PATTON DROPS IN CENSUS FIGURES

All Coal Centers Show Decline
In Population in Past
Ten Years

Cambria county will pass the 200,000 mark in population in the final figures of the 1930 census.

On the basis of complete enumerations of population in the 15th census boroughs in Cambria county, particularly those in the coal district, have suffered heavily in population during the last decade.

The population of the county show that but three boroughs added to the 1920 population, while in seven the decreases ranged from 48 to 643.

Ebensburg, the county seat, showed a population increase of 880, the 1930 enumeration jumping to 3,059 over the 1920 figure of 2,179, and Loreto, the seat of St. Francis college and the heart of a thriving farming community, has a 1930 population of 473, which is 51 greater than the 1920 figure. Nanty-Glo gained 570.

In the seven other boroughs where preliminary enumerations have been completed, mines furnish the chief source of livelihood, and the population losses have been heavy as a result of several years, and unsteady market conditions, which have prevailed in recent years.

Townships Fare Better
The townships apparently have fared somewhat better than the municipalities with seven of the 15 townships for which preliminary enumerations have been completed showing increases in population ranging from 1855 for Cambria township, down to 29 for Munster township, while in the eight townships which decline in population the losses range from 81 in White township to 1,152 in Summerhill township.

Preliminary enumerations as announced by George T. Robinson, supervisor of the census in this district, show the following gains in townships: Cambria, 1,855; Washington, 1,944; Allegheny, 1,683; Blacklick, 1,623; Munster, 29; Losses in township populations during the decade intervening between the 14th and 15th censuses are: White, 81; Chest, 86; Gallitzin, 242; Carroll, 359; Croyle, 461; Susquehanna, 1,152; Portage, 1,110 and Summerhill, 1,152.

Preliminary totals for the entire county announced Tuesday evening by George T. Robinson supervisor of census in the 16th district, show a population of 201,120, as compared to 197,839 in 1920. The increase for the ten-year period is 3,281, according to the figures which are believed to be substantially correct but are subject to correction.

While Johnstown proper has a population loss of 344 in the preliminary total of 66,983, substantial gains were recorded in many of the boroughs and townships, especially in those which comprise the Greater Johnstown area. Thirty-three of the 62 districts comprising the county, exclusive of the city, showed increases in population and 15 of them were listed among the 17 boroughs and townships in the metropolitan area. Greater Johnstown's population jumped from 97,497 in 1920 to 105,134 this year, an increase of more than 7,000 in ten years.

TED WEEMS COMING TO SUNSET PARK JUNE 20

Most Popular of Dance Orchestras Here on Jump From Cincinnati to Atlantic City

Dance and music lovers in this section of Pennsylvania are looking with delight at the announcement of Fred Luther, manager of Sunset Park that he has booked Ted Weems and His popular Victor Recording and Radio orchestra for an engagement at "Pennsylvania's Finest Ball Room" on the evening of Friday, June 20th.

Only by a streak of good fortune was Mr. Luther able to do this. Ted Weems and his orchestra will finish a long term engagement in Cincinnati early next week and will then assume a new summer engagement at Atlantic City. It is while enroute from the Ohio City to the shore, that the popular music makers will remain for one night only at Sunset.

Ted Weems and his orchestra need no introduction to dance and music lovers. Perhaps no band in the nation is better and more popularly known than are they.

JUNE COURT TERM IS ON IN FULL SWING;
MURDER CASE LATER

Rapid Progress Being Made By Many Defendants Entering Guilty Pleas.

The June term of Criminal Court is on in full swing at Ebensburg this week and the rapid progress in verdicts made, because scores of defendants, mostly indicted for liquor law violations, are entering pleas of guilty.

The trial of the Tony Polombo and Frank Cantilla cases, charged with the murder of Lewis Hoffman in Adams township in 1928, will be heard on June 23rd, owing to the illness of the defense counsel Percy Allen Rose. An appeal asking a change of venue in this case was denied by the local court on Monday morning and then taken to the supreme court, who upheld the county court.

The second of the series of oblation cases to be tried at this term of court resulted in an acquittal for Sarah Beener of Johnstown, tried before Judge Reed. A sealed verdict, was opened and was found to be for acquittal of the defendant. Thus far in the trial of the commonwealth has been Mrs. Carrie Clark, former Johnstown midwife who was convicted of abortion by a jury last March and now is serving a jail sentence.

Dr. F. M. B. Schramm, Johnstown physician, charged with performing illegal operations, in five separate bills of indictment was acquitted.

