Music Soothes Tiny German Refugees

The spirits of these tiny waifs from Germany were buoyed temporarily when one of their numbers struck up a tune on her violin as 150 refugee children arrived at the Liverpool, London, station. Homes had been found for the children previous to their arrival, and excitement kept them from becoming completely despondent.

ing Crosby, the nation's bellwether in the purveyance of song, certainly rang the gong-or hit any other high mark which might be chosen to designate great entertainment—when Parmount's new comedy drama with music, "The Star Maker" has struck the cities, and it comes to the Grand theatre in Patton on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Cast as a dreamy, penniless song a young fellow who writes songs which do not sell, but who eventually rides to success by presenting great kiddie acts, ing is at his pristine best. And he is ably supported by a grand cast, including Louise Campbell, Linda Ware, sensational 14 year old singing discovery, Ned Sparks and Walter Damrosch, conducting the prilnarmonic orchestra of Los Angeles.

The story of the picture, which ineidently, was suggested by the amazng career of the great showman, Gus Edwards—finds ing trying to persuade Louise Campbell to marry him. She finally consents. They are happy, but ing's songs won't sell, and jobs with an alarming facility.
