FOR PA. FARMERS

Joint Appeal for Drought Victims Results from Officials' Conference

A joint appeal for the extension of bank credits "to the extreme limit" to drought-stricken farmers in Pennsylvania resulted last week from a conference on agricultural conditions between Dr. C. G. Jordan, secretary of agriculture, and M. S. McKay, Greenville, chairman of the agriculture committee of the State Bankers association.

McKay was informed by Secretary Jordan that the damage to crops from the lack of moisture will exceed his estimate of $50,000,000, made August 12.

With additional damage suffered since the issuance of the last crop report, the secretary of agriculture said the loss may exceed even his latest estimate.

Use of substitute feed and absolute conservation of straw and everything the farmer has as well as extension of loans by banks is necessary, the head of the department advised, to save farmers tide over the winter and save many from going into bankruptcy.

Governor Fisher, he said, has given his approval to efforts of the department in those directions to relieve the suffering of the farmers.

"YOM KIPPUR" IS BEING OBSERVED BY JEWS

The twilight of Wednesday, October 1, 1930, began the tenth of the Hebrew month Tishri, marking the beginning of the most sacred day in the Jewish calendar—"Yom Kippur," the Day of Atonement.

In Jewish life this holy day is known as the "Sabbaths" and the "Great White Fast." Unlike the observance of any other Jewish holiday, the Day of Atonement is marked by the unique feature of fasting which begins with the chanting of the Kol Nidre melody and ends with sunset the following day.

Like all other Jewish holidays, however, Yom Kippur has undergone a change both in its meaning and manner of observance. In the days of the Temple when the Jews dwelt in Palestine as tillers of the soil, the Day of Atonement was chiefly characterized by sacrificial rites, as specified in Leviticus XVI. Both priests and people abstained from food and drink uttered confessions of their sins, and invoked the God of Mercy for forgiveness.

But later, when the Jews were exiled from Palestine and the Temple ceased to be the central institution in Israel, the Day of Atonement assumed a new aspect. Sacrifices were no more; in their stead prayer and meditation were substituted. The Rabbinic of old endowed Yom Kippur with a devout religious atmosphere. They considered this day as the day when the Supreme Judge of all set His seal to the fate of every creature on earth.

Today, the masses of Jewry still fast on Yom Kippur and still observe it with great solemnity and awe-inspiring prayers. But today the keynote of all ceremonies is to raise the character of man to a higher state of humanity. The prayers strive to convey the thought that the day of Atonement is a day of self-examination and self-criticism—a day upon which man is to scrutinize his activities of the past year, judge them, weigh them, and henceforth resolve to turn from that which his best conscience considers as evil and to follow that which his higher self regards as good.

LEGION IS TAX EXEMPT

"The Promotion of Patriotism is the most Elemental of Public Purposes." The above principle is taken from a court decision quoted in an opinion just rendered by Gilbert Bettman, attorney general of the state of Ohio. This opinion holds that the American Legion is purely a patriotic, educational and charitable institution.

Depression Which Engulfs Us Is World Wide in Its Scope.

It is not necessary to state that the country has been going through an economic depression during the past year. It is a depression which is world wide and which attacked the United States long after it had laid low the other nations of the world.

For instance, Uncle Sam's foreign trade made a sizeable gain in August over July, the first in many months. Commodity prices, with the exception of wheat, are showing signs of stability and improvement, and the usual seasonal improvement which comes with the autumn is at hand.

Now it is equally erroneous to believe that things were never so bad before. There have been many worse depressions in the past. Pessimism has been rife before even in this generation.

Now this was less than ten years ago and the people thought then that we would never get over post war depression.

It is well to remember these things in a time when the pessimists once more can see no silver lining in the clouds.

The normal condition of America is prosperity. And America will get back to normal.
