County Sportsmen Planning To Feed Wildlife by Plane

Tentative Arrangements Being Made With Pilots. Grain-eating game in Cambria Co. will not starve this winter if a plan proposed by the Cambria Co. Sportsmen's Association materializes. At a meeting last week in the Ebensburg courthouse, the members began negotiations to drop food by air.

Last winter the Gallitzin Sportsmen's Club air dropped food in limited amount but if the present plan materializes it will mark the first time for air dropping to be carried out on a county wide scale.

Members of the association renewed their stand in favor of a one-day antlerless deer season in December. N. N. Ruhn, Cambria Co. game protector, said deer so far are damaging only the farmers' buckwheat.
