Mrs. Mary Lehmer, 65, of Carrolltown, Hurlled from Son's Automobile

Hurled to the street when two automobiles, one driven by her son, figured in a head-on collision on Main street at Spangler about 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Mrs. Mary Lehmer, aged 65 years, a well-known resident of Carrolltown, was almost instantly killed. She suffered a severe fracture of the skull and was dead when passersby reached her side.

Her son, Archie Lehmer, and Peter Kober, of Patton, driver of the other car, both suffered lacerations of the head and received treatment at Miners' Hospital, Spangler. Mrs. Archie Lehmer, who was riding with her husband and mother-in-law, and Michael Cislosky, an occupant of Kober's machine, both escaped unhurt.

Kober and Cislosky were both placed under arrest after Kober had his injuries dressed and was lodged in the borough lockup in Spangler. The two men were removed Sunday morning to the county jail at Ebensburg. Kober is charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and Cislosky is being held as a material witness.

Mrs. Lehmer had been a resident of Carrolltown for more than 40 years. She had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Wagner, of Spangler, and was enroute to her home in Carrolltown when she met her death.

Mrs. Lehmer was married to Frank Lehmer 42 years ago in St. Nicholas Catholic Church, at Nicktown. Her husband preceded her to the grave. She is survived by these children: Harry Lehmer, of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Cletus Lehmer, of Bakertown; Mrs. F. J. Wall, of Pittsburgh; and Oscar and Archie, both at home. These brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. William Lehmer, of Carrolltown; Henry and Jerome Smith, both of Tyrone; Mrs. Charles Goss, of Johnstown; Peter Lehmer, of Johnstown; and Mrs. John Feighner, of Carrolltown. Mrs. Lehmer was a member of the Altar Society of St. Benedict's Catholic Church, Carrolltown. She was also Chaplain of the Carrolltown Unit, American Legion Auxiliary, and was installed last Friday night at a joint meeting in Barnesboro.

COMMUNICATIONS

To the Editor of the Courier:
Since last week's article in this paper, I have received many requests, some reasonable and some unreasonable, making it impossible to answer all in this manner. A councilman's duty is to act for and with the people, providing it is for the good of the community. I am sure that the reasonable requests I have received lately will be considered at the next Council meeting.

It would be a help to the council as a whole if the people would consult the councilman in their neighborhood prior to the next meeting of council. It would give the members of the council body something to think of and would make it easier to reach decisions on all subjects. I again want to assure the people of Patton borough that I will do my utmost toward anything that is for the good of our community. I want to thank all of the writers for the interest they have shown in this matter.

Very truly yours,
JOHN J. HALUSKA,
Councilman 1st Ward, the

BISHOP M'CORT IS A SEPTUAGENARIAN

The Right Rev. John Joseph McCort, D. D., Litt. D., Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Altoona, Sunday celebrated the 70th anniversary of his birth.

Bishop McCort was born in Philadelphia on February 15, 1860, son of John McCort, a Civil War veteran and was the youngest of seven children. His father died when the Bishop was his young. He obtained his early education in the parochial schools of Philadelphia and later took classical and theological courses at St. Charles Borromeo's Seminary where he remained after graduation as an instructor of theology leaving to accept an appointment as pastor of the Mother of Sorrows congregation in West Philadelphia.

During this time he was honored with the appointment to the bishopric of Los Angeles, which he was constrained to decline.

Soon after the death of Archbishop Prendergast he accepted the appointment of Bishop Coadjutor to Bishop Eugene Garvey, of the Altoona Diocese, with the right of succession and on the death of Bishop Garvey, on October 22, 1920, he assumed full control of the Altoona Diocese.

ST. VINCENT HEAD DIES IN PITTSBURGH

Archabbot Stehle Victim of Complication of Diseases; Given Special

Blessing

The Rt. Rev. Aurelius Stehle, O. S. B., the only archabbot in the United States, died at St. Francis hospital at Pittsburgh Wednesday night after a short illness. He was head of St. Vincent archabbey at Beatty Pa., and chancellor of the Catholic university at Peiping, China.

The archabbot was brought to the hospital January 24, after having suffered a nervous breakdown the previous day at propagation of the faith meeting in Cleveland. His health started to fail during the last Christmas holidays when he contracted a severe cold. A complication of diseases brought death.

The special blessing of Pope Plus XII was imparted to the archabbot on Wednesday last week by the Rev. Felix Feller, O. S. B., of St. Vincent, upon its receipt by cable from Rome.

Archabbot Stehle headed the largest Benedictine community in the United States and was also president of St. Vincent college and seminary. He succeeded the Rt. Rev. Leander Schaefer, O. S. B., as the St. Vincent archabbot September 3, 1920.

Last year he was called to Rome by the pope to discuss plans for developing the Catholic university of Peiping which the archabbot founded in 1924. While in Rome he was re-appointed chancellor of the university for an additional five years.

