

Area Gets New Mine Inspectors

Four new inspectors have been assigned to Johnstown sub-district U. S. Bureau of Mines. The new members bring the force of inspectors in the office to 15, and still two more will be added in the near future to make the complete complement 17.

New inspectors assigned to the office include William E. Gaylor, Harlan, Ky.; W. H. Bennett, Mt. Hope, W. Va.; W. D. Brown, Wheeling, W. Va.; and L. M. Morelli, Pittsburgh. Gaylor, Bennett and Brown were members of the class that recently completed training at the Pittsburgh district U. S.

Bureau of Mines office, and Morelli has been a member of the Bureau's inspection staff for some time.

The sub-district office covers the Central Pennsylvania coal region, completes inspection of mines and writes up reports which are forwarded to Washington for printing. Copies are then sent to the union and mine firms and can be studied in the sub-district office. Reports of the inspections also are forwarded to newspapers for publication.

$2,800,000 Return On Huge Fine Made Mine Union

Goldsborough Declares Injunction Still in Force

The United Mine Workers last Thursday got back $2,800,000 of the $3,500,000 contempt fine levied against them by Federal District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough—with their president, John L. Lewis, the same day sending a $100,000 check to the telephone workers to support their strike.

With the fine refund, however, Judge Goldsborough, who acted in accordance with a Supreme Court ruling, warned the miners' union that an injunction forbidding a strike against the government "is still in force and can be invoked at any time."

Only two more months remain until the UMW's contract with the government becomes obsolete on June 30. On that date the government is legally required to return the mines to private ownership.

Goldsborough ordered the refund of $2,800,000 to the UMW after Assistant Atty.-General J. F. Sonnet told the court that it appeared the "safety" period observed by the miners after the Centralia disaster "will cause no real injury to the people of the United States."

The UMW also has sent a $90,000 check to the AFL as its contribution toward a $1,500,000 advertising fund to fight labor bills pending in Congress. This sum represents a 15-cent assessment from each of the union's approximately 600,000 members.

Firemen Plan Joint Legislative Action

Commend Salvation Army on Aid Given

Firemen of volunteer companies of Cambria, Bedford and Blair Counties last Thursday evening agreed to act collectively on legislation pertaining to fire companies. The action was taken at a meeting of the Volunteer Firemen's Assn. of Cambria Co. and vicinity in Vintondale, and firemen from the other three counties agreed to have their officers meet at regular intervals to discuss pending legislation and to recommend what action the combined organizations will take.

Firemen said the recommendations of the large number of firemen in the four counties will carry "more weight" with legislators than a similar recommendation from just one county organization.

County firemen also voted their approval of House Bill 595, which calls for changes in the distribution of foreign fire insurance funds.

By resolution, the group praised highly the work of the Salvation Army during the recent disastrous fire in Barnesboro which left nine families homeless. They said Salvation Army workers were on the job a short time after the fire and provided firemen with coffee and food for one county organization. Coalport firemen reported plans are being completed for the annual county convention. Business sessions and the parade will be on July 20. Election of officers is scheduled Wednesday, July 30.

60 Students Plan Scholarship Tests

Approximately 60 Cambria Co. seniors in high schools will take competitive examinations on Friday of this week in the Ebensburg courthouse for college scholarships.

Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, said 4,393 students in the state will seek the 80 state scholarships to colleges and universities.

The grants are for $100 per year for four years at any state teachers' college, Pennsylvania State College, University of Pittsburgh, and the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

Cambria Co. tests will be given under the supervision of Dr. Arthur M. Stull. All students already have been qualified and will report to the courthouse Friday morning for the three-hour tests. Results of the examinations will be machine scored to prevent error.

Three Are Blamed In Mining Fatality

McCloskey Inquest Is Held at Spangler Hall

Blame for the death of Walter McCloskey, 47-year-old mine boss from St. Benedict, on Apr. 20, last Thursday evening was placed by a coroner's jury on the coal company, the victim and a miner.

The jury, probing McCloskey's death at an inquest held by Coroner Paul J. Wills at the Fire Hall in Spangler last Thursday evening, said the company was negligent in making proper inspections and in failing to keep records of recommendations of mine inspectors.

The miner was blamed for permitting McCloskey to ride on a "rock-dusting truck" in the section of the mine which was only 45 inches high.

The victim was found negligent for riding on the dusting apparatus because he was familiar with the mine and knew the height of the coal in the place the dusting was to take place.

Witnesses testified that McCloskey was killed when he raised his head while riding on the machine operated by Simon Callahan. He died a short time later as the result of a fractured neck and crushed chest.

Witnesses at the inquest were Simon Callahan, Ralph Lyons, Alton Ahlstrom, Gust Anderson, State Mine Inspector Dennis J. Keenan and Clarence May, mine superintendent.

Members of the coroner's jury were Francis Falls, Frank Sunberg, J. Lantz, Robert P. Sabella and Frank Frontino.

Report Is Issued On Colver Mine

Recent safety improvements at the No. 1 mine of the Ebensburg Coal Co. at Colver were noted and others suggested in a Federal Bureau of Mines inspection report released during the past week.

The report on the mine, which employs 964 men and averages 4,156 tons of coal a day, covers the inspection made by A. J. Barry in February.

To eliminate electrical hazards, Inspector Barry urged the installation of cross-bonds on secondary haulage tracks, frame grounds for certain electrical equipment and the maintenance of permissible electrical equipment. He commended enclosed-type switches in power wires between the trolley wire and room hoists.

Removal or support of all scaly, doubtful roof along passageways where men travel was another recent improvement included more rigid enforcement of the systematic timbering plan, provision of posts of proper length for use at working faces and scaling of room in the C main haulageway.

Sentenced by Court

Two Northern Cambria pleaders on Monday of this week were given sentences by the Cambria Co. Court. They were:

Harry McCall of Spangler, on his plea to a charge of burglary, who was ordered to pay restitution, pay the costs and put on probation for one year. He admitted that he and a juvenile entered a service station in Spangler Apr. 20 and took $20 in cash.

James Lewis Chemo, 28, of Dysart was fined $10 and costs and placed on probation for one year. He was charged with burglary as the result of the theft of a piece of canvas at the PRR tool shed in Dysart.
