SHOE STAMP TO BE VALID AUGUST FIRST

Washington.—Months of uncertainty over the shoe ration rate ended on Friday last when authoritative sources revealed that the Office of Price Administration hopes to validate the next footwear coupon "no later than August 1st."

Originally the stamp was to have been validated May 1, but OPA last December announced that no shoe coupon would be made good May 1 because of sudden, high military demands for footwear.

Validation of the next stamp Aug. 1 would make a nine-month lapse between it and the time the last shoe stamp was made good — Airplane Stamp 3 in War Ration Book 3 which became valid last Nov. 1.

Airplane stamps 1, 2 and 3, all of which are now good, were issued beginning Nov. 1, 1943, to provide one pair of rationed shoes per person every six months.

Presumably the next shoe stamp will be Plane Stamp 4, but OPA traditionally delays identifying the new shoe coupons to prevent consumers from spending them before their validity dates.

OPA has not yet reached a final decision of the Aug. 1 date, but it was emphasized that unless unforeseen factors arise, consumers can expect to have another shoe coupon then.
