NEW METHOD AT PENN STATE DEvised FOR THE SHIPPING OF VITAMIN C

A new method of preserving Vitamin C in evaporated milk which makes it possible to ship the milk to any part of the world and to store it without vitamin deterioration for six months or more has been developed at the Pennsylvania State College by Prof. F. J. Doan and D. V. Josephson, dairy manufacturing specialists. Because Vitamin C quickly oxidizes and vanishes in contact with air, it has never been easy and often impossible to store or maintain it for any length of time in foods at the level needed for healthy living. Even the body cannot store it and we must eat our quota of about 75 milligrams each day to keep well. Babies, however, need about only 30 milligrams daily. Sealing the evaporated milk tins in an atmosphere of nitrogen or under vacuum, the investigators found, increases by 50 per cent the Vitamin C retained after six months' storage. If the milk is first fortified with 50 mg. of Vitamin C, and then sealed without air, the milk will contain well over the desirable daily infant allowance, of 28 to 30 mg. per can after six months' storage and presumably longer. The process follows the commercial practice closely, except for sealing, and could be easily adapted for commercial use, Prof. Doan explained. The cost of such fortification is but slight, estimated at approximately 7.2 cents per case of evaporated milk, or 0.15 cents per tin can.

Don't forget now is the time to mail Xmas packages overseas.

YOUR PLEDGE-AND OURS

YOU PLEDGE to plan purchases carefully, buying only the things you really need to maintain the health, comfort and good spirits of your household; to accept understandingly wartime curtailments of goods and services.

WE PLEDGE to make available, to those who must have new furniture, the finest quality and most complete selections of merchandise obtainable legally at the present time; to keep prices at lowest possible levels, never at any time to exceed government ceilings.

TO DO OUR PART ON THE HOME FRONT

Americans on the Home Front are at battle today with one of the most dangerous forces our country has had to face in this war, or in any other war... the battle to hold down runaway prices.

The main responsibility for "holding the line" lies with the American people, with you and your neighbor. You, and you alone can smash the inflationary spiral, assure fair distribution of available goods and keep living costs within reasonable limits. To do this, Americans everywhere are being asked to make and keep this Home Front Pledge.
