Former Posseman Recalls Outlaws

Knew Robbers' Roost Country and Famed Killers.

PRICE, UTAH. — Tracking and shooting of Butch Cassidy, leader of the "Robbers' Roost" gang which terrorized inhabitants of large sections of the inter-mountain West in the nineties, is recalled by Peter Anderson of Price, last remaining member of the posse credited with breaking up one of the most formidable gangs of killers in western history.

Anderson explains that he became well acquainted with the so-called Robbers' Roost country before the Castlegate payroll holdup of 1894.

"I had spent three years riding all over the accessible parts of it just prior to the holdup," he said.

"A U. S. deputy marshal who persuaded me to lead him to the hide-out of the Cassidy gang, suspected of the robbery, retreated without making an arrest or even showing his face," when Anderson pointed the place out.

"We went after the outlaws," Anderson said, "three years later following a cattle-stealing incident in which two members of the gang ambushed and nearly beat to death two employees of the cattle firm from which the animals were stolen."

A posse of 18 men under Sheriff Charlie Allred of Price took the trail. Anderson served as a deputy under Allred at the time. Joined by a farmer at whom the gang had fired on early in the day, the party trailed the outlaws to a small canyon where they surprised them in bed.

In answer to a demand to surrender, the outlaws fired a shot into the ground just in front of Anderson, he explained. Possemen returned fire and picked off Cassidy as he made a break for his rifle, which was standing a few feet away. Two other members of the bandit gang died of bullet wounds during the fight.

'Seek and Ye Shall Find'

Trips Old Gold Buyers

SPOKANE, WASH. — Old-gold buyers who employed a Biblical quotation to entice housewives into selling valuable trinkets and other gold-bearing goods incurred the wrath of police.

The purchasers placed gaudy posters on doorsteps that said in bold letters, "'Seek and Ye Shall Find.'" The posters informed occupants of houses they would return in half an hour to offer prices for anything containing gold.

Police Chief Ira Martin warned housewives that such operations were violations of the law, since the purchasers had no licenses and all sales of second-hand goods must be reported to authorities.

Court Order Requested

To Sell Real Gold Brick

PASADENA, CALIF. — Mrs. Clara MacDonalld has a gold brick on her hands that differs from the kind that usually gets into circulation.

The gold brick in question is a real one, weighs 52.84 ounces and is worth $1,097.20. It was presented to her late husband in 1904 by employees of the Alaska Gold Mining corporation in appreciation of his work with them.

Under the federal anti-gold-boarding ruling of several years ago, Mrs. MacDonalld had it exempted as a souvenir. Now she would like to have Uncle Sam buy it and has petitioned the courts to authorize its sale to the mint.

Motor Crash Hurls Baby

Into Arms of Pedestrian

CLEVELAND. — Bobby Dunn, three, found out just how it feels to be a football. Tony Galetto, 50, learned how it feels to make the catch that saves the game.

An automobile driven by Charles Hopson, 22, skidded into a group consisting of Dorothy Dunn, 13, pushing Bobby in a baby buggy, and her four small sisters. The car struck the buggy and hurled the child through the air—15 feet right into Galetto's arms.

Bobby's sisters were cut and bruised slightly—but he, unhurt, just put his arms around Tony and smiled at his new friend.

Leg Irons Used to Keep Sons Out of Mischief

ELIZABETH, N. J. — Joseph Naturlie's plan for keeping his two sons out of mischief—he put leg irons on them—led him to juvenile court charged with cruelty to children.

The irons consisted of a two-foot chain and a padlock which impeded, but did not prevent movement. A passerby reported to police that he saw Dominic Naturlie, 13, tottering around in a junk yard with the chain dragging. The lad directed investigators to his home where a brother, Frank, was wearing the same device.

Naturlie, who was in court about two months ago charged with beating the boys, said he put the irons on them after they were accused of stealing automobile accessories.

Factory Safety Boast Followed by Injuries

YUBA CITY, CALIF. — Ed Mahoney, manager of the Diamond Match company here, boasted that he had been in the lumber business for 39 years without ever suffering an accident at work. The company checked up and boasted that its yard also had been in operation for about the same time without an employee being injured.

The next Monday a timber rolled on Mahoney's foot and sprained his ankle; on Tuesday Jay Gambbsy, truck driver, broke a toe when a bundle of flooring dropped on it, and Marion Van Sickle, yard foreman, stepped on a brick and broke several bones of his foot.

Cryptic Operation Fails

For Juvenile Theft Ring

SPOKANE, WASH. — Police have broken up a gang of juvenile thieves that operated in syndicate fashion and was so secretive in its dealings that code letters and numbers were used to designate its eight members.

The gang, whose operatives ranged in age from 11 to 15 years, had headquarters in a clubhouse. After rounding up the youths, detectives went through records kept by their leader and found an itemized list of articles they had stolen.
