GIRL SCOUTS. Last week the Girl Scout meeting was in charge of Natomi Lilly. We opened in patrol formation, which was followed by patrol corners where we discussed all matters of importance. Natoma gave the rest of the time to playing a signalling game. The girls, who have earned their Cook's badge, went to A. O. Somerville's where they resumed their studies. The remainder of the girls who are taking "Home Nursing" were supervised by June A. Royland. The Tenderfoot reviewed their test. We closed with taps.

FLYING EAGLE PATROL. The Patrol is very busy with Merit badges and their cabin. We have four Merit badge examiners and hope to have more in due time. Mr. Kruse, Mr. Freely, Mr. Somerville and Dr. J. A. Murray are our present examiners. Each boy in our patrol has an average of five or more Merit badges. Several of the boys expect to be Eagles by Christmas. This is a wonderful goal to reach. Gordon Kruse, our Patrol leader was congratulated by Mr. Smith, scoutmaster of the University of New York, for his report on the Flying Eagle patrol. Our electrician, Henry Freely, has constructed two telegraph outfits which he is going to install in the scout hall. The Flying Eagle Patrol is planning a cake sale for Good Friday. The money earned at this sale is to pay their way to camp and buy necessary patrol equipment.

PATTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES OF THE WEEK

As Reported to the Courier by Jim Shannon of the Student Body.

On Thursday afternoon the Patton Boys' basketball squad was defeated by the Blacklick team in the opening game of the interscholastic tournament held at St. Francis College. The score at the end of the first half was 17 to 10, in favor of Blacklick. For a time it seemed that Patton would win the game, but in the last half Blacklick started shooting long shots and thereby gained a comfortable lead. They won the game by a score of 40 to 16. A large number of students from the high school attended the St. Francis tournament the three days that it was in session. The girls' basketball squad had their pictures taken on Friday afternoon, by M. J. Farabaugh, of Carrolltown. The picture of the squad and coach Forsythe will undoubtedly appear in the Johnstown papers in the near future. A test was given in Senior English on Monday morning. The Seniors report that the test was a very stiff one. John Senneker and Artely Hurd visited the school on Monday afternoon.

This week we will describe the mathematics classes. Mathematics is taught by Mr. Fleming, who is also the principal of the high school. The class room is on the second floor, to the right of the main building and is built directly across the hall from Mr. Bossert's office. The class room is built along the same lines as the English room and contains the same equipment. In one corner of the room is a large cabinet where textbooks and other materials which are necessary, are kept. The subjects taught in this room are Algebra, Plane Geometry, Trigonometry, Rapid Calculation, and Solid Geometry.

Helen Reed, a former pupil of the Patton high school, who is now in W. Va., is visiting at her home in Patton, where she is recovering from an attack of typhoid fever. Helen is a student nurse at the Hatfield-Lawson hospital at Logan. The letters which were ordered for the girls' basket ball squad have not yet arrived, but the girls are waiting anxiously for their arrival. Betty Greene was a visitor in Altoona on Tuesday afternoon.

The members of the Senior class expect to hold an Easter and Book Sale around Easter time. The proceeds of this sale will go toward the financing of the Senior Play.

The Boys' basketball squad had their pictures taken last Thursday while they were at the tournament.

A rumor is on foot that the director of athletics of Barnesboro High School is attempting to mend the athletic difficulties between Patton and Patton. All athletic contests between the two schools were severed a number of years ago. Since these contests be resumed, the very fast basketball and football games would be assured.

Coach Barnard has nearly finished his schedule for the 1930 football season. Since the arrival of very few new men on the squad a good test is practically assured. Charles Dietrick is to be the captain of the team.

John Campbell and Jim Shannon spent Monday and Tuesday in Baltimore, Md. Miss Hamilton and Miss Steele were visitors in Pittsburgh on Saturday.

A test was held in physics on Wednesday morning. The students state the test wasn't real hard. We'll assume then that the test was easy.

The members of the Solid Geometry class will be shown how to use the instrument of surveying by Mr. Gregg in a few days.

The students of the Commercial course will start reviewing for the contests during the next week.

Work on the choruses of the Senior play was started last week. Practices will be held each Friday afternoon and evening. The work on the play will be started in a few weeks.

Freshman Class Notes. Florence Beck is on the sick list. Isidor Aaronson was an Altoona caller Saturday.

Mary McCann and Edith Thomas were shoppers in Altoona Saturday. "Issy" Aaronson hasn't found his trousers yet.

We often wonder why Noel Coulter, ion will say, "Oh, is this where you live?" Thelma Litzinger was on the sick list for several days.

EDITOR SHORT, OF CLEARFIELD, FIFTY YEARS IN JOURNALISM

CLEARFIELD.—A celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the entrance into the field of journalism by Colonel John F. Short, publisher of the Clearfield Republican was held Monday, was an occasion for felicitations by many friends and admirers of this veteran editor. Few men are better known than Colonel Short among the active newspapermen of the State and fewer are more frequently quoted on editorial comment and opinion on current political events or on historic features of public affairs in the Commonwealth during the last half century. A native of Clearfield, he was born December 5, 1862. He is recognized as one of the county's most outstanding citizens.

He learned the printing trade under John Bixler, publisher of the Clearfield Citizen. He served in Harrisburg in 1882 on the staff of the late Benjamin F. Myers, then publisher of the Patriot, later he was employed on Philadelphia newspapers and then returned to Clearfield, where he resumed newspaper activity until 1896 when he joined the staff of the Pittsburgh Times as political writer.

He attended Republican and Democratic National Conventions, covered the Johnstown flood, and in 1897 he returned to Clearfield, where he bought the Republican, which he has since published as sole owner. He covered several sessions of the Pennsylvania Legislature, and toured the State with Quay, Elkin, Stone and others. He was an alternate delegate to the Democratic National Conventions held in Kansas City, 1900; in St. Louis, in 1904, and at Denver, in 1906, and a delegate to the Democratic Conventions in St. Louis, in 1916, and in New York, in 1924. He was United States Marshal for the Western Pennsylvania district in Wilson's second administration, but continued his editorial work throughout that period.

Answering frequent inquiries as why his Democratic newspaper carries the name "Republican," Colonel Short would explain that it had a clear title to that name twenty years before the Republican Party was born.

The new Jaffa Temple being built by Shriners in Altoona is costing in excess of $1,000,000.
