SILENT PICTURES TABOOED AT GRAND

From Now On Pictures Will Be Either Synchronized or Talking.

Silent pictures are now a thing of the past, so far as the Grand Theatre is concerned. Beginning Thursday (Thanksgiving day) all productions will be either synchronized or talking. Even the majority of the short subjects will be shown in their sound versions.

Thus, Meighan appears in his first 100 per cent talkie, "The Argyle Case" on Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) and Friday, as a master detective. This well constructed drama provides many situations of peculiar strength. Thrills abound and there is constantly an element of surprise, but of course the mystery is not solved until the final fade-out. "Cohen on the Telephone" (talking) and a two reel talking comedy completes the program.

On Saturday there is another 100% talking feature, "The Drake Case." A court room melodrama with Gladys Brockwell, Robert Frazier and Forrest Stanley. Pathe sound News, silent comedy and Universal silent News.

Monday and Tuesday, Universal's romantic singing and talking triumph, "The Show Boat," running up and down the river playing drama—living tragedy! A show boat on the picturesque Mississippi! What a background for the greatest love story ever written. Edna Ferber's great novel portrayed to the screen. Give yourself the treat of your life. See it! Also a talking comedy and an Oswald sound cartoon. Owing to the length of this production only one show will be screened each evening, beginning at 8:15. Matinee on Monday at 4 p. m.

Wednesday, Ken Maynard, the favorite Western star of them all, in his first talking Western production, "The Wagon Master." It is as big as "The Covered Wagon" and all in sound and dialogue. Also "The Diamond Master" episode No. 9.

MISS PAYTON WEDS CARROLLTOWN MAN

Ceremony Is Performed in St. Mary's Church; Go to Canada for Honeymoon.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Mary's church recently when Miss Teresa Payton, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Strittmatter, of near town, became the bride of Clayton Fagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fagan of Carrolltown. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Henry O. S. B., pastor of the church, who also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed. The attendants were Miss Lucy Strittmatter, sister of the bride, and Edwin Fagan brother of the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a dress of dahlia georgette crepe, with accessories to match, and carried a huge arm bouquet of lavender chrysanthemums. The bride's attendant wore a dress of nut brown flat crepe with harmonizing accessories, and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

A wedding dinner was served to the immediate families of the contracting parties, after which Mr. and Mrs. Fagan left for a motor tour throughout Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Canada. On their return they will reside in Barnesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Strittmatter entertained an extensive guest group at a pre-nuptial card party and shower in honor of Miss Payton at their home recently. Quite a number of friends from Patton, Carrolltown, as well as other places were present. The engagement of Miss Betty Bickert, to Marcellus Hoover, a former St. Augustine resident, now of Huntingdon, was charmingly announced.

NEW SCHOOL FOR THE COUNTY ORPHANS' HOME

The new school building erected by the county under the direction of the commissioners at the Children's Home two miles west of Ebensburg on the William Penn Highway, was put into use for the first time on Monday of last week. The school house is a one-story brick building containing two rooms, built in such a manner that additional space could be put into it from time to time should occasion demand, properly heated, lighted and ventilated, furnished with modern conveniences and furnished throughout with all new furniture.

The plans for the building were approved by the state department of education before construction was begun.

At the present time there are 36 pupils enrolled in the two rooms, under the direction of Miss Julia Connell and Miss Young, both of Ebensburg. Inasmuch as the school is located in Cambria township it comes under the jurisdiction of the school board of that township and under the direct supervision of Dr. M. S. Beniz, superintendent of schools and Prof. R. J. Hazlett, supervising principal of the Ebensburg-Cambria township schools. All grades are taught up to and including the sixth, the seventh and eighth grade students being sent to other township schools and high school students, attending the Ebensburg-Cambria township high school.

The township, at the end of the school year sends to the various school districts from which the pupils come a bill for their proportionate share of the expense of educating these children. In case these districts do not acknowledge the children as their wards affidavits must be obtained to that effect and the state department notified accordingly, in order to meet the requirements for state appropriation. In cases where the districts do not deny the wards, the proportionate amounts are taken from the appropriations for those particular districts and sent to the township to partly defray its share of the expense of educating these children.

Poor Directors Have Sent Out Letters to All the Merchants in Cambria

FIRST MEIGHAN TALKIE. "ARGYLE CASE" COMES

Modern Methods of crime detection are used in "The Argyle Case," the latest Warner Bros. all talking Vitaphone production, which stars Thomas Meighan, and which is scheduled to appear at the Grand Theatre on Thanksgiving day with a matinee at 3 p. m., and also on Friday.

When Meighan in his role as master detective finds it necessary to investigate the activities of the occupants of a certain boarding house, he enters the landlady away and sends a force of his operatives to place dictaphones in every room in the house.

Wires are laid to the attic of the house next door, and here two assistants are placed with a switchboard enabling them to communicate at will with a confederate who has been installed as a boarder to another operative disguised as a chestnut vendor on the sidewalk before the house, or to the detective's office.

In addition the delicate microphones of the dictaphones bring to the hidden men all the conversation that transpires in the house under surveillance, and thus modern, scientific methods eventually bring about the solution of the mystery.

Meighan's supporting cast in "The Argyle Case" includes such well known screen players as H. B. Warner, Lila Lee, John Darrow, Bert Roach, Wilbur Mack, J. Quinn Douglas, Gertrude, Alona Marlowe, Zazu Pitts, Lew Harbo and Raymond Gallagher. This is an excellent Thanksgiving attraction. Don't forget, a matinee on Thursday at three o'clock.

APPEAL DISMISSED IN BARNHART CASE

The supreme court of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Monday morning dismissed the appeal of Wilner et al from the decision of the Dauphin county court, which refused to direct that an alternative writ of mandamus be issued against Cyrus E. Woods, Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania directing him to prepare and sign as Attorney General, a suggestion for a writ of quo warranto to be directed to the supreme court of Pennsylvania to determine whether or not Frank P. Barnhart was capable of holding the office of Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Cambria County.

The supreme court held that the question of Mr. Barnhart's eligibility, and of whether or not Governor Fisher violated the constitution in appointing Mr. Barnhart, was not before the court, but merely the question of whether or not the petitioners in the proceedings against Mr. Barnhart had established a prima facie case so that the attorney general should be compelled by mandamus to issue a writ of quo warranto so that Mr. Barnhart's eligibility could be determined by the supreme court. In making this decision, the supreme court stated that even though it should decide that the attorney general should enter quo warranto proceedings, the matter would not come before the supreme court before next spring, several months after Mr. Barnhart had ceased to be a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Cambria county and that no benefit would result from the decision.

Justice John W. Kephart, speaking personally from the bench, stated that, although the question was not before the court, it was his opinion that Frank P. Barnhart was eligible to hold the office of Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Cambria County, and that Governor John S. Fisher had not violated the Constitution in appointing him to that office.
