FARMERS IN THE A. A. A. PROGRAM IN CAMBRIA IMPROVE 22,297 ACRES

The Cambria county farmers who participated in the 1938 Agricultural program improved 22,297 acres of farm land in the county by carrying out soil building practices under the program, according to a report on the results of the 1938 program just announced by the Cambria County Agricultural Conservation Committee, which administers the Program in the County. This committee consists of E. J. Farabaugh, Loretto, R. D., Pa.; W. H. Fyock, of Johnstown, R. D., and C. J. Bearer, of Hastings, R. D.

For their work in connection with the program these 981 county farmers have received conservation payments amounting to $47,151. This money was earned through carrying out soil building practices and complying with acreage allotments which are designed to keep production in line with needs. In addition, for this year for the first time, 424 wheat farmers of the County have received wheat price adjustment (parity) payments to the amount of $3,896. These parity payments on wheat are made through a special act of the congress, in an effort to give the farmer a price for his wheat more nearly in line with the price of things he buys.

The committee emphasized that the results of the 1938 Program show that real progress has been made toward permanent agricultural conservation and pointed out that the use of similar soil building practices continue to be the back-bone of the program for this year as well as for 1940. The committee urges all farmers, who wish to participate in the 1940 Program, to get in touch with the county office located in the Court House at Ebensburg, or with their community committeemen in order to obtain complete information regarding the Program.

As evidence of the work that has been done to advance agriculture in line with good farm management, the committee pointed to the establishment of new seedlings of timothy and clover and timothy and of alfalfa. In addition the extensive application of lime and superphosphate in preparation for seeding grasses and legumes and for pasture improvement continue, as under past programs, to be the practices most widely carried out.

The complete list of practices used during the 1938 Program in the County and the number of acres improved by each, follows:

- Planting forest trees, 54 acres.
- Improving woodlands, thinning and pruning, 9 acres.
- Excluding livestock from farm woodland, 10 acres.
- Seeding pasture mixtures, 15 acres.
- Reseeding established pastures, none.
- Establishing new seedings of alfalfa, 272 acres.
- Establishing new seedings of clover, 4,502 acres.
- Growing green manure crops, 205 acres.
- Seeding winter legumes, 33 acres.
- Mulching orchard and vegetable lands, 3 acres.
- Stripcropping cropland, 88 acres.
- Liming cropland, pasture land or orchards, 9,434 acres.
- Applying available phosphoric acid, 6,210 acres.
- Applying available potash, 1,462 acres.

PRINCE GALLITZIN CENTENARY TO BE OBSERVED AT LORETTO

One of the features of the 100th anniversary of the death of Prince Gallitzin, famed Catholic missionary who is revered as the Apostle of the Alleghenies, will be the presentation of a pageant on Gallitzin's life next May at Loretto.

Most Rev. Bishop Richard T. Guilfoyle, D. D., of Altoona, who offered a prize of $50 several months ago for the pageant selected for presentation, announced that October 31 is the deadline for entering the pageant competition.

Bishop Guilfoyle disclosed that to date 32 persons had entered the competition and that judges for the pageant contest would be named early next month. Application blanks must be obtained from Rev. Father Joseph D. O'Leary, 1211 Thirteenth Street, Altoona.

Besides a prologue and epilogue, the pageant must include not less than six nor more than eight episodes in the life of Prince Gallitzin.

Another feature of the 100th Anniversary celebration will be a display at Loretto, either at the Prince Gallitzin Chapel or at St. Frances College, of relics and former belongings of the pioneer priest who implanted Catholicity in the Allegheny Mountains. His death occurred at Loretto the evening of May 6th, 1840, and activities for the centenary observance will center around this date, Bishop Guilfoyle announced.

Among the most prized possessions of Prince Gallitzin are the vestments used by him at mass in the original chapel at Loretto. These articles, made by his mother from her wedding gown are preserved by the sisters of St. Joseph at the Mt. Gallitzin motherhouse at Baden, Westmoreland County.