Harold Leamer, Eugene Rummel and Percy Sutton, all of Susquehanna Township, charged with serious offenses against morality, who before the conclusion of the taking of testimony, pleaded guilty to a lesser offense, there being three separate bills of indictment. They were sentenced each to pay the costs and a fine of $100.

Julius A. Eger, of Cresson charged with assault and battery on the prosecution of his wife, Catherine R. Eger was found not guilty and the costs were equally divided between the defendant and prosecutor.

Peter Antonuccio of Spangler, charged with possession of approximately 500 gallons of rye whisky seized in a raid by Constable Frank Maser and a party of federal prohibition officers early in April, received the most severe sentence imposed on liquor violators when he was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve from one day to three years in jail upon a plea of guilty. Paul and Joe Valenti of Garmentown, who entered pleas of guilty to ownership of the brewery where the alleged "Canadian Ale" was manufactured, were given suspended sentences upon payment of the costs.

John and Paul Tomalo of near this place charged with aggravated assault and battery and burglary, were found guilty on both charges. The defendants will be sentenced later in the term.

Walter Irwin, of Susquehanna Township, charged with an offense against morality, was found guilty and received the usual sentence.

Llewellyn Davis, of Nanty-Glo charged with violating the auto laws and specifically with failure to show license after accident, was found not guilty, but directed to pay one-third of the costs, the other two-thirds of the costs being assessed to the prosecutor, Rome Cook.

ADMITTED TO BAR

Samuel R. Block of Johnstown Monday was admitted to the practice of law in the courts of Cambria and into membership in the Cambria County Bar association. His admission to the bar came on the motion of Atty. Morgan W. Evans, chairman of the examining board which includes Attorneys C. Randolph Myers, Russell R. Yost, H. Earl Sorber, Albert W. Stenger and John H. Stephens.

Patton Fire Company to Stage "Aunt Lucia," With Cast of 150, at Grand Theatre Next Monday and Tuesday.

Mack and Bill Denlinger, Eddie Donahue, Yvonne Yerger, Miriam Lilly, Louise Young

"Aunt Lucia", one of the funniest, cleverest, and most talked comedies being staged at the present time will be presented next Monday and Tuesday nights, June 16 and 17 at the Grand Theatre under the auspices of the Patton Fire Company.

It promises to be one of the biggest productions ever given in this community and includes a cast of over one hundred and fifty local people. It is a burlesque comedy of American college life and is a scream of laughter from beginning to end. "Aunt Lucia" has been staged throughout the Middle West with hundreds of organizations, and has been a tremendous success wherever played. Every one who has seen "Aunt Lucia" proclaim it a show that none can afford to miss.

The play proper deals with the Home-coming of Bula Bula College given in honor of Lucia Wakefield, an old maid aunt of Betsy's, one of the girls at school, who is worth fifty million dollars and who has given large sums of money to the school.

Jerry Watson, played by J. Mack Delinger, with the help of two college chums, George and Dick, played by Bill Delinger and Eddie Donahue dresses to impersonate an old lady for the entertainment of his fellow frat-

Simpson Studio Show
Monday and Tuesday
At Smith Theatre

With the stage all set and final rehearsals in full swing the Simpson Studios 1930 production "A Cracker Jack Revue" looks like the greatest event of the entertainment season. No time labor, or expense has been spared. A score of persons have been busy for days on stage decorations and scenery. Others have been installing electrical effects and carpenters have been making substantial fixtures which will work into several of the larger scenes. A crew of stage hands have been ranging drops, wings and special paraphernalia for the show. The orchestra has been in rehearsal for the past three weeks and the music we are told is up to the usual Simpson high standard.

The dancers themselves have not had a nap. Every day for the past week they have been assembled on the stage and put through their numbers. These young folks come from all over Northern Cambria County and after this production can be truly named the "Stars of the North". Among the rager numbers in this show are: The Wedding of the Painted Doll in which almost the entire cast will appear. Another ensemble group is a tap and step routine entitled "Dance Among the Sugar Cane." A ballet by the toe dancing class entitled "The Garden Gate" will be another of the spectacular numbers on the program. A golf chorus by a group of high school pupils is one of the very snappy numbers this year. Also included in this program are an exhibition ball room dance, an oriental, an acrobatic, and a solo tap dance besides many other delightful specialties.

Seats are now on sale at the following places: Simpson Studios, Patton; Stoltz's Meat Market, Carrolltown; Stoltz & Fees Store, Bakerton; Spangler Pharmacy, Spangler; Flora's Ladies Shop, Barnesboro; and the Corner Drug Store, Barnesboro. The show will be held at the Smith Theatre, Barnesboro Monday and Tuesday evenings June 16 and 17. Those desiring a choice of seats will do well to make their reservations early. Price of reserved seats 75c.

