MORE EDUCATION, MR. VET?

If you think you are eligible for education under the "G. I. Bill of Rights," file Veterans Administration Form 1950 with one of these three: 1. the regional office of the Veterans Administration in the place your discharge papers are filed; 2. a regional office of the Veterans Administration in the state in which the school or college you wish to attend is situated; 3. the school or college you wish to attend. You are eligible if you were on active service for at least ninety days between September 16, 1940, and the end of the present war or were discharged after less than 90 days because of disability incurred in line of duty, if you were discharged under conditions "other than dishonorable," and if you were not over 25 years of age when you entered service or if you were over 25 and can show that your education was interrupted. Between 800,000 and one million of your fellows may eventually get more education under provisions of the "G. I. Bill."

WORST YET TO COME.

In appealing to German farmers for maintenance of food production, the German food controller admitted that "this will be more difficult than before . . . because every fit farm worker has had to join the fighting forces and . . . because the area from which the nation and army are supplied has grown smaller," according to a broadcast reported by U. S. government monitors.

HELP TEACH FARM SKILLS.

Great-grandfather probably would turn twice in his grave to learn that movies are now being used to help teach such fundamental skills as horseshoeing, sheep-shearing and the repairing of farm machinery—all to speed up the training of war time farm workers.
