JUDGE BARNHART MAKES RUNAWAY RACE OF IT, AND LEAVES WEIMER FAR IN REAR, WITH SMITH MIGHTY POOR THIRD; HOMER C. GEORGE, DUE HIS FINE VOTE THROUGH THE COUNTY WIPES OUT SAYLOR'S LEAD IN JOHNSTOWN AND COMES THROUGH A WINNER. REED NOMINATED FOR ORPHANS' COURT JUDGE.

On the face of unofficial returns, with all districts in, Homer C. George won the Republican nomination for Sheriff Tuesday by about 400 votes.

The battle between George and O. Webster Saylor was a hectic one, with the winner not finally determined until after noon Wednesday, so far tabulations were concerned, though it seemed evident during the forenoon that the South Fork entry would win, as the missing districts were known to be some of his strongholds.

With the same 15 districts missing, the Jury Commissioner vote shows:

Ivan McKenrick, of Ebensburg, will oppose Judge Barnhart at the election, incomplete returns show, he having apparently handily defeated William McGuire in the only major contest on the Democratic side of the house.

Charles C. Greer put up a great fight against Judge Samuel Lemmon Reed, going out of Johnston with a nice lead, but this was whittled down in the county districts.

THREE INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Highway Patrolmen Say Whisky Was Found in Altoona Car; One Victim's Skull is Fractured

Three Altoona men, occupants of a small roadster returning to Altoona by way of the Buckhorn highway, were injured last Sunday night when their machine was wrecked as the party sought to escape from a detail of the state highway patrol, it is alleged.

Anthony Bradley, aged 30, suffered a number of lacerations and is in a serious condition at the Altoona hospital. Joseph Baum and his brother Ralph escaped with minor injuries.

The three Altoona men were stopped by Capt. Alexander and Patrolman Shaffer of the state highway patrol about a mile north of the Buckhorn road last Sunday night. Their car was searched and a quantity of liquor was found in the trunk of the machine.

Joseph Baum, the driver of the machine was asked to pull to the side of the road. Alexander stepped on the running board, and as the driver started the car, he is alleged to have shoved the officer into the car and stepped on the gas, trying to make his escape.

The state patrolman jumped into another machine, held in the line for examination, and after a chase of a quarter of a mile the officers came upon the Baum machine, which was badly wrecked. The car had struck a pole, which was broken off near the ground. Bradley was unconscious when found.

Ralph Baum was given medical attention at the Altoona hospital and taken to the Ebensburg jail, where he was lodged on charges of reckless driving, operating a car without a driver's license and transporting liquor. His brother John was locked up in Altoona jail and Bradley also will be removed to jail as soon as his condition permits.

TWO GOOD TALKIES AT GRAND THEATRE

Davey Lee and Alice White in Two New Talking Pictures

RINTY IN THRILLING "FROZEN RIVER" WITH YOUNG DAVEY LEE

Reward! One hundred dollars for a wild dog known as the Killer—dead or alive!

Rin-Tin-Tin, star of Warner Bros.' latest picture, "Frozen River," coming to the Grand Theatre on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 20 and 21, enacts a killer with a price on his head in this story of the Northern snow country.

His first contact with man turns him against all human beings and he becomes an outlaw. Finally, however, he is attracted to more kindly people who befriend him, and he ardently returns their friendship. Chief among his new-found friends is little Billy, played by the four-year-old star, Davey Lee. Josef Swickard is prominently cast as a mad prospector for gold. Raymond McKee, Nina Quartero, Frank Campeau and Lew Harvey are also seen in "Frozen River," which was adapted by Anthony Coloway from a story by John J. Fowler. Harmon Weight directed.

ENTIRE REVIEW IS SEEN IN ALICE WHITE'S NEW FILM

A musical revue without a single feature was staged at First National-Viaphone studios for "Broadway Babies," the Alice White stellar vehicle which Mervyn LeRoy directed.

"Broadway Babies" is a story of theatrical life, and the revue is shown in its entirety on the screen, with singing, talking, dancing and sound effects. Miss White sings four songs during the show, and leads several dancing numbers.

The revue was staged in a real theatre, with a real audience as spectators, a chorus of fifty experienced dancing girls and a thirty-piece orchestra.

Several sets of scenery were built especially for the picture, and more than fifty costumes were made for the principals and chorus. A crew of fifteen back-stage carpenters, electricians and scene shifters was required just for the picture itself, in addition to the scores of regular motion picture electricians, cameramen and technical men.

Charles Delaney plays opposite the star, and Marion Byron and Sally Siders play two of the dancing girls. Fred Kohled, Bodil Rossing, Louis Natheaux, Maurice Black, Tom Dugan and many others are included in the big cast.

"Broadway Babies" is one of the most spectacular pictures ever made at the big First National Viaphone Studios. It will be shown at the Grand Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 23rd-24th.

FISH SURVIVE LOW WATER, BULLER SAYS

Commissioner of Fisheries N. R. Buller who returned recently from a trip covering most sections of the Commonwealth, reported that while there is extremely low water in practically all streams, to his knowledge, it has not reached a point where fish brought to an end.

The water condition at all the Board's hatcheries is very little below normal and there has been sufficient flow at all times for the protection of the fish.

The Board now is distributing large numbers of small-mouth bass which are being placed in the larger bodies of water. Many of the bass being distributed are five and six inches in length.

September and October, Buller believes, should be two of the best months for bass fishing and he hopes that sufficient rain will fall so that the waters will be lived up, thereby affording much fishing.

LACK OF RAIN IS BOON IN BUILDING ROAD

Fine August Weather Enables Contractors to Make Records

Dry weather which caused anxiety to farmers made August a record month in highway construction mileage, with a total of 105.99 miles laid by contract. Chief Engineer Samuel Eckels of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, announced yesterday. Total mileage for the year went over 300 miles during the last two days of the month.

"Contractors welcome the prolonged period of fair weather, unusual for them, depending on streams for their water supply, noted that lack of rain was slowly diminishing the streams. Only a few found the water problem serious, however, and were compelled to haul water to the operation. The longest haul reported was three miles, in Lancaster County," Eckels said.

Proper and adequate water supply Engineer Eckels declared, is one of the vital factors of road building. Unfortunately, contractors can't use water at random from any stream which happens to be in the vicinity of the job. Samples are submitted to the chemist who analyzes for various minerals, chiefly among them sulphur, which are harmful to concrete. Some of these minerals would cause a concrete highway to deteriorate and crack to ruin in a short period of time.

Mine water in particular but any water found in the coal regions is continually under suspicion, because of its high sulphur content. Particularly many fresh-water streams are found in these regions which pass the chemist's close scrutiny and these must be used by the contractor. Inspectors for the Department, who supervise each contract job, sometimes are suspicious after a stream has been approved and used for several days that surface water following heavy rain is polluting the streams. More tests are made. Chemical plants sometimes drain waste water loaded with chemicals into an otherwise pure stream, making the water unfit for concrete work.

"Contractors have more to do than merely grab a hand full of blue prints and start to pour concrete," Eckels asserted. "Pennsylvania Department of Highways methods are codified for the guidance of every contractor and regardless of conditions, the right kind of water must be used."
