By AGNES POLITES

"Yes, Buck, it's romantic, holding hands in the moonlight—besides, I wouldn't want you to get lost!"

PLAY AT SPANGLER SCHOOL ON MONDAY

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," an operetta in three acts, will be presented by the music class of St. Patrick's School, Spangler, next Monday evening, June 17, at 8 p. m. in the Spangler High School Auditorium.

The story of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" is one of the most quaint and curious old fairy tales. In this version the first scene opens with a chorus of the maids in waiting, one of whom tells of the queen's legend of the birth of Snow White.

At the opening of the operetta the little princess is the victim of the unkindness of a vain and selfish stepmother, the Queen of Poppyland. Her magic mirror assures her every day that she is the most beautiful woman in the land. Then she learns with rage that little Snow White will soon out- rival her charms.

Snow White is sent into the woods to be slain, but finds refuge in the cottage of seven odd little dwarfs. There she learns with rage that the queen pursues her and she is saved by the good fairies, who cast her into an enchanted sleep. The Prince arrives to break her long slumber and all ends happily at the Court of Arden.

FINES URGED FOR CARELESS WALKERS

Fines for careless pedestrians were advanced at Harrisburg during the past week as a possible deterrent to a fast growing number of motor fatalities, up 8.15 per cent in Pennsylvania for the first four months of 1946 as compared with last year.

The total death toll was 597, including 290 pedestrians, reported T. E. Transeau, state director of highway safety.

For 18 years, Transeau noted, the number of pedestrians killed has equaled or exceeded the total number killed in all other types of motor vehicle accidents, and "in over 80 per cent of the accidents the pedestrian is almost entirely at fault."

Commenting on Washington, D. C., pedestrians' observance of traffic lights with the alternative of a $2 fine, Transeau asked in his report: "Why not have it here in Pennsylvania and throughout the Nation?"

The 1946 four months toll, with fewer cars on the road, still was 3.1 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of 1941, the last full prewar of unrestricted

SCHOOL DISTRICTS TO GET PAYMENTS

$100 Sum Authorized for Each Teacher Employed During 1945-46 School Term

G. Harold Wagner, auditor general of Pennsylvania, has approved payment of $100,794.44 to 55 school districts in Cambria County. The sum represents the payment of $100 for each member of the teaching and supervisory staff in the respective districts employed during the 1945-46 term.

Payments were authorized and funds provided by the 1945 Legislature. The purpose is to enable the districts to put into effect the new minimum salary schedule as provided for in amendments to the Public School Act.

Sums in Northern Cambria

SHOCK, HIT THE HAY GRAND DOUBLE BILL

Two outstanding films, "Shock," featuring Lynn Bari and Vincent Price, and "Hit the Hay," starring Judy Canova, are listed for the Grand Theatre, Patton, on Friday and Saturday of this week, June 14 and 15.

In "Shock," Lynn Bari runs true to form, portraying the beautiful but ruthless "other woman" who instigates the murder of Vincent Price's wife, and then tests his love for her by urging him on to other murderous deeds.

In "Hit the Hay," Judy Canova is featured in six songs, ranging from "Old MacDonald Had A Farm" to meleys from "Barber of Seville and Martha."

Elwood said he saw a rock moving in the roof and leaped back, at the same time shouting a warning to his brother. A moment later the entire section of roof near the face collapsed, trapping Benjamin.

When Elwood reached his brother, he was dead, and after summoning assistance, the man was removed to the mouth of the mine and pronounced dead by a physician.

Coroner Willis has deferred an inquest until after receiving the report of the state mine inspector.