Archabbot Stehle also noted internationally in Catholic circles as a liturgist. His "Manual of Episcopal Ceremonies" was almost universally used. Papal dispensation was necessary for his ordination to the priesthood September 8, 1899, because he was not of the canonical age. After a period of work in the church and in teaching, he was elected coadjutor abbot of St. Vincent June 25, 1918, and was confirmed by Rome July 6 of the same year.

Rome honored him in 1920 with the degree of doctor of divinity. He received the degree of LL. D. from Notre Dame in 1925, and Litt. D. from Duquesne university, Pittsburgh, in 1927.

His regime at St. Vincent college was noted for building expansion and for enlargement of courses. He supervised arrangement for a complete course in aviation and the college purchased its own training plane.

Archabbot Stehle was born in Pittsburgh April 30, 1877, and was educated in the Pittsburgh parochial schools and at St. Vincent. He was a member of various education association and the National Aeronautical association.

He is survived by two brothers, the Rev. P. Callistus Stehle, O. S. B., at St. Vincent archabbey and Harry Stehle of Pittsburgh.

Complete arrangements for the funeral of the Rt. Rev. Aurelius Stehle, O. S. B., archabbot of St. Vincent, were made known Sunday.

The body was taken from the monastery parlors where it was laid in state to the archabbey church Tuesday morning. Tuesday afternoon vespers of the dead was solemnly chanted in the church, with the Very Rev. Vincent, as the celebrant.

Tuesday morning office of the dead was begun at 9 o'clock, followed by solemn pontifical funeral mass at 10 o'clock. The Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, D. D., bishop of Pittsburgh, was celebrant, and the Rt. Rev. Joseph Schrembs, D. D., bishop of Cleveland, delivered the sermon. After the sermon five of the prelates in attendance pronounced the absolutions.

Burial was the plot in the Archabbey cemetery reserved for the deceased abbots of the St. Vincent Benedictine community.

Dignitaries who were present include Bishop John Mark Gannon, Erie; Bishop Philip McDevitt, Harrisburg; Bishop Francis Howard, Covington, Ky., and abbots of Benedictine communities from all parts of the country.

Cambria County were jointly held at the beginning of the move dating back some weeks ago, when President Elmer F. Routh, of Hastings, head of the business men's organization, concluded to call together leading men of the north of the county, the conference being the result. Much good accrued from the session, which was held after a 6 o'clock dinner was served at the

"TAMING OF SHREW" FAST MOVING COMEDY

Mary and Doug Co-Star in All-Talker Based on Laugh Masterpiece

When a beautiful girl counters a legitimate proposal of marriage tendered by a handsome young man with such a statement as: "I'll see that hanged things are bound to happen."

And happen they do in "Taming of the Shrew" which comes to the Grand Theatre as the feature attraction next Monday and Tuesday and like-wise brings Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks to the screen together for the first time.

From the opening shot to the final fadeout, "Taming of the Shrew" is just one long, glorious laugh. From the first moment gay but stubborn Petruchio (Douglas Fairbanks) lays eyes upon his bride-to-be, the stormy, tempestuous Katherine (Mary Pickford) there ensues a battle of wits and wills. Loving her fiery temper, and intrigued by her defiant remark: "I'll see that hanged things are bound to happen," Petruchio sets out to unconsciously to tame the Shrew. To make things more complicated, he employs the very tactics that have won her the cognomen of "wildcat" throughout all of Italy. How she resists and how the ultimate solution is worked out could only be told by Shakespeare.

In this screen story of the Bard's immortal comedy, brought to the screen for the first time in the history of motion pictures by Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, every bit of essential dialogue, comedy and striking situation has been left intact throughout the production. This was accomplished by Sam Taylor, the man who directed "Taming of the Shrew" and, before that, "Coquette," which established Miss Pickford as one of the greatest emotional actresses the screen has ever seen.

Taylor succeeded in retaining all the humor which characterizes Shakespeare's works, and yet enhanced the scope of the play through medium of the motion picture camera.

Among the featured players who support the two stars in the comedy are Joseph Gawthorn, Clyde Cook, Dorothy Jordan, Geoffrey Wardwell and Edwin Maxwell.

FUNNIEST RACING HIT OF STAGE NOW COMES AS 100% VITAPHONE

Edward Everett Horton and Edwards Earle are cast as enemies in "The Hottentot," Warner Bros. latest all-talking Vitaphone production which comes to the Grand Theatre Friday and Saturday.

In "The Hottentot," Horton and Earle are rivals for the hand of Patsy Ruth Miller, who has the leading feminine role. Through this rivalry incites bitter hatred, the two men smile at each other, toast each other and throw verbal bouquets. Earle is an expert horseman in the picture, while Horton's equestrian reputation is decidedly shady. As the girl "simply adores" expert riders, Horton's progress with her arouses the ire of Earle all the more.

The progress of the romance provides many of the comedy scenes in "The Hottentot," while the spectacular steep-leech race combines comedy and thrills.
