DESCENDANTS OF FRANK MICHAELS BEING SOUGHT

Descendants or other relatives of Frank and Julia Michaels are being hunted in and around Cambria Co. to claim a $9,000 estate left by a branch of the family that died out.

James W. Smith, 1299 California St., San Francisco, Cal., probate investigator, says that Frank and Julia Michaels are reported to have married in or near Johnstown in about 1880, and there is reason to believe some of the family still live in the vicinity.

"If there are no descendants still living, then the claim reverts to the lineage of Frank's and Julia's brothers or sisters. There is some evidence that the name, Michaels, may be a contraction of a Hungarian or Polish name, as Frank Michaels was of those nationalities."

SPANGLER GIRL BRIDE AT PRETTY CEREMONY HELD SUNDAY, JUNE 23

The Presbyterian Church, Spangler, was the scene of the pretty wedding June 23 at 4 p. m. when Miss Marjorie G. Whited, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whited, became the bride of Frank C. Yeager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yeager of Moshannon. Rev. O. E. Washburn officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with roses and lilies. The bride was attired in a white organza gown embroidered with sprays of lilies of the valley, and carried a bouquet of anemones and carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Sherwin, attired in blue gown, and Miss Bess Whited, dressed in a pink gown. Both carried mixed bouquets. Harry Dale Barger, a nephew of the groom, of Moshannon, was best man.

Ushers were Angelo Mundy and Delmar Yeager. Miss Lovell Nicholson sang "O Promise Me" and "Because," accompanied by Mrs. Robert Caldwell.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Yeager, who will reside in Trenton, N. J., where the groom, a five-year Army veteran who spent 39 months in the ETO, is employed.

YOUR Health MEDICAL SOCIETY-STATE OF PENNSA. Anti-vice-sectionists claim that nothing of benefit has come from animal experimentation. Such a claim is false and stupid. Hundreds of thousands of Indians and children are alive today because a comparatively few dogs were sacrificed to medical scientific research. A few years ago diabetes was a sentence of death. Drs. Banting and Best used 30 dogs to find out how to extract insulin from the pancreas of the slaughter house animals. As a result diabetes now may live normal, happy lives. Pernicious anemia was formerly always fatal. Dr. G. H. Whipple painlessly bled a few dogs until they were anemic, then found the magic fraction of liver which would keep them alive. Diphtheria killed 60,000 babies a year in the U. S. at the turn of the century. Animal experimentation led to diphtheria antitoxin and now diphtheria is practically non-existent where immunization is used. The sulfa drugs, surgical asepsis, vitamins and the iron lung were made possible by animal experimentation. Animals themselves have been benefited by research work. Without experimentation there would be no protection against rabies, distemper, hog cholera and Bang's disease. Most animals used in research suffer no more pain than the dissection does when they take a shot of insulin, or when the child gets a shot of diphtheria vaccine. Anti-vice-sectionists are not at war with cruelty—they are at war with science. MARY FOLMAR BRIDE OF LEVERNE DRESKEY. Miss Mary Folmar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Folmar of Spangler, became the bride of LeVerne Dreeskey, son of Mrs. Neva Dreeskey of Johnstown, Pa., on June 29 at 9:15 a. m. in the parsonage of the Holy Rosary Catholic Church, Johnstown. Rev. Father William Sullivan officiated at the single-ring ceremony. The bride was attired in a light blue suit with matching accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Louise Folmar, her sister, wore a light gray suit with orchid accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Donald Dreeskey, brother of the groom, was best man. Only other witnesses to the ceremony were the groom's mother and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Folmar and son, Joseph. A breakfast was held at the home of the groom and a dinner at the Folmar home. Mrs. Dreeskey is a 1943 graduate of Spangler High. The groom graduated from Johnstown High, served two years in the Army, and now is employed by a paper mill in Johnstown. The ceremony will reside in the latter community.
