Christmas Seals Ring in Health

In the olden days anyone could be a bell ringer. Sometimes a citizen had to pay for the privilege; if he abused the honor he had to pay a fine. In All Saints' Church, at Hastings, England, these words may still be seen: "This is a belfry that is free For all those that civil be, And if you please to chime or ring It is a very pleasant thing."
 All through history since the 16th century, which was the golden age of bells, chimes have called out to people their cheerful messages, usually telling a story. For example, with the passing of the old year the bells were tolled in sadness, then, when midnight had struck, the merry peals clanged forth their welcome to the new year. Before the invention of the newspaper the town crier focused the attention of the people by lustily clanging a bell before he shouted the important news it was his duty to spread throughout the city. Since bells have so often served to proclaim victory it is not surprising to find that the design of the modern cup presented as a token of victory in sport is in reality an inverted bell.

It is equally fitting that on the gray little Christmas Seal for 1929 a bell ringer should be portrayed tugging at a heavy bell, announcing once again to the nation that further advances have been made against the enemy tuberculosis. Each year the Seal brings its message of health at the Christmas season to remind people that sickness can be prevented.

Although the stamps are now well known, they originated in a modest manner only twenty-five years ago as the invention of a Danish postal clerk, who devised them to raise money for a tuberculosis hospital for the children of Copenhagen. Miss Emily P. Bissell, of Wilmington, Delaware, was the god-mother of the Christmas Seal in this country. She also was seeking for a method to raise money for a tuberculosis institution in her state and in 1907 found the solution to her problem in a magazine article describing the Danish seal and its successful mission. Through her efforts a fund of $3,000 was raised and the project begun. The following year the first nation-wide sale of tuberculosis Christmas Seals was undertaken, and women's clubs, religious bodies and business groups gave their support to this cheerful method of raising money. In 1910 the then young National Tuberculosis Association took over the sale of the Seals and has directed it ever since. The Seals therefore should be called tuberculosis Christmas Seals.

Thanks to the tiny Seal, state after state has been organized to attack tuberculosis with a scientific program. Through the intensive educational work made possible by the Christmas Seal, health laws have been passed and are being enforced; tuberculosis specialists and nurses reach the most remote country districts; printed matter on disease prevention is circulated in schools, homes and factories, and there is an active public interest in tuberculosis control among civic, political, commercial, social and religious groups.

This year again the Seal carries its message of health throughout the country, giving everyone a chance to be a bell ringer as in olden days—a proclaimer of the important tidings that health is the best insurance for happiness and that tuberculosis may be cured if discovered in time.

I Am the Christmas Seal

I am the Christmas Seal, Messenger of happiness, Symbol of service. I am the highest form of health insurance. I co-operate in all health work.

I fight tuberculosis. I safeguard the home. I stand watch over the school. I restore sick children to health. I protect the individual, the family and the public. I teach health habits and health facts. I preach the gospel of sunshine, fresh air and cleanliness. I demonstrate the value of exercise and work, rest and play. My value is beyond price—my cost small. I am the penny Christmas Seal.

Bells Peal Forth

Pennsylvania joins other states in the ringing of bells on Friday, November 29, at 10 A. M. to announce the opening of the Christmas Seal sale.

Bells were rung in many parts of the State, with as many as 200 ringing out a message of health in individual counties. These included church, school, fire and other bells. The 1929 Christmas Seals picture a bell and bell ringer and it was estimated that thousands of bells sent forth the message: Ring out tuberculosis. Ring in health.

Danger in Little Germ

Tuberculosis is caused by a germ, the tubercle bacillus, which was discovered in 1882 by Dr. Robert Koch. The germs or bacilli are found in the sputum of persons who have the disease.

Tuberculosis of the lungs, sometimes called consumption, is the most usual form. Whenever a consumptive fails to exercise care in covering his mouth when coughing or sneezing he endangers someone else. Especially is this true in crowded shops, factories, cars and places where people assemble. The careless consumptive who spits on the sidewalks and elsewhere is providing another means of infecting his neighbor.

Young children are especially susceptible to tuberculosis. If a child plays on the floor or sidewalk with objects that have been contaminated by sputum, he may easily carry germs to his mouth.

Children are especially subject to infection of the lymph glands at the root of the lung (called hilum, tracheo-bronchial or juvenile tuberculosis), which, unless checked, is likely to produce tuberculosis.
