Ringling in Health

The sale of Christmas Seals and Health Bonds begins Friday, November 29.

The Seals sell for one cent each and the Bonds range from $5 to $1,000.

Health Bonds are for those persons or business concerns who want to help more generously and cannot use many Seals.

The Seals and Bonds provide funds for the work of the united local, state and national tuberculosis organizations in combating the White Plague and improving health conditions.

In Pennsylvania this work is carried on by the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society and its 100 affiliated organizations.

These are truly Health Seals, since every measure to prevent tuberculosis makes for better health generally.

The 1929 Seal pictures a bell and a bell-ringer. The more of these bells rung this holiday season the greater will be the health work carried on throughout the coming year.

D.; Hattie, wife of Dennis Westrick, of Elder township; Raymond Thomas, Elder township; Amelia, wife of Anthony Becker, Elder township; Urban Thomas, Akron, Ohio; Leo and Morris Thomas, of Hastings, R. He also leaves three brothers and sisters: Edward Thomas, of Ohio; Mary, wife of Emory Weakland of Hastings; Harry Thomas of St. Boniface; Emma, wife of John Semelberger of St. Boniface; Mrs. Margaret Ship of Ohio; Levi Thomas of Jerome; Benjamin Thomas of Patton; Cecelia, wife of Peter Yeager of St. Boniface; Vince Thomas of Patton; Samuel Thomas of Elder township; and Rose, wife of Charles Miller of Hastings.

It has been estimated that the farmers of Pennsylvania received a cash income of two and one-half million dollars and over one-fourth of this amount was paid the farmers for milk and one-fifth of the total amount was received for poultry and eggs.

The Pennsylvania bureau of markets states that one-fourth of all the milk produced in Pennsylvania is handled by farmer-owned co-operatives such as the Inter-state at Philadelphia and the Dairyman's Co-operative Sale Co. in Pittsburgh. These co-operative organizations handle approximately $38,000,000 worth of milk annually.

The co-operatives have proven themselves worthy of the task and they have been able to pay farmers a better price. In 1928 they obtained 7.25 for each quart sold.

Since twenty-one million gallons of milk are shipped into Pennsylvania every year there seems to be very small chance of over production for a few years and although it has been said that no one ever gets rich in the dairy business it seems to be the chief source of income on Pennsylvania farms.

JUDGE BERKEY IS INDICTED ON PROHIBITION VIOLATION

President Judge John A. Berkey of Somerset county, was indicted last week by a federal grand jury on three charges of conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition law.

Fifteen others, including county detectives comprising the alleged liquor and slot machine rings, and "fixing" rings of the county were named as co-conspirators of the jurist.

The indictments were returned after 100 witnesses had been examined by the government investigators.

The evidence was presented through three days by a special assistant of the attorney general sent from Washington to pass on the case at the request of Attorney Louis A. Graham, Government prosecutor for the western Pennsylvania district.

The three charges made against Judge Berkey state he conspired to transport sell and possess intoxicating liquor in violation of the Prohibition Act.

It is not believed the government will endeavor to prove that Judge Berkey actually did sell, possess or transport liquor, but it is understood to be the contention that he, through agents, conspired with others so that they might violate the law with impunity.

That a slot machine ring operated in conjunction with the liquor band is understood to be another government contention.

Immediately after the indictment was presented, special agents of Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington, armed with search warrants, rushed to Judge Berkey's office to seize and confiscate his personal property.

The government is said to contend that Judge Berkey is the real owner and operator of the West View Publishing Company of Somerset, publishers of "The Public View."

It is understood the Government will attempt to prove that liquor law violators were solicited to make "contributions" to "The Public View" with the implication that they might expect immunity or leniency if they were brought before the Common Pleas Court of Somerset.

Judge Berkey along with practically all of the others indicted, has furnished bond for their appearance. It is understood that no trial of the case will be made until after the first of the year, in order that the December term of court in Somerset county, will not be held up. Judge Berkey's office as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas expires the first Monday in January.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Jane Lloyd, aged 89 years, who died Tuesday of last week at her home in Cambria township, were held on Friday at the late residence. Burial took place in Lloyd cemetery.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

The young folks ain't quite as respectful to their parents now as they were when we were young folks. Anyhow, that's what almost everybody over forty is saying.

I got an idea that maybe the youngsters are just as respectful, or else they ain't got so much to be respectful about as we had.

There was a girl that was out riding with the family one day, and all of a sudden she pipped up from the front seat. "Say, Dad and Mama, I got some news with a thorn in it for you! I'm married!"

The old folks just kinda stared. "Yes, sure enough! I been married a week, only I ain't told anybody except my husband, and he's a dear!"

Her dad had got his dignity by that time. He says, "Lola, we'll talk about this later. It won't do to discuss such things before the chauffeur."

"Well," says Lola, "I got a different idea. I want the chauffeur to be right in on the talk."

"Why, Lola?" says Mama, "where are your manners? Don't you know any better than that? You know we've always tried to teach you some sense. No more talk about this before the chauffeur, see? He must think you're very ill-bred already."

"Nope," says Lola, "he don't think nothing of the sort, and he's already told me he thinks I'm the snake's gaiters! And he's got to be in on the discussion, because he's my husband!"
