FAIR BOOSTERS TO UNITE FOR A MUCH BROADER ACTIVITY

Fifty Representative Men Discuss Welfare of The Ebensburg Fair Association

The future welfare of the Cambria county exposition and fair was the topic of discussion at a luncheon meeting held at the New Ebensburg Inn Tuesday, when some 50 representative citizens of Cambria and Blair county were the guests of Charles M. Schwab and the management of the fair association.

Many suggestions regarding the policies of the association and means of arousing greater interest in the enterprise in the two counties were offered with the general belief that, despite generally poor business conditions throughout this section at the present time, the enterprise can weather the current financial storm and emerge upon a more substantial basis.

One suggestion upon which later action may be taken was to increase the attendance at both the exposition, which opens June 30, and the county fair in September, by granting a half day leave of absence to employees in the various operations of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. in the county.

Mr. Holter assumed a similar position with the New York Central Railroad Company, Feb. 1, 1893, his "run" being between Jersey Shore and Patton. TWO GOOD SHOWS COMING TO GRAND

Bebe Daniels Scores With Fine Dramatic Performance In "Alias French Gertie"

RADIO PICTURES newest vehicle for Bebe Daniels, "Alias French Gertie," which will be at the Grand theatre on Friday and Saturday, reveals another amazing triumph for that already celebrated star of the audible celluloid. Distinguished for her genuinely illustrious performance as a singing sensation in Radio Pictures' "Rio Rita," Miss Daniels displays new and astonishing power as an actress of dramatic forcefulness in her role of a clever female "racketeer."

"Alias French Gertie" may be considered Miss Daniels' most serious characterization in the talkies. Concerned with an expose of the smooth methods of high society crooks, the story thrilling and vividly enacted, allows Miss Daniels broad scope for her latest talents as a dramatic player of distinction. The underworld atmosphere is startlingly real and exciting, and much of it is due to the splendid playing of the leading performers, Miss Daniels and Ben Lyon. This is Ben Lyon's first appearance opposite the glamorous Bebe, and the spirited and sympathetic performances given by the two more than confirm Hollywood reports that they are engaged in real life.

"Blaze O' Glory" Something New

After three years of the tyranny of the strident melodrama and the backstage story, motion picture producers appear about to give us something new if we are to take for a criterion "Blaze O' Glory," introducing the star, Eddie Dowling, which will be at the Grand Theatre on Monday and Tuesday. Here is a play in which the characters are not set in corruption and although it has a stage and war touch, it is only reminiscent of melodrama and the stage show-off, while melody predominates through a story that at all times dramatic if not actually melodramatic.

In fact it is entertainment. And in order to make it wholly entertaining, the producers have thrown in about everything there is to cause the spectator to sit up and take notice. Here is a play in which the characters are not set in corruption and although it has a stage and war touch, it is only reminiscent of melodrama and the stage show-off, while melody predominates through a story that at all times dramatic if not actually melodramatic.

INTER CLUB MEET OF THE KIWANIANS

Cambria County Suggested for State-Wide Bituminous Coal Parley

A state-wide bituminous conference, Cambria county as its seat, for the purpose of restoring the Pennsylvania coal fields and gaining a long-fought schedule of freight rates was proposed at Spangler Monday night by Irving L. Camp of Johnstown, an operator who has taken a leading part in the coal strike in western Pennsylvania, in an address to Kiwanis clubs from all of the districts.

Favoring the setting aside of the huge Ebensburg fair grounds for this purpose, "that we might rededicate the spot to labor," Mr. Camp called upon the business leaders of the county and the service clubs generally to back the movement to relieve unemployment and revive the coal industry. He urged the calling into conference of heads of all Pennsylvania railroads, all congressmen and senators, the secretary of commerce and the secretary of labor. Honoring the founder of the Ebensburg fair grounds, Mr. Camp recommended:

Mr. Camp's opinion, Cambria county could do nothing wiser than select as the chairman or honorary chairman of this all-important conference the one outstanding man it harbors who is known the world over and who appears to be the greatest salesman of the present and past decades—Charles M. Schwab of Loretto.

The first of advance such relief for the many bituminous pains that have been felt in western Pennsylvania, Mr. Camp, the immediate past president of the Lions' club international, was given a tremendous welcome by the united Kiwanians. His speech quickly aroused their interest and approval and the sympathetic manner in which his suggestions were met pointed in the direction of an immediate attempt to carry out such a program.

Mr. Camp reminded the 111 Kiwanians assembled in the Brandon hotel that the struggle to overthrow discriminating freight charges in favor of West Virginia field, at the expense of Pennsylvania industry, has been going on for many months. "Legislative authorities have tried to solve the problem and have accomplished little," he said. "Even the operators themselves have failed to find relief. It is time that the people of Pennsylvania, business men, merchants and laborers alike, the suffering rank and file, take the matter to heart and offer their services to boost the program and interest of the coal operator." Mr. Camp charged the clubmen with their responsibilities as such. He pointed out particularly at such a time as might find the economic and employment security of the commonwealth in danger.

Mr. Camp spoke at what was one of a series of inter-club Kiwanis meetings, this particular one being sponsored by the Northern Cambria organization. Representatives were present from the Johnstown, Ebensburg, Altoona and Indiana clubs. Fred Maurer of Patton, chairman of the inter-club relations committee presided and Bert Holopower of Spangler, president of the entertaining club, delivered the address of welcome. The Altoona Kiwanis orchestra of ten pieces entertained and the Misses Coletta Lutz and Hattie Sharrbaugh, both of Carrolltown, offered a violin duet. Edward Hohman of Johnstown gave a pleasing violin impersonation. A sextet of boys from Altoona was another of the program features and the Rev. Dr. Robert M. Campbell of Johnstown was heard in a number of Scotch songs. Lieut. Gov. Leon P. Bennett, Johnstown, was one of the speakers.
