter so long and so intently that he was eventually bereft of his reason and had to be confined.—A. J. R. in the Minneapolis Journal.

Reached Enemy's Heart Through His Stomach

Mrs. Laura Fraser, the original Becky Thatcher of Mark Twain's stories, related shortly before her death at Hannibal, Mo., how she had once gone through an experience as thrilling as any that Twain had created for his fiction. During the Civil war Mrs. Fraser's husband was a strong southern sympathizer and as he was a doctor he defied federal authorities in treating wounded Confederate soldiers. He finally was put in prison about the time that Gen. John McNeill came to Hannibal to suppress the southern sympathy and camped in Mr. Fraser's front yard while he picked out ten prisoners of Confederate leanings to be "converted" by a firing squad. Mrs. Fraser, fearing the inclusion of her husband, invited the general to a specially prepared dinner and he was so overcome with culinary delights that he ordered Fraser's release. But he reconsidered the next day and had him re-arrested, though he spared his life.—Detroit News.

CONTROLLER'S OFFICE

Ebensburg, Pa., August 10, 1929 SEALED BIDS: Up until 10 o'clock a. m., Monday, September 2, 1929, sealed bids will be received at the office of the County Controller for the furnishing and installing of Two (2) Fire Escapes for the Cambria County Children's Home, near Ebensburg, Penna.

This proposal is to be accompanied by sketch showing type of fire escape and subject to the approval of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry, on Magee Avenue.

The right is reserved by the County Commissioners to reject any or all bids. Envelopes containing bids should be plainly marked "BID FOR FIRE ESCAPES."

HENRY L. CANNON, County Controller.

ORDINANCE NO. 172

An Ordinance of the Borough of Patton providing for the construction of a public sewer beginning at or near Swedish church on Magee Avenue, thence South one hundred and fifty feet; thence west four hundred feet; providing for the cost of the same to be collected from the property owners adjacent to the same according to the foot front rule.

Section 1. That whereas the required number of property owners have petitioned for a public sewer beginning at the Swedish church on Magee Avenue, thence south through an alley one hundred and fifty feet to an alley; thence west through an alley four hundred feet.

IT IS THEREFORE ENACTED AND ORDAINED

that a public sewer eight inches in diameter be constructed, beginning at the Swedish church on Magee avenue, thence south through an alley one hundred and fifty feet to an alley; thence west through said alley four hundred feet. That said sewer be constructed by the Borough of Patton as requested by the property owners, and that cost and expense of construction thereof be assessed and collected from the property owners adjacent to the same according to the foot front rule in accordance with Act of Assembly.

Enacted and ordained this 13th day of August, 1929.

GEORGE E. PRINDIBLE, President of Council.

Approved by the Burgess of Patton Borough, this 13th day of August, 1929.

THOS. A. McQUILLEN, Burgess of Patton Borough.

Stories of honors for heroes of the air show us that there are cockpits in seaplanes, and so the world has acquired a new meaning. Shakespeare, sneering at his own Globe theater, asked, "Can this cockpit hold the vasty fields of France?" Later, the word grew to mean a place where nations fight, so that poor Belgium has long been the cockpit of Europe, while on board ship it was a place on the lower deck peculiar to the surgeon and the purser. On the seaplane it is peculiar to the pilot or observer.
