JAM!

A meeting of the members of two clubs was held for the purpose of deciding whether the clubs should be amalgamated. After the voting had taken place, the chairman announced: "This meetin' has voted in favor of the two clubs bein' marmaladed." "I suppose you mean, Mr. Chairman, that they be jammed together?" Inquired the secretary of one of the clubs.—Montreal Star.

A WEAKNESS OF HERS

"Well, dear, I'll be at the altar tomorrow at ten sharp." "If I'm not there, darling, please wait. I'm so often late for my weddings."

Photographs

I saw an old-time photograph. As I contrast it with the new I pause to sigh and then to laugh. It looks so young—and foolish, too.

Alimony for Him

"I guess I'll have to give him up as hopeless," she sighed. "Is he as bad as ever?" asked her dearest friend. "Yes," she replied. "I've bought him the right shaving cream, the right tooth paste, made him use the proper tobacco; in fact, I haven't overlooked a single ad, and still he is impossible."

First Reading

Mistress—Isn't that the postman, Mary? Who's gone to the door? Mary—Please, ma'am, cook has. Mistress—Well, what's she such a long time for? Mary—Please, ma'am, I think it must be a postcard.—Mouthmouthshire Beacon.

Just Came True

"I'm beginning to believe in fortune-telling." "Why? Something come true?" "Yes. A fortune-teller told me yesterday that I would have money left after paying my wife's dressmaker's bill."—Stray Stories.

EXPLAINED AT LAST

"How do you suppose that Chicago came to be such a great railroad center?" "Why, to furnish a quick getaway for the bandits, of course."

Tear for Ellis

"Had a tear for Ellis Bree: The car he hit was marked 'P. D.'"

Liquid Chicken

Freshman—We sure have a fine landlady. She saved me the tenderest part of the chicken when I was late for dinner yesterday. Soph—What part was that? Freshman—The gravy.—Capper's Weekly.

No Good Cook

Ichiban—My wife is a canny house-keeper. Sayonara—My wife doesn't know how to cook either.

Monologist Appreciated

"You often buy things you don't exactly need." "Yes," answered the amiable lady. "When a capable salesman appears, whether I think much of his wares or not, I feel as if so good a monologue ought to be worth something."

Too Extravagant

"Darling, I offer you my heart and my fortune." "Don't be extravagant, dear. Your fortune will be quite enough."
