OUST OWNERS FROM LAND IN TAX SALES

ioners at a treasurer's sale, President Judge John H. McCann and Judge Ivan J. McKenrick ruled in an opinion handed down last Friday in court at Ebensburg in the case of the Beacon Coal Company, whose property, consisting of 22 tracts of land and 39 houses in Reade Township was bought by the commissioners in 1930. The court ruled, however, that the county has the right to take legal action to "restrain waste" on the property.

In their petition the commissioners contended that they had the right to the land. It was said at the time the action was instituted that the Beacon Coal Company was mining coal on the property. More than $25,000 in tax-es and interest is due on the property and the commissioners sought to have the coal company dispossessed.

Counsel for the coal company Schettig & Swope, contended that the title gained by the commissioners at the tax sale did not give them the right to possession or any right or title other than for the purpose of selling it at a commissioners' tax sale. This view was sustained by the court.

PURCHASES MORE LAND

Pennsylvania with nearly 600,000 acres of forest lands and farm lands already set aside as havens for wild game and hunting grounds for sportsmen, is seeking to boost the total to 650,000 acres.

Disclosure that the state was seeking additional lands followed announ cement by the game commission that it had acquired 4,785 acres in 10 counties.

The commission said in announcing its latest purchase that "a conservative estimate of the value of this large acreage is $3,075,000'

"This does not, of course, include an estimate of value of the game on the lands, or their recreational possibilities, because of the impracticability of arriving at anything like a fair estimate," said W. Gard Conklin, chief of the division of lands.
