

GOVERNOR FISHER CHRISTMAS SEAL SALES CHAIRMAN

Health, He Says, Is One of Greatest Gifts for All Pennsylvanians

In announcing last week his acceptance of the Honorary Chairmanship of the 1930 Christmas Seal Sale in Pennsylvania, Gov. John S. Fisher referred to health as one of the greatest gifts that can be provided for Pennsylvanians.

The observance of November 30 as Tuberculosis Sunday and December 12 as Tuberculosis Day in the schools is suggested by the Governor, who said:

The Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society and its 100 affiliated organizations throughout the State are engaged in a year-round tuberculosis prevention and health promotion effort. Their work is made possible by the annual sale of Christmas Seals and Health Bonds.

"The 24th annual Christmas Seal sale will begin Friday, November 23. In connection with this campaign, Tuberculosis Day in the churches will be observed on Sunday, November 30, and Tuberculosis Day in the schools on Friday, December 12. It is fitting that this should be done. Tuberculosis daily wrecks homes—a condition in which our churches and schools are wisely interested. Information will be given on the disease and how to prevent it.

"The Christmas Seal this year pictures a jovial Santa Claus, with a tree on his shoulder, announcing he brings 'Health to All.' Health is one of the greatest and most lasting gifts. "Disturbed economic conditions, like the present, help to break down resistance to tuberculosis. The use of these bright stickers on all letters and packages will aid this life-saving work. It is a task that calls for the help of everybody."

Near Panic Averted As Films Burns in Theatre

A panic was narrowly averted in the Rivoli theatre at Ebensburg Thursday night when a reel of film caught fire in the projection booth. As the flames were reflected upon the screen before the safety shutters could be closed, persons in the audience started a mad rush from the building, but the near panic was checked by quick work on the part of theatre attaches. The only damage was to the reel of film, which was destroyed.

Rager Released After Serving Ten Months

Jonathan Rager of Johnstown, who pleaded guilty to charges of violating the gambling laws and later appeared as a commonwealth witness against Joseph Cauffiel, former mayor of the city of Johnstown, who was confined on several charges of official misconduct, was discharged from the county jail last week after having served slightly more than ten months of a one-year sentence. Cauffiel, who was sentenced to a minimum term of two years, still has about ten months to serve.

COUNTY SETS NEW HUNTING LICENSE RECORD

1930 Registration of Hunters Surpasses Last Year's Mark by 1,138 Permits.

County Treasurer George W. Reese announced recently that the regular allotment of hunting licenses for Cambria County, numbering 11,200 had been issued some time ago. In addition to this amount, 362 licenses of a special issue had been disposed of, making a total of 11,526, up until the close of business Friday. This surpasses the number issued for the same period last year by 1,138, when a total of 10,388 had been issued.

The last allotment of licenses received by the County Treasurer and which are now being issued by him contain the words "Special Issue." They give to the hunter the same privileges and nothing more than the regular licenses.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

"YOU'VE probably heard about the old-fashioned airplanes that they have parked out on some of these government aviation fields. The planes was made before the war, and they've got a pre-war kick in them. Sometimes they kick over the traces and make a bad spill and then the newspapers has a big story. But generally the army men manage to make the things fly, and sometimes they even train a recruit with one of them.

I was told not long ago about a young guy that was trying to be an aviator at one of these flying fields that hasn't got any wings to speak of, and the officers had done the best they could with what they had on hand. Finally it was time for the young guy to fly the plane all by himself, and he went up, with an instructor in the seat behind him. There was a real strong wind blowing from the south-east, and the officer told the guy to head right into it and in four hours he would be in Mexico City, where he was expected by the Mexican government. Well, the boy drove the old boat as hard as he could, but the wind was mighty strong and the engine on the old relic was mighty weak, and when he come down at the end of six hours he landed right on the same field he took off from. When he saw the soldiers coming over towards his plane, he says to the instructor: "Well, it's darn nice of the Mexicans to have these here American soldiers here to welcome us, ain't it, Captain?"

CONFESSED BOOTLEGGER GIVEN 30-DAY SENTENCE

Johnstown Man Charged With Sale of Liquor To School Boys.

Waiving the finding of a true bill and entering a plea of guilty to charges of violating the liquor laws, James Roberts, 33, of Johnstown, was sentenced to 30 days to one year in the county jail by the court at Ebensburg Monday.

According to statements made to the court by officers who arrested Roberts in an alleged speakeasy in the rear of Union street, Johnstown, the entire supply of liquor was contained in pint bottles escreted in pockets of several overcoats. They also charged that many customers of the place were high school pupils.

Pleading guilty to charges of entering a dwelling and a tool house with intent to commit a felony, Thomas Bunk of Scalp Level was sentenced to serve 30 days to three years in the county jail. Bunk is a member of an alleged gang of Windber and Scalp Level youths who are said to have broken into about ten dwelling and tool houses in that neighborhood over a period of about a year. Most of them have pleaded guilty and are serving sentences in the county jail.

The court handed down a decree Monday granting a divorce to William Simmers from Olive Simmers on the grounds of desertion. Both litigants are residents of Nanty-Glo.

Quebec, Center of Winter Sports in North America, Ideal Setting in Which to Celebrate Holiday Season

No city in the world has the natural advantages Quebec possesses for winter sports. On a sunny winter day, the St. Lawrence below sparkles like a mammoth jewel. When the soft flakes fall, the broad river dims into misty loveliness. Stately and dominating in snow-fall and sunshine alike, the huge rock of the Citadel stands impassive, epitomizing the past. Every tree for miles around wears garlands of crystal. Snow-fields roll away virginal and unending. Far-off mountains raise their frosted bulks as a backdrop to complete the beautiful scene.

Lovely old Quebec provides an ideal setting in which to spend Christmas week, with its parties, dances and expeditions into the snow-bound countryside. Ski-ing, skating, tobogganing on Quebec's celebrated triple-track slide, crowned by Christmas dinner at the Chateau Frontenac is a program which makes a strong appeal, so several travel agencies have organized all-expense escorted tours from New York and other big cities, leaving in plenty of time for the various holiday functions.

Christmas dinner at the Chateau Frontenac is a diversion in itself. The great baronial dining-room is gaily decked in holiday greens; noise-makers and paper hats adorn the tables, and there is a procession of cooks through the room laden with such time-honored Yule-tide dishes as the boar's head, baron of beef, suckling pig, English plum-pudding and other delicacies.

On New Year's Eve, night of all nights, Quebec makes merry at the Jour de l'An Ball, one of the gayest events in Quebec's scintillating winter season. Society from New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other Metropolitan centers turns out in large numbers for this event, and the merry-making continues into the wee small hours as Quebec bids adieu to the dying year and welcomes the New Year in her own inimitable way.
