

COLORFUL RECIPE BOOK AVAILABLE

A colorful new recipe book that tells you all about Ann Pillsbury's startling No-Knead baking discovery and how you can bake 75 delicious varieties of home-made bread from the basic recipe is waiting for you at your grocer's.

This big, practical 64-page book of fast and fun-to-make No-Knead recipes is Ann Pillsbury's gift to homemakers of Patton and vicinity with the purchase of a 25-pound sack of Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour. Grocers in the area are co-operating with Pillsbury Mills in making this free offer, an announcement of which may be found in this issue of the Union Press-Courier.

Homemakers throughout the nation who have tried the No-Knead method are planning their entire meals around it. Delicious loaf breads, buns and rolls, brunch breads, tidbitting—even desserts and entrees—are easily, quickly made from the basic recipe. And another of the advantages is that No-Knead dough, mixed in a matter of minutes, can be stored in your refrigerator until you are ready to use it!

If your grocer is out of books, send proof of purchase to Ann Pillsbury, Minneapolis, Minn., and your personal copy will be mailed. Or, forward 25 cents in coin for each additional copy wanted.

COMMITTEE NAMED FOR T. B. SEAL DRIVE

The drive of the Johnstown Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis is scheduled to get under way Thanksgiving Day. A goal of raising sufficient funds to carry out the proposed program for 1946 is to be aimed.

Last year $10,571.22 was netted from the sale of the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. The society listed $8,189.18 as the total expense for the year.

Hugo Thomas will serve as the chairman for the drive, with the following to serve as sub-chairman from this section of the county: Patton, Mrs. Anna Jacobs; Carrolltown, J. V. Maucher Jr.; Barnesboro, Jean M. Scollon; Loretto-Cresson, F. K. Shields; Colver, Pearson Lewis; Dysart, Mrs. Rose Naylor; Fallen Timber, Mrs. Chas. Beers; Revloc, Mrs. Lee Rolls, and St. Benedict, Dr. B. F. Bowers.

SNOW REMOVAL

Snow removal in Pennsylvania for this winter is to begin when the snow has reached the depth of one inch, instead of the two-inch depth in the past, and is to continue until the roads are restored to a safe condition for travel.

NEW TIRES 'MAYBE' AFTER FIRST OF YEAR

Good news to motorists is that tire rationing may end early in 1946. J. D. Small, Civilian Production Administration chief, made the announcement recently, telling newsmen that some manufacturers are holding goods off the market because the new tax law promises lower taxes next year and because the OPA has not priced some of the items.

Production of automobiles is expected to rise to a record rate of 500,000 monthly by next June, according to Small. He added that this optimistic view was based on the assumption of industrial peace and sustained production by that time. His automobile figures were based on a reconversion report recently submitted by the automobile industry.