SUFFERS CUT LIP
WHEN HIT BY WOOD

Blake Tubbs, aged 64, employed as a panitor at the Sankertown schools, suffered a severe laceration of the upper lip yesterday morning when he was struck by a sharp piece of wood, while cutting fuel for a fire. He was given medical attention by a Cresson physician, several stitches being required to close the wound.

nity brothers. While in this outfit he is mistaken by Prof. Gaddis, played by T. C. Gill and Dean Howard, played by Alice Smale, as the real Lucia Wakefield from Florida. Once in this dilemma it is impossible for him to explain and he goes on through the story masquerading as Lucia Wakefield, when in reality he is Jerry Watson.

Around the character of Jerry all the fun and comical situations of the play develop. Prof. Gaddis and Mr. Collins played by Don Connell and the Butter and Egg Man, played by Milton Stoltz all fall in love with the fake Lucia Wakefield and try to marry her. Instantly Jerry finds himself playing the part of an old lady, making love to the other boys' girls, enjoying the proposals, and adding greatly to the comedy of the play. Besides these characters there are three college girls, friends of the boys. They are: Betsy, played by Yvonne Yerger, Molly, played by Meriam Lilly and Ethelyn, played by Louise Young and Mrs. Seamon, played by Grace Ulrich add much to the dignity of the play. The two college freshmen John Gaultner and Jim Shannon are real comedians. Other characters are: Glee Club President, Fred Kinkead, Fraternity President Frank Young and the cheer leader Richard Shannon.

All in all "Aunt Lucia" is a well rounded production. A full list of all the characters will be found in an ad in this issue of the paper. Look them over. This promises to be well worth the price of admission. You will be able to reserve your "Aunt Lucia" tickets at Tozer's Music Store on Saturday June 14 at 9 o'clock A. M. Don't fail to see "Aunt Lucia."

A SETON HILL GRADUATE
Confirm Archabbot
Alfred As Head Of
St. Vincent College

Official confirmation of the Rt. Rev. Alfred Koch, O. S. B., D. D., as Archabbot and President of St. Vincent's College was held Tuesday at a blessing attended by 500 priests two Bishops and nine Abbots.

The Rt. Rev. Koch succeeds the Rt. Rev. Aurelius Stehle, O. S. B., who died February 12. He was elected several weeks ago by the Benedictine priests and was confirmed by a Papal decree.

A procession opened the services, followed by a pontifical mass celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, D. D., Bishop of Pittsburgh. Following the church ceremony an acclamation dinner was served in the college.

YO-YO CONTEST TO BE FEATURE AT GRAND ON SATURDAY NIGHT NEXT

Lets Find Out Who Is the Champion Of The Popular Yo-Yo, By Entering Contest at Grand

That fascinating little game of yo-yo is taking the country by storm.

It seems that almost every boy, girl, man and woman has taken up the game. While it may have been considered a child's pastime it has gone far beyond that stage and adults are now having the time of their lives trying to develop their skill with this little dancing top.

Many persons have mastered the yo-yo in a marvelous manner and can make it do almost unbelievable tricks. It is, therefore, proposed that these experts should have an opportunity of demonstrating their skill and receiving their rewards as champions.

The Grand Theatre has arranged for a contest to be held on the stage next Saturday night at 9 P. M. Every one, who can yo-yo, is eligible. Prizes will be awarded and Patton's champion YO-YO'ER will be selected.

On account of the five service organizations' arrangements to assemble in the same hostelry, there will be a fine program of entertainment for members and guests.

EBENSBURG PLACE IS RAIDED BY OFFICERS

A detail of State Police from the Ebensburg Barracks about 9 o'clock Saturday night raided the Keystone restaurant in Ebensburg and found one gallon of alleged moonshine liquor and a quantity of home brew beer. Mrs. Fortunata Martin was placed under arrest, as the proprietress of the place and when arraigned before Justice of the Peace she waived the formality of a preliminary hearing and posted bond in the sum of $1,000 for her appearance at the September term of Criminal Court. The defendant's husband, Paul Martin, is at the present time serving a jail sentence for conspiracy to violate the liquor laws.

In attempting to destroy some of the evidence, Mrs. Martin engaged in a tussle with members of the raiding squad, but a sufficient amount of the moonshine and home brew was recovered to furnish a sample.
